BEATTIE INDICTED FOR WIFE'S DEATH

A TWOOD REACHES FIRST STOP IN GREAT FLIGHT

THE WEATHER.

Fair to-night and Tuesday with light, variable winds.

Sun rises 4.49 a. m.; sets, 6.48 p. m.
Moon rises 5.56 p. m.
High tide—2 a. m., 2.15 p. m.

Temperature: Chicago 74, New York 74, Boston 84, Buffalo 84, St. Louis 86, San Francisco 62, New Orleans 80, Galveston 80, Cleveland 74.

BRITISH ARMY TO FIGHT STRIKE

BOSTON AMERICAN

NIGHT EXTRA
FIFTH EDITION

VOL. 8—No. 146. BOSTON, MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1911. PRICE ONE CENT.

MAGENIS ASKS AUDIT OF ESTATE

Talk of litigation over the estate of Eugene Lynch, a well-known Bostonian, who perished with his wife on the time the steamship Florida crashed into the White Star liner Republic, off Nantucket Shoals, has followed the petition of James F. Magenis to have an auditor appointed.

Attorney John H. Casserly, who is one of the executors, opposed the petition, but it was granted by Judge George in the Suffolk Probate Court, and William H. Irish was appointed as an auditor. William Curtis, for John B. Fitzpatrick, and Michael J. Corliss, appraisers, valued the Lynch estate at $469,320 in personal property and $16,000 in realty. The will was drawn for Mr. Lynch by Mr. Casey shortly before the former started on the fatal voyage for Europe.

The other executor named in the will is Michael E. Curley, who is in the wholesale liquor business in this city. Mr. Magenis petitioned for the appointment of an auditor as guardian of his minor children, Marion Magenis, Eugene Joseph Magenis and James Bickford Magenis.

Mr. Magenis's Statement.

It is stated that the executors did not file their first account until more than two years had elapsed after their appointment, and not until upon petition by Mr. Magenis Judge Grout of the Probate Court had directed it be done. Two later accounts filed bring the executors' statement up to July 1. Mr. Magenis is told an AMERICAN reporter that he has acted for an auditor in fulfillment of his duty to his children.

"My desire," he said, "to have the accounts proved before a competent disinterested party. There are many things in the accounts to which I take exceptions. Among them is the payment by Mr. Casey of $5,000 to Mr. Jones, his law partner. Mr. Casey is a lawyer and I do not think he needs the legal assistance of Mr. Jones. The only legal work done was the preparation and filing of the necessary probate papers. Including a bill in equity asking the Supreme Court to instruct executors which resulted in a decision adverse to Mrs. Lynch's relatives.

Was Appointed Guardian.

"I also take exceptions," said Mr. Magenis, "to that portion of Mr. Jones's inquiring before Justice Hammond of the Supreme Court and objecting to my being appointed guardian of items of my own children. The Court was somewhat surprised and said: 'I will give you one minute on that matter, Mr. Jones.' In his one minute Mr. Jones explained that I was attorney of record for my wife, who is a party in interest in the estate, and that my children were also parties in interest, and in view of the fact that Mr. Jones's mind, some possible inconsistency between my wife and myself, Mr. Jones counsel for my wife, should be declared ineligible and should not be appointed guardian of items of the children, but, instead, some outside party should be appointed. I informed the Court I did not

Continued on Page 2, Column 6.

DANVERS HAS GIRL MYSTERY

A well-dressed, comely girl, not over eighteen years old, was found unconscious on Conant street, Danvers, at 11 o'clock to-day.

Up to the middle of the afternoon she had failed to respond in any way to all efforts to restore her to consciousness.

No one in Danvers who has seen her, and all in the town who could get there, have looked on her, has been able to identify the girl or explain how she came to be unconscious on the Conant street roadway.

There are no marks of violence on the girl. Dr. H. C. Boutelle, who has tried various methods to bring her to, says she is victim of heat prostration or of any ordinary form of collapse, so far as he can judge.

The only theory the physician has advanced so far is that of extreme nervous shock, but he is puzzled along Conant street, so far as the residents of that thoroughfare know to-day, to cause any particular mighty girl to faint and remain unconscious for hours.

The girl was found by J. C. Jodrey, who was lying across one-half of the roadway, her head on the west side ditch. Her tan shoes were toward the middle of the road. Her hat was on her side.

A small white and tan dog of no definite breed, but, to all appearances, a very fine thing else, was nosing uneasily around the girl. That the dog belonged to the girl, or was with her when she became unconscious, was shown, for he was followed on return by Dr. Jodrey picked the girl up, put her in his carriage and drove her to Albert D. Batchelder's home nearby.

Mrs. Lester Ballou, Wife Who Fled

MRS. BALLOU. PARKER PHOTO.

BIG OFFER TO BASEBALL FANS

The big baseball contest is on! It started to-day. Here is the only question involved:

Do you want to see the World's Baseball Series in the Fall?

You do? Then get out a hustle for votes. The AMERICAN will send ten persons to the World's Series, no matter in what two cities they are held, pay all railroad fares, hotel bills and admission to the games.

How are the ten persons selected? The ten receiving the largest number of votes in the contest beginning to-day go to the games. In the AMERICAN every day, beginning to-day and ending October 1, will be printed a coupon. To-day it is on page 1. Cut out this coupon. Tell your friends to cut them out. Mail coupons to the Baseball Series Contest Editor, Boston AMERICAN. Mark on the outside of the mails of coupons:

"Place these coupons to the credit of John Jones (or whatever the name is) in Baseball Contest."

Sunday Coupons Count Ten.

Remember the coupon in the Sunday AMERICAN counts ten (10) votes. Begin to-day.

By the first day of October the pennant races in the big leagues may be settled. They may not. There is a possibility that the championships will not be decided until the last day of the season. But you don't care for that. You will know, on the second of October, who are among the elect.

There is Philadelphia, with its immortal associations, its quaint old streets, its beautiful suburbs, its points of historical interest and Shibe Park, the huge home of the Athletics.

There is Chicago, the metropolis of the Middle West, one of the most progressive cities in this land of ours, a city which is everything in the way of amusement and diversion.

There is Pittsburg, with its beautiful surroundings, its mammoth industries, and best of all, its immense ball park, the most beautiful structure of its kind in the United States.

And Detroit, Too.

There is Detroit, the City of the Straits, so beautifully situated and so spotlessly clean.

There is New York, nearer home, with its vastness, its Gay White Way, its wealth, its splendors.

The world's series in baseball's greatest attraction. It brings together the best teams in the two big leagues, teams of real stars, who are striving harder than they ever strove before for the honor and the wealth that goes with the winning of the biggest title. It is a sight that every baseball fan longs to see. The fans who are lucky enough to be spectators at this great event are envied by one and all.

So get ready for the battle. Your friends want you to go, and they will see that you do if you only ask them. Remember that the wise ones will start their campaign at once. Don't let them "get the jump" on you. Votes that you secure to-day count for just as much as those gain on the last day of the contest.

Details of contest will be found on page 4.

JEWELER HUNTS MISSING WIFE

Mrs. Theodora Carter Ballou, formerly a pretty and popular school teacher in Brighton, has disappeared from the home of Lester Ballou, her husband, one of the leading jewelers in that district.

Although Ballou has located the two wagon loads of furniture she removed from their apartments at No. 20 Dighton street, he says he has been unable to learn where she is stopping.

Her flight has caused a stir in the society circles in which they moved. Mr. Ballou says his wife gave him no warning before she broke up housekeeping, but went away without a threat or any word of explanation. His jewelry store is at No. 340 Washington street, Brighton. To friends she said:

"Tuesday last I came home to dinner and found my wife cleaning a china closet, but I thought nothing of that. When I came home at about 7 o'clock in the evening I found her gone. So was the piano, the pictures and about everything of value. She took both her things and mine. I have had no things from her since.

"I cannot account for my wife's disappearance. We always got along well together. We did have some domestic differences, but nothing serious enough to cause her to run away. I am very anxious to have her come home. I have searched everywhere for her.

"It is said he has learned that Mrs. Ballou put the furniture in a Brighton storage warehouse and he found his home so shorn of domestic equipment after her departure that he had to buy dishes.

The husband now has a housekeeper caring for his home.

Mrs. Margaret Carter of No. 810 Cambridge street, Brighton, who is Mrs. Ballou's mother, said:

"I did not think my daughter had courage enough to leave Mr. Ballou. She did not tell me she was going away, and I did not hear about it until two days ago when Mr. Ballou came here. I have not seen or heard a word from her. Some of her friends say she is stopping at a farm in New Hampshire. Mr. Ballou allowed her $4 a week to run the house and they lived many quarrels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballou were married in October, 1904.

HONEST SHARK RETURNS "BOOTY"

Bartholomew Delacell, able fisherman on the schooner Mildred Rodinson, arrived on this coast on a yacht loaded with a fish story about a shark with a conscience. Bart was hauling a trawl, and not liking the cut of a hook when it came up which weighs 600 pounds, drank a pail of paint above the ears and took away most of the fish at a swipe. Bart sunk him in the back with the gaff. The shark pulled the gaff out of his hand and him himself overboard with a flip of his tail. Three hours later and at a difference of 25 miles in longitude Bart saw the shark coming straight for the boat with the gaff sticking out of his back like a mast. When the shark got within a fathom of the boat, coming head on and at full speed, he gave his tail a flip that sent the gaff flying out of his back and alongside the dory.

ELOPERS CALL ON PRIEST

Mr. and Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty took a Springfield to-day one of the most serious steps they have made since they attracted world-wide attention by eloping. They went to the parish house of St. Michael's cathedral at 11 o'clock to meet the Rev. M. A. K. Kelly by appointment to receive further instruction regarding Mrs. Geraghty joining the Roman Catholic Church.

This action alone was a denial of the reports that Mrs. Geraghty has no intention of changing her faith. When the denials attributed to her in the morning newspapers were called to the attention of the couple to-day Mrs. Geraghty said very seriously:

"I am going to become a Roman Catholic. I am going to be married to Jack in the Roman Catholic faith. This is my firm intention. I have known right along that, in the event of my marrying Jack, I would become a Roman Catholic. I have had that in mind for the last two years."

Second Visit to Pastor.

The Rev. M. A. K. Kelly, whom the couple went to see to-day, is rector of St. Michael's Cathedral and one of the leading members of the Roman Catholic clergy in the State.

To-day's visit to the rector was the second one for the couple since they arrived in Springfield. They went to St. Michael's parish house Saturday night and talked with Fr. Kelly. They said they intend to be married by a Catholic priest, and that they would like to have him perform the ceremony for them, and as soon as possible.

Father Kelly told them that he would marry them as speedily as possible, but that there would be some delay because the couple had already, by their Connecticut ceremony, made what the Catholic church technically calls "an attempted marriage."

He said he would take the matter up with the priest of young Geraghty's own parish in Newport, who is the Rev. William H. Meenan of St. Mary's. Dispatches from Newport say that Father Meenan declines to discuss the matter at present.

Then Father Kelley added to the injunction:

"In order to be married here by me you must take up a legal residence in Springfield."

An appointment for a second talk was made for eleven o'clock to-day. At this hour the couple expected to be told just what they would have to do to receive the formal sanction and blessing of the Catholic church to their union.

Is Now an Episcopalian.

Before Mrs. Geraghty can join the Catholic church she must be instructed, then confirmed, in accordance with the church's rites. She is at present a member of the Episcopal church.

If the bride returns to Newport as a Catholic and attends St. Mary's Church in that city she will see many of her fashionable acquaintances from Sunday to Sunday during the Summer season. The congregation of St. Mary's includes such wealthy cottagers as Mrs. Reggie Vanderbilt, Mrs. Cameron McRae Winslow, Mrs. Frederick Sheldon, Mrs. Theodore Havemeyer, Mrs. William Cutting, Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas (Richard Gerkens), Mrs. C. K. Post, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Lewis Qeenth Jones, Mrs. F. F. Garretson, Mrs. David Bring and others.

In connection with the religious issue which now enters into Mrs. Geraghty episode, an interesting note came to-day from Philadelphia, where the Rev. Dr. George Chalmers Richmond approves the Geraghty elopement. He offers to remarry the couple.

Dr. Richmond is the Protestant Episcopal rector of St. John's Church, Philadelphia, who has attacked the Astor-Force engagement so forcibly. Of course, his views on the marriage of the Astor heir is not accepted because Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty are Roman Catholic by marriage contract. But it is interesting as indicating Dr. Richmond's attitude in the Geraghty case, in contrast to his denunciation of the Astor affair.

Words of Dr. Richmond.

Dr. Richmond will be in Springfield to-morrow on ecclesiastical business. He said in Philadelphia of the Geraghty-French elopement:

"Here was a girl breaking away from that damnable corruption at Newport and being received into the strong arms of a pure church and instantly proving American pluck. What if he was a chauffeur? I think he has proved himself a gentleman and that he will support her happily and uncomplainingly.

"I am surprised that more of these society deiatants don't flee from their degenerate environment. See from their despicable and stupid lives among silly, shal-

Continued on Page 2, Column 5.

Mr. and Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty

Especially posed in Springfield for Boston AMERICAN staff photographer.

BRITISH ARMY TO END STRIKE

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The entire British Army will be used to fight the strikers and enforce order throughout Great Britain, if necessary, according to an announcement made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Home Secretary Winston Churchill.

All the forces at the disposal of the government will be employed to preserve peace and the observance of the law for "a free working supply," he said, "if the necessity arises."

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 14. The ship owners to-day declared a lockout of all their employes, affecting 30,000 men. The lockout went into effect at noon and made impossible the fixing of liquid tariffs.

The dock entrances were closed. This move was taken to indicate that the federation of owners would resist the demands of their employes here and would fight to the last. The definition of a lockout is added to the fury already felt by the union of strikers.

Idle men attempted to congregate in the dock districts, but cavalry drafts of police were marshaled to prevent destruction of property and to scatter mobs.

Many women, members of the families of strikers, were in the mobs which surged through the streets upon the barricaded doors. Some of them hurled stones at the police and attempted to incite further disorder. The hooting and cursing of scores of wounded rioters and soldiers by a number of the rioters was carried in their homes by their friends who had been injured in brushes with the soldiers and police.

With Liverpool under martial law to-day and famine conditions only prevented by armed soldiers guarding railroad stations where food stuffs were stored, the chief of the city, the strike situation appeared a crisis.

REPORT TWENTY-NINE HURT IN WRECK

AKRON, O., Aug. 14.—A Baltimore & Ohio train from Akron is reported to have been wrecked east of Load, O., and twenty-nine persons injured.

VERY LOW FARES TO CALIFORNIA AND NORTH PACIFIC COAST

Via Boston & Albany R. R. Lv. Boston 10.00 a. m. daily. Best route, shortest time, finest scenery. Through sleepers and coaches. Dining cars. Ask B. L. Parrot, 295 Washington St., Boston.

ATWOOD STARTS LONG FLIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 14.—Harry N. Atwood, the young Boston aviator, arrived here at 10.20, completing the first stretch of his 1,500 mile flight to Boston. This is the longest aeroplane trip ever attempted.

He flew the 78½ from St. Louis to this city in 2 hours and 27 minutes.

Atwood was unable to land on the aviation field on account of a treacherous air pocket which he encountered when he essayed to make his landing. Deciding not to run any risk that would break his long trip, the well-loaded aviator did about-face in the air pocket and kept on for a mile and a half until he was able to make safe descent at the Sangamon County coal mines.

He said, when the spectators had reached the place of alighting that he would not try to come into Springfield prospect but would make his start right from the coal mine location for his onward flight to Chicago, the second stopping place on the 400 distance from here to Chicago or 142½ miles.

Atwood planned to start for Chicago after a two-hour rest. He was anxious to reach the Windy City before dark in order to take part in the great interest which Aviation Week is causing there.

The stop-watches registered 8.03 a. m. as the second start was started on his second flight. He drove straight up the valley of Sugar Creek and followed the line of the skyscrapers. Then he darted across the river and was off toward the city.

MOVE TO CURB U. S. SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. Senator Bourne of Oregon introduced a bill in the Senate to-day providing that the United States Supreme Court must be unanimous in order to declare unconstitutional any State or Federal law or State constitution or provision thereof. This is the most drastic measure ever introduced aiming to curb the work of the Supreme Court. The purpose of the bill, said Senator Bourne, is to enable one, two, three or four members of that court to prevent eight, seven, six or five of the justices from overruling the decisions of the nation or of a State through Congress, or the wishes of a sovereign State as expressed by its electorate or its Legislature.

BEATTIE INDICTED BY JURY

CHESTERFIELD COUNTY COURT HOUSE, Va., Aug. 14.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was indicted to-day for the murder of his wife, Louise, who was shot to death on the night of July 18 on the Midlothian turnpike.

Under the Virginia law the indictment was returned for felony and the degree of the crime will be determined by a petty jury. The grand jury took two hours and seven minutes to return with its indictment charging Beattie with the crime.

The moment of their return to the court to make their report was solemn. Door and windows were packed with people from the surrounding countryside. The indictment was read by Foreman Robinson. The Owen family, of which the murdered woman was a member, was well represented by Thomas Owen and Ben Owen, who heard the indictment, but who showed no sign of emotion.

Beulah Binford Not Called.

The prisoner was not present, nor was his father, the Richmond banker. The news was sent to him immediately, however. Beulah Binford, for love of whom Beattie is alleged to have slain the latter, she kept in the office of the Commonwealth's attorney. She had been brought to testify, but was not called. Later she was taken back to the jail in Richmond in an automobile. She showed no trace of concern.

Neither was Paul Beattie, the accused man's cousin, called. Court adjourned for luncheon after the indictment was returned. The arraignment and trial of Beattie for trial will be settled. A week from to-day is being discussed.

Beattie was not brought here to testify before the grand jury. State relying on Beulah Binford, the woman to the case and Paul Beattie, cousin of the accused man, both of whom were with him when the crime is alleged to have been done. Paul Beattie and Beulah Binford were taken from the Henrico County Jail at 8.30 o'clock this morning, automobile and brought here. Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was left in the jail at Richmond.

The story of the events will be supported at the trial by the testimony of Detectives Wren and Wiltshire, who will tell how they found the shotgun, and finally the man who sold it to Paul Beattie. This was a pawnbroker named Weinstein in Richmond.

Waddemeny, attorney for the prosecution, said that the State would ask that the trial be set for Thursday or Friday of this week.

Detectives Will Testify.

"It is the purpose of the prosecution," he said, "after the indictment to ask for an immediate trial. We will be rigged pulling the case on Thursday or Friday of this week, which will give ample time for the court officers to summon witnesses. The case will be a short one. We do not foresee any delay in obtaining a jury, if it proves necessary to have a second panel summoned we can have it within a day. The jury would be sworn and prepared to go right into the case next Monday morning.

"We will certainly contest any motion for any kind of delay. I think the trial will last a week, possibly ten days. As soon as the case is rested we will call one of our material witnesses, the cross-examination of whom will be the defense's prospect to take.

We will put in a witness people to whom the accused made statements regarding the killing of Mrs. Beattie to show the various conditions, being a part of different times of the boarded highwayman, and endeavor to show a premeditated murder.

Beattie is now and looking more like a man of 30 than a boy of 21. Philadelphia in the most dramatic murder cases Virginia has ever known. Among Richmond folk up to the little brick courthouse and into a small room in the rear of the courtroom.

The courtroom in which the scene is staged is about twenty-five by fifty feet. Over the judge's bench, at the right side of a typical southern fireplace. Two windows, one on each side of the fireplace, open upon the green expanse of Capitol Square. Between the fireplace and the window on the right is the witness chair.

Other News of Beattie Case on Page 3.

A Real Treat to the Baseball Fans of New England: Ten Free Trips to the World's Series. See Page 4

BURKE JUMPED INTO ATLANTIC

When the Mediterranean steamer Dora Dright Abrusa arrived at New York to-day details were obtained for the first time of the manner in which Richard S. Burke of Boston, a student for the Catholic priesthood, leaped to his death into the sea during the voyage from Italy.

He was a first-cabin passenger with his brothers, Leo and Henry Burke. They had gone over to Rome after him because he was suffering from a nervous breakdown.

His was under constant watch. But, while he was locked in his stateroom by his brothers, he crawled through the porthole last Monday and hurled himself into the sea.

In a few minutes an alarm was given. The steamer was stopped. A boat was lowered and search was made along the course the steamer had been following. But the sea was very rough. After two hours' search the small boat returned to the steamer with no trace of the young man to report.

Richard S. Burke was thirty years old. The son of Michael H. Burke of No. 21 Mayfield street, Dorchester. He attended Boston schools, then went to Georgetown University. From there he went to Rome to prepare for the priesthood. Recently he was taken ill. Acute nervous conditions followed.

MURDER IS RESULT OF JUROR'S ILLNESS

DURHAM, Ct., Aug. 14.—Because she only grand juror in the town was ill and could not entertain a charge made by Arthur Jackson, a farm hand, against a fellow farm hand for assault, Jackson sat in his bedroom window and shot and instantly killed Archee Walker as he was leaving a barn. The shooting occurred in Mynott Bailey, quarrelled last week and Jackson was brought before him on the failure to get redress through a court led to the shooting.

Filene's
BARGAIN HOUSE
Tunnel Bargain Basement

Let Your Little Girl Do Her Own Shopping

In the Tunnel Bargain Basement. She can shop here with just as much certainty of getting a bargain as a grown-up person—for there's not a piece of merchandise in the Basement that is not at less than the regular price, since by the system of Automatic Price Reductions every price must be a bargain Price if we are to avoid losses. For Tuesday—

NEW BARGAIN LOTS IN

GIRLS' WASH DRESSES

At ½ and Less

(FROM A LARGE RETAIL HOUSE SELLING THROUGH CATALOG ONLY).

Linene Dresses—Trimmed with plaids in style as illustrated, high or low neck. Colors: tan, cadet blue, dark red, old rose; 1.49 Values 59c

One-Piece Dresses of Tartan Plaid Gingham—trimmed with piping and pearl buttons, high neck and long sleeves, patent leather belt. Red, navy or cadet blue, tan; 1.25 Values 59c

Plaid Gingham Dresses—Princess panel and insertions of white, Swiss embroidery, like illustration. In cadet or navy blue, green, pink, tan plaids, 1.98 Values 95c

Madras Dresses—Trimmed with white Swiss embroidery in style as illustrated. Colors pink and white, green and white, lavender and white, cadet blue and white, and red and white; 2.98 Values 1.49

Hundreds of Other Lots Not Advertised

POSLAM
Quickest for cure of ECZEMA and EVERY SKIN TROUBLE. See results OVER NIGHT. At drug stores, 50 cents and $1. Free Sample. Write Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th st., New York City.

Double Legal Stamps will be given with every purchase mornings, until 12 o'clock noon, at Wolf's, "My Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland Streets.

St. Vincent Orphan Girls on Way to Bass Point

In the back row, from right to left, are: Fannie Shirlock, Grace Densby, Helen Kelleher and Margaret Kelleher. To the front are Mona Lucemore and Irene Fitzpatrick.

TINY ORPHANS ON AN OUTING

One hundred and seventy-nine little orphan girls, ranging in age from three to fourteen years, are in Bass Point to-day enjoying their happiest time of the year, and they are all blessing Clerk Frank L. La Marche of the Natural Resources Company for his kindness in arranging for the trip.

All the children live in St. Vincent's Orphan Home at Shawmut avenue and Camden street, and were accompanied by Sister Superior Rose and Sisters Geneviève, Helen and Elizabeth. James Hayes, agent, also went along with the party.

This is the fourth annual outing the orphans in this home have enjoyed through Mr. La Machia's efforts. General Manager L. P. Sherman of the Nahant Line gave them free passage on the General Lincoln to Bass Point and return, and they were given a dinner at the Hotel Preston there by Manager Frank Kiesser without charge.

Unfortunate to the Relay House Theatre was also free because of the courtesy of Manager Shiff.

From the home to the steamboat pier in trolley cars. When they return they will have another ride back.

GOV. FOSS ON LEPER ISLAND

Governor Foss visited the leper colony on Penikese Island, Buzzard's Bay, to-day, for the first time.

Accompanied by members of his council, he went to New Bedford, whence he embarked for the small island in the bay to Penikese. This is the lonely island where all lepers who come under Massachusetts jurisdiction are kept for life by the State.

There are fourteen lepers at Penikese Island. Governor Foss and the members of the governor's council were allowed to walk about the island and converse with the lepers at a distance. The utmost care was taken, however, against any infection.

It was the annual inspection of the leper colony by Governor Foss; other Governors have visited the colony.

This afternoon Governor Foss went to Cottage City and visited the Martha's Vineyard Camp Meeting Association. He was met at Oak Bluffs by the Ninth Regiment Band and the Governor had the lasting honor of being there.

He will also be a guest at the ninth-letters convention at Cottage City and will return in time to be in Boston to-morrow later in the week to attend his son's wedding.

LAWRENCE POLICE STATION ROBBED

LAWRENCE, Aug. 14.—A burglar bold and his partner walked down Common street.

"Bill, this is a dull world," said the bold, bad burglar. "As a matter of fact, I am bored to death."

And so they walked right into the police station, stole a pair of pincers and a pair of horse clippers, and walked right out again and wended their way down the street, whistling nonchantly the while. There were only a dozen or so policemen in and out of the station house, and in the adjoining offices Chief James F. O'Sullivan has his headquarters, and in fact this robbery was right in Lawrence's Scollay Square itself. The pincers were stolen out of the patrol wagon while it was standing in its place waiting to dash off after some bad man.

When the theft was discovered, constable Sullivan pushed his button and the bells clanged. Hoarse orders were cried out, policemen dashed hither and thither, and soon the patrol wagon hauled down the street during police-men hooked on and brought back James Dolan of Orchard street and Lloyd Sawyer of Lowell, and they were arraigned in court charged with the theft.

GIRL IS ALLOWED TO LAND AS BRIDE

Wladyslav Sumgera of Cambridge was united to Miss Marya Rouba, formerly of Petersburg, by Justice of the Peace Mitrie I. Silton, who is also Polish interpreter at the Immigration Station, to-day, and the ceremony would have been disallowed to enter the United States as a citizen. She arrived on the Arabic Wednesday and said she had come to marry the Cambridge man. She did not meet her, and was not found until Friday. Then he said she is his cousin, but that he was already married. He wanted to take her home, but the immigration authorities refused. On Saturday he came back and said his story was false. He said he had told it under fear that if he said he was a bachelor she would be deported, and that he did not then understand he would be allowed to wed the girl under official eyes. As it was then late for a civil ceremony to be had in Cambridge, the ceremony was delayed until to-day.

Speed
Does not affect the wear of
Holeproof Hose
Walk as long—as fast—as far as you wish. Walk six months if you like—Holeproof Hose will stay with you. No holes—no darning—no rips. Try them to-day. For Men, Women and Children.
Men's, 6 pairs in box
$1.50 and $3.00
Women's, 6 pairs in box
$2.00 and $3.00
Children's, 6 pairs in box
$2.00
We are Sole Boston Agents
TALBOT CO.
CLOTHIERS
395 Washington St.

CRYSTALITE
ILLUMINATING OIL
Gives you morelight. Gives you better light and more of it. No odor. No smell. Sold in a handy can. At your grocer's.

LEAGUE URGES "EL" MERGER

The Public Franchise League jumped into the West End war to-day and hurled a thirteen-inch statement at the Protective Committee which is working to prevent the consolidation of the West End with the Elevated system. It made the charges of the act passed by the last Legislature.

The league's statement says, in brief, that the Protective Committee's objections are due simply because dividends are to be seven per cent, instead of eight per cent. on common stock under the consolidation act, and that the committee is simply holding up arguments to bolster up its cry for more dividends.

The league says the future of Boston's transportation development and the building of more subways must be settled now, and the way to settle it is for the West End to vote consolidation so that the dirt may begin to fly on the new subways.

Statement of the League.

The statement coming on the heels of the signed agreement by seven of the most influential members of West End holders, is considered another step toward victory for the consolidators at the special stockholders' meeting, September 6. The league's statement says:

"The result of the approaching meeting of the West End stockholders is of very great importance.

"The acceptance of the legislative act providing for the consolidation of the two street railway systems involves far more than the question of the rate of dividend to be paid thereafter. West End stockholders, if the act is accepted it means that the most important public improvements provided for by the recent Legislature are at once made impossible. If the act is rejected those improvements are held up for an indefinite period.

"For these reasons the Public Franchise League requests to call attention to certain important considerations.

Great Problem Solved.

"When the Legislature adjourned it seemed that the transit problem of Boston had been settled for several years and in a manner that met with general commendation. The authority which was granted for the consolidation of the Elevated and the West End was solicited by and which had been urged and approved by the Finance Committee of the Public Franchise League and other independent bodies as being eminently fair to both companies and to the public.

"In order to become effective, the act granting this authority must be accepted by both companies. Acceptance has already been recommended by both boards of directors, and it only remains for the respective stockholders to ratify this action.

"Opposition has developed among the West End stockholders, headed by so-called Protective Committee. The directors of the West End have issued a plain statement to the stockholders, strongly urging the acceptance of the act and giving their reasons. The Protective Committee has also issued a statement which it is feared, may have a tendency to befog the mind of a stockholder not conversant with the situation.

Facts Dispute Statement.

"The statement of the Protective Committee is so worded as to make it appear that it has been unable to obtain information as to the physical and financial condition of the Elevated. The absolute unreasonableness of this claim is shown by the recital of the facts in a recent statement issued by the directors of the Elevated and mailed to the West End stockholders.

"No objection was raised by the Protective Committee to the constitutionality of the proposed method of consolidation until it became apparent that the Legislature would not allow the increase necessary to provide for an 8 per cent. dividend for the West End common stockholders. Until the court has passed upon it, it can only be a matter of opinion whether or not the act is constitutional, and against the opinions cited by the Protective committee stands the opinions of counsel of equal standing, across the State line, into Suffield, and back by way of Springfield and Palls. They were back home at 6 o'clock for supper. They spent the evening at home.

TWO DROWNED AS ANCHOR IS LOST

Medical Examiner Fraser has investigated the drowning of Herbert Sprague and William Stetson at South Weymouth and found it one of the most singular accidents in local annals. John Buckley, who was in the boat with the victims and Samuel Kent and Percy Crossman says: "As we were rowing from Rose Point to Great Pond shore a heavy block of concrete used as an anchor fell overboard and pulled the bow under. The boat capsized and we all went overboard. Sprague and Stetson grappled with each other and went down like lead.

STRIKE OF FIREMEN ON THE GOV. COBB

Fifteen oilers and firemen of the crew of the Governor Cobb, Eastern Steamship Company, struck to-day at 5 o'clock, just as the boat was about to sail, because they wanted better pay. Capt. Cone, late the steamship and went on the pier, where they stated their grievances in loud tones when the officers tried to get them on board and set their posts. Hundreds of passengers, most of whom were going to Maine and New Brunswick on vacations, loomed over the rails and heard the arguments in the amusement. The firemen and oilers were firm, and finally company officials telephoned to Alexander Morgan, business agent of the Atlantic Coast Marine Firemen's Union, and he went to the pier in his auto. He heard the men's story and the company's plea that the matter be taken up later. He finally told the strikers to go back to their posts, and said that their grievances would be investigated.

Brandreth's
PILLS
The Great Laxative
Made of the best materials—prepared with the greatest caution. One or two at night will relieve and cure constipation, headache, rheumatism, and by purifying the blood they keep everyone who uses them in first-class health.

GERAGHTYS TO CARVE CAREER

Continued from First Page.

low people, and run away with real red-blooded, manly fellows who sit at the wheel of their autos. Think how tired they must get of the miserable little dandies who are forever thinking about their appearance, and in some instances even paint their faces. They are turning into women.

Geraghty has received an offer to locate in Springfield, where there is a lively automobile business.

"I haven't given any answer to that offer," he said to-day, "though I have put some thought on it. I like Springfield, of course, but I expect to stay in my home city, and my wife has lived much of her life there. So far as business matters go, I have done well enough in Newport and I suppose that I would find business good in Springfield."

"Have none," continued Geraghty, "I would like to deny for my wife and myself that we have made any so-called overtures toward Mrs. Geraghty's family. Mrs. Geraghty wrote one letter to her mother, announcing her marriage and saying she regretted any worry which might have been caused. I likewise wrote to my mother.

Bridegroom Is Confident.

"So far as all this annulment of marriage talk goes it is foolish. I did not jump into any furnace with my eyes shut. I am told by lawyers that I am fully within my rights. I have violated no law. I know what my rights are and I am going to be protected in them.

Mrs. Geraghty is the picture of health and happiness. She is very modest as to her own charms and abilities.

"Jack has the brains for us," she said with a girlish laugh. "I never cared for school even. It was too much trouble to study."

But, when any question comes up as to her ability or intention to co-operate with her husband, the bride can be serious enough. Speaking of helping him, she says:

"I can keep house; I can cook; I can sew. And I shall be contented, of course, with what my husband provides me. And, if the friends I used to have do not care for him or for me now, why they can't be friends any more. For my friends must be Jack's friends and his friends must be my friends."

Mrs. Geraghty had much fun reading accounts of the Newport dog show, for she was scheduled, under the family's plan, to enter some of her own blooded dogs there.

"I can't show any dogs at Newport now, that's settled," she said, smiling. "But I have one of the dogs with me 'Mip.' I did manage to bring him. He is a fine dog, a prize winner."

Regarding those reports of vaudeville offers to the young couple, "Jack" Geraghty said to-day that he had received two offers.

Wanted to Fight.

"One was from a New York vaudeville manager," he said, "and the other from a Boston one. The first one offered us a $1,000 a week. The other said: 'Name your own price.'

"I didn't go all the way to Boston to appear on the stage just on account of the publicity attending marriage. Why, the first offer came I thought to myself: 'I'd like to see that vaudeville stage for a minute.' But then, considering all the time and stuff they wanted about me, I don't wonder after all. But I guess we'll be from the audience side.

Mrs. Geraghty is wearing a new Paris hat. The bride is also getting a Paris wardrobe which the bride hastily packed in the excitement of the elopement. Her wardrobe has been replenished from Paris, it is reported in Springfield, but also by messenger from Newport.

This does not mean that the French family has been thoughtful enough to forward to the bride some of her extensive wardrobe, but that a duplicate order in instance has occurred. But, when the girl left Paris she had to leave not only the major part of her wardrobe, but also, her several articles of clothing with which she had ordered to be packed for her as a go-between for her and "Jack." A Newport friend of "Jack's" at his request went to this washwoman and secured two dresses and the hat which the girl had, for which Mrs. Geraghty had been longing, and it is probable that any feminine mind will understand.

Bride Is Admired.

Sunday passed delightfully for the couple. After breakfast they attended 10:30 mass at St. Michael's Catholic cathedral. When they came up the cathedral steps people lined them immediately. An usher escorted them to a seat well toward the front, where they started many attentions. Even the most devout found time to look glancingly toward the pretty couple. The latter bore this wholesale scrutiny with dignity, especially the bride, who listened closely to the sermon preached by the Rev. J. A. McKeown, one of the assistant rectors.

Directly after the service the couple was a target for many stares. The women in the congregation eyed Mrs. Geraghty up and down, from her pretty hat to her dainty shoes. The new bride had aforesaid was adorned in a Paris street dress. The waist is silk with white stripes. The skirt is slightly flowing.

After church "Jack" escorted his bride back to the Aldrich house, where went down town to see some friends, while Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty remained in the Harris, preparing dinner.

The afternoon was devoted to automobiling. The couple went to Forest Park, Springfield, and then to Longmeadow, across the State line, into Suffield, and back by way of Springfield and Palls. They were back home at 6 o'clock for supper. They spent the evening at home.

"JACK'S" FATHER HAS OBJECTION TO LONG HONEYMOON

John B. Geraghty, Newport cab driver and father of "Jack," is just as averse as ever to talking about the elopement. But he observed to-day in Newport:

"I say about that Jack came back home. His business here needs attention. When he left he had, of course, to drop many which have been dragging along now with out him. It is time for the honeymoon to be nearing a close and for Jack to be back here. Now that he has Julia to support he can work more than ever."

Newport society has been wondering ever since the elopement if it will take opportunity to court Julia as successfully under the sharp eyes of her relatives and friends.

"The answer is—Easton's Beach."

Every morning in favorable weather Miss Julia French would go to the beach, accompanied by a maid, for a dip in the surf. There would be many others at the beach. While she was in the surf, along would stroll "Jack" Geraghty in one of his dandy bathing suits, and there in the bathing cabins change quickly into your clothing and be out in the water by the girl's side. The maid, seated demurely in the pavilion piazza, either knew not or cared not who was dancing attendance on her fair charge. After bathing the couple would stroll on the beach. The girl was a fetching picture in her blue silk bathing suit and saucy cap, and love found ample space.

Newport mothers are now giving particular attention to the beach hours of their young daughters, to be sure that no other elopement is nurtured there.

Too Bad Her Foot Slipped

"Its sad to tell how down she fell and shook up her system," early said Isis as was up to date and never had no superior. But in an unlucky moment her foot slipped and she struck a corner and When Hiram, the foolish boy, wanted to buy a ring for her as good as new. Are you having trouble with your watch? Remember, Wilson Bros. repair all styles of watchmakers and jewelers. Wilson Bros. guarantee all watchmakers and jewelers. Wilson Bros. guarantee all watchmakers and jewelers. Wilson Bros. guarantee all

EDNA GOODRICH NOVEL IS OUT

His clenched fist still hovered, poised, but only to fall the dizziness that might have followed a physical blow. She staggered and caught wildly, desperately, at the chair back for support. It was only for the instant, however, and then as desperately she clutched at her presence of mind and regained it. With a defiant toss of her head ——

That's Brenda Royale, the heroine of "The Pyramid," a novel just issued with which Edna Goodrich has beaten her one-time husband, Nat Goodwin, to the list of Fall books. Goodwin admits that in his forthcoming memoirs Miss Goodrich is only an incident. But there are those who have seen the advance proofs of the Goodrich novel who opine that Nick Devenard, the villain, has several points of resemblance to a much-married actor now in California.

Brenda had a mighty sorrowful life, as witness:

She turned away from him and moved grudgingly toward the door. The first sharp killing pain of the accusation past she felt stunned. It was with fortuning effort that she dragged her feet across the room, objects had become confused into one gray indeterminate blur. She stumbled against a chair, she brushed herself against the corner of a table, yet felt no bruise. How far away Nolbridge was she heard somebody saying. Vaguely she heard a dull noise. Then Nick's voice, as from a great distance, saying something she did not know what.

Weeps on Racing Chart.

The author tells how when the news of Brenda's impending divorce suit is broken to Nick Devenard the latter allowed several tears to fall into his stiff cocktail and appeared his sorrow not done with the same magnificence of grief.

In an adjoining chapter Nick and Brenda confer, describe the situation to the finish and the edamatize.

Brenda, beautiful, artistic, most woman-ly either of us could, but for that Nick had been toying a bit of poker again and had omitted to tell me about her abundant beauty. If anything it had merely added to the irresistible quiltiness as it accentuated the resplendent confidence of a woman in her early youth. In person was colonial, yet with a touch of the grace of the Occidental, intellectual. Long-haired. And was she clothed! Oh, how rich! Those lace dress and hair were glorious! And she was wonderfully full and delicious of texture with an exquisite soft white skin and she was endowed with a sense of contour that was like a masterpiece of Greek sculpture.

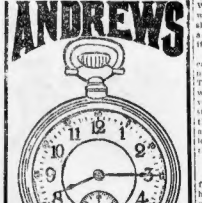
The tale tells now when the heroine was a poor, but proud, young girl (his Imagining Nick foresaw) came to her with golden promise of fame and wealth and soft words. Realistic, she confesses, Brenda told the would-be lover that he left and took alone could their love be hallowed. The why Nick hesitated not at all over such formalities.

But Ah, He Finds Letter!

But soft! Before many months had passed the husband, who had been all sweetness and light during the honeymoon, began to neglect the trusting Brenda. She saw it coming. This cooling of an order which had been perfect. At first she said nothing, but later she accepted the changed conditions without a murmur and financed her husband's start back upon the stage.

Alas, that this Nick Devenard should have so far delayed himself as to search his wife's writing desk! In a particularly tense moment of the novel's action the husband found letters in Brenda's bill and a dance programme three in the drawer of the desk this note: "Dear Girl, There's no Thursday. The days will be long until then."

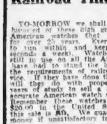
ANDREWS



17 Jeweled Railroad Time Guaranteed $9

TO-MORROW we shall have on sale several hundred of these 21ch grade 17 ruby jeweled Andrews watches that have stood the test for over 25 years. Every one is guaranteed to keep time within 30 seconds per week. Watches of this grade are used by 95 per cent of all the American railroads and have had to stand the hard service and fulfill the requirements of railroad time system service. If they have done that for 25 years we will trust them with proper care. Our thirty days' free trial offer will enable you to find out for yourself whether such should not be the case. Remember these watches sell for $18.00 to $20.00 in the United States. Our price in this sale is $9. We guarantee to refund your money if unsatisfactory in any detail.

Frank A. Andrews Co.
Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry
276 Washington St., Cor. Water
OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS



DON'T CUT OUT VARICOSE VEINS
Get relief at home, without pain or inflammation with ABSORBINE JR.
A liquid, antiseptic, germicide, discovered by a physician. Clears away the unsightly veins, reduces inflammation and pain, stops aching. Mr. R. C. Kellogg, Isobel, Mass., before using this remedy suffered intensely with pain and inflamed veins; they were swollen, knotted and hard. He writes: "After using one-half bottle of ABSORBINE, JR., the veins were reduced, inflammation and pain gone, and I have had no return of the trouble for the past two years. Also removes cysts, Painful Swellings, Boils and Bunches. Book and 2 trial bottles, postpaid, 10c. Regular bottle at druggists or delivered, $2.00. W. F. YOUNG, P.D.F., 115 Temple St., Springfield, Mass.

Prince Albert
"the national joy smoke"
Pipe tobacco that can't bite your tongue

$2.50 in merchandise or $2.00 in cash will be given for filled Legal Stamp books at Wolf's, "Mr. Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland Streets.

Weak Link in Chain Beattie's Hope in Death Trial

MRS HENRY CLAY BEATTIE JR.

BEULAH BINFORD

HENRY CLAY BEATTIE JR.

PHOTOS BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

New photographs of central figures in Virginia tragedy. Beattie's case was before the grand jury today. Beulah Binford is ready to appear in court when Beattie's trial on a charge of killing his wife is begun.

Dorothy Dix Points Out How Young Accused Wife Slayer May Escape.

By DOROTHY DIX.

In every chain of circumstantial evidence there is always one weak link that may break and set the accused free. This is the fact that no one actually saw the individual commit the crime with which he or she is charged, and therefore there is always the possibility that the prisoner standing before the bar of justice may be innocent, and another guilty.

This is what saved Florence Burns when she was accused of having killed Walter Brooks in a hotel room. It is what twice saved Nan Patterson when she was tried for shooting Caesar Young, and it is what will save Henry Beattie if he is saved from the electric chair.

In both the Burns and the Patterson cases the most impelling motive that can nerve a woman's hand to slay was shown. The evidence against the accused women was perfect and unassailable up to the very moment of the homicide. Then it stopped short. It was impossible to prove that either one of them, beyond doubt, actually fired the shot that killed her lover, and both were given the benefit of the doubt and acquitted.

Nobody Saw the Tragedy.

The prosecution in the Beattie case confronts precisely the same difficulty. It has riveted together a marvelously strong chain of circumstantial evidence against him, but it has that same imperfect link. It can prove why Beattie desired his wife's death. It can take him, step by step to the spot where he had hidden the gun and where the murder was committed, but nobody on the lonely Midlothian Pike saw him put the weapon to his wife's cheek and pull the trigger and so there remains the possibility that his story of the mysterious stranger, with a blind fury against automobiles, may be true, after all.

And this is a point that a jury, with the solemn responsibility of a fellow creature's life in its hands, always remembers, and does well to remember.

In many ways the cases of Florence Burns and Henry Beattie are analogous; and it may not be uninteresting to compare them here, as in both instances the evidence was purely circumstantial.

Florence Burns was a beautiful young girl of nineteen, of respectable parentage, but wild and wayward. She fell in love with a youth named Walter Brooks, and together they trod the primrose path. The girl would slay away from home for days at a time, and when her parents threatened to disown her, she went to Brooks's home and, in the presence of his mother, entreated him to marry her, which he refused to do.

She Waited All Day.

After a time Brooks tired of Florence and became engaged to marry another girl. Florence knew of this, and one morning she went to his office, and, finding him out, asked to be permitted to wait for him. He did not return until dusk, but through the long day she sat in the office, watching and waiting for him.

Upon Brooks's return they had a little conversation, then Brooks said to his partner as they were preparing to go home that he was going to break with Florence, but that he was going to take her out and give her a last good time.

Brooks and Florence Burns and the partner left the office together, and the three walked up the street several blocks. Then the partner said goodby and went his way and the great pantheism of the streets of New York at night swallowed up the other two.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock that night Walter Brooks and a veiled woman of about the height and size of Florence Burns registered at a hotel and were shown to a room. A little later a negro bell boy took to that room a glass of seltzer lemonade, and a woman, whose face he did not see, stretched out a bare arm through a crack in the door and took in the drink and laid the price of it on the tray.

Half and hour later the same bell boy, passing through the hall, detected the odor of escaping gas coming from the room. The door was forced, and on the bed lay Walter Brooks shot through the head. Every gas cock in the room was turned on full, but the woman was gone, and she had left no trace behind her. Nobody had seen her leave the hotel.

As soon as the news of their son's tragic death was taken to Walter Brooks's parents his mother cried out: "Florence Burns murdered him. She threatened in my presence to kill him if he would not marry her."

Florence Burns was arrested, and her only defense was—SILENCE. She did not even attempt to prove an alibi, and although the circumstantial evidence against her was so strong that everyone was morally convinced of her guilt, it was impossible to prove that she was actually the woman who entered the room with Walter Brooks.

The Nan Patterson Case.

The case of Nan Patterson is an even more vivid illustration of how hard it is to convict on circumstantial evidence, no matter how conclusive it is. It will be recalled that Nan Patterson was a chorus girl who had stolen Caesar Young, a rich horseman and bookmaker, away from his wife. In a spasm of repentance and reformation, and also of remorse at Nan's incessant demands upon his purse, Young had broken with the girl and was starting off to Europe with his wife.

However, her hold upon him was enough to make him go to say a last goodby to her, and give her a roll of money, and ask her to ride part of the way down to the dock in a cab with him. On the road Caesar Young was shot dead with a pistol that belonged to Nan Patterson, and which her brother-in-law had bought for her at a pawnshop, just as Paul Beattie bought a gun at a Richmond pawnshop for his cousin, Henry Beattie.

There were, however, two factors in their favor that are not in his. The first and most potent was sex. The one place in the world where it is of paramount advantage to be a woman instead of a man is in a criminal court. Most juries become a mere mush of sentiment when they are called upon to punish a pretty woman for her misdeeds, and they decide the question of her guilt by the rules of gallantry and not the statutes of law.

Virginia Juries Hard.

This well known proclivity of juries is illustrated in the case of Southern juries, and in Henry Beattie's case it is liable to work out most disastrously, for he is not only accused of having murdered a woman, but his wife and the mother of his five weeks-old baby.

The Virginia courts have a record of being dealt with Spartan justice with men who have killed women, and he has everything to fear, and nothing to hope on this score. He is in far worse case than his wife would be had she killed him.

The second reason why he is far less liable to escape than was either Florence Burns or Nan Patterson is because they had some show of excuse for taking the bloody revenge they were accused of having taken. Both had been dealt with harshly by the men they loved, both were on the eve of being cast aside and deserted for other women, and it was easy to understand and to pity the desperation that might have driven a woman under such circumstances to crime.

He Has No Excuse.

But Henry Beattie has no excuse to offer. He was married to a good pure woman, who had borne him a child with the patience of an angel. He was maddened by no frenzy of jealousy. If he killed his wife it was from motives so cold and calculating that they chill the very blood in the veins of a normal man, and that will make a jury feel that no punishment has yet been invented to fit such a crime.

August Furniture Sale

During the past fifteen years no house in N. E. has been more closely identified with dependable brass bedsteads than we have.

In illustration we offer this well-known pattern of brass bedstead at $19.50. Never sold under $27. Has 2-inch posts, heavy fillers, guaranteed satin finish.

Our Fourth Floor devoted to Beds and Bedding.

19.50 RARE BARGAINS THIS MONTH

Morris & Butler
97 SUMMER STREET

REUNITED COLTS ARE NOW HAPPY

NEW YORK, Aug. 14. Every little bird that that famous baby, Samuel P. Colt, makes to-day is considered a cause celebre in the pretty nursery room at Morristown where Ethel Barrymore used to visit Colt, her husband and baby are declared perfectly happy.

We have never been parted more than a quarrel, and never have we contemplated any sort of legal proceedings," Mrs. Colt says the way they put it today. And it must be true for there he is lying there after Russell Colt trotting his baby boy on his knee with his adoring father looking on.

Although Mr. Colt has denied that all the family quarrel stirred friends and relatives, rumors all over the country to the contrary notwithstanding, it is now generally realized pretty beyond question of doubt that if it does tend to prevent a divorce it will not matter much in the settlement of their troubles. The story of their stormy session of three days ago seems to be complete enough to convince one that there is nothing to it. Mrs. Colt will wait that notice from Mr. Colt before she will be the Colt millions.

Baby Holds the Fort.

The old Colt homestead is radiating sunshine. Mr. Colt, Miss Barrymore and the latter's young woman companion are seated around a table in the dining room. Mr. Colt says:

"It is said that we have been more happy since we have become reconciled. And that is true. We are more than happy. We are happy with the baby. We are happy with each other. We are happy with our friends. We are happy with everybody. We are happy with everything. We are happy with the whole world. We are happy with the whole universe. We are happy with the whole solar system. We are happy with the whole Milky Way. We are happy with the whole cosmos. We are happy with the whole infinity. We are happy with the whole eternity. We are happy with the whole everything. We are happy with the whole nothing. We are happy with the whole all. We are happy with the whole naught. We are happy with the whole zero. We are happy with the whole cipher. We are happy with the whole blank. We are happy with the whole void. We are happy with the whole chaos. We are happy with the whole abyss. We are happy with the whole gulf. We are happy with the whole vacuum. We are happy with the whole space. We are happy with the whole ether. We are happy with the whole atmosphere. We are happy with the whole air. We are happy with the whole breeze. We are happy with the whole zephyr. We are happy with the whole wind. We are happy with the whole gale. We are happy with the whole storm. We are happy with the whole tempest. We are happy with the whole hurricane. We are happy with the whole cyclone. We are happy with the whole typhoon. We are happy with the whole tornado. We are happy with the whole waterspout. We are happy with the whole earthquake. We are happy with the whole volcano. We are happy with the whole eruption. We are happy with the whole lava. We are happy with the whole ashes. We are happy with the whole cinders. We are happy with the whole dust. We are happy with the whole nothing. We are happy with the whole all. We are happy with the whole naught. We are happy with the whole zero. We are happy with the whole cipher. We are happy with the whole blank. We are happy with the whole void. We are happy with the whole chaos. We are happy with the whole abyss. We are happy with the whole gulf. We are happy with the whole vacuum. We are happy with the whole space. We are happy with the whole ether. We are happy with the whole atmosphere. We are happy with the whole air. We are happy with the whole breeze. We are happy with the whole zephyr. We are happy with the whole wind. We are happy with the whole gale. We are happy with the whole storm. We are happy with the whole tempest. We are happy with the whole hurricane. We are happy with the whole cyclone. We are happy with the whole typhoon. We are happy with the whole tornado. We are happy with the whole waterspout. We are happy with the whole earthquake. We are happy with the whole volcano. We are happy with the whole eruption. We are happy with the whole lava. We are happy with the whole ashes. We are happy with the whole cinders. We are happy with the whole dust. We are happy with the whole nothing.

No Truth in It.

"But David Graham Phillips admitted it," said the reporter.

"He simply couldn't help himself. He became a victim of circumstances. He consulted an attorney and followed his counsel's advice. It was no doubt for the best. There is nothing to it."

"It was also admitted that Mr. Colt had been drinking heavily," the reporter said, that papers had published it.

Mr. Colt looked in surprise at the reporter as the other mentioned the matter. "Mr. Meyers has not practiced law for years. He hasn't practiced for a long time. He simply a friend of mine."

That is right," said Miss Barrymore. "This talk about Mr. Meyers is ridiculous. If it is going to be used as evidence, Mr. Colt can't be married to me and I can't live with him. It is going to be rather a long time."

MISS SEARS AT NEWPORT GAMES

NEWPORT, Aug. 14. Miss Eleonora Sears is in town. Nobody in fact, seems excited about Eleonora but tennis is on and so are Harold S. Vanderbilt and the martini twins minute of her stay in town with a motor car in on the cross country playing goodbye to Mat Sears with the big racing car carrying her from visit to visit, from tennis court at the Casino to Bailey's Beach and then to Marble House, where his mother is Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is entertaining the principal athletic society set during her stay here.

The two members never meet except in the Miss Sears's motor car. Sachem is the only one who has ever been seen in the car with Miss Sears and he was there as a guest of honor. Miss Sears started in with a New York crowd, but Mrs. Belmont and Mrs. Wallace of the Casino. Mrs. Mc Vickar and the Goodwins are among those present.

WOMEN ARE DRAWN FOR JURY IN TACOMA

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 14. Thirty-four women were drawn for the service of jurors drawn for the September term of the Superior Court in this city.

BELIEVE POPE WILL RECOVER

ROME, Aug. 14. Physicians attending Pope Pius are greatly encouraged at the slight improvement of the Pontiff and declared today that some further complications seem unexpectedly, as convalescence will soon hopefully be completely necessary.

The newspapers through which the Holiness has free consent may have the effect of healing the breach between the Church and state in Italy. Newspapers, both pro and anti-Catholic, have started a campaign in favor of the Pope taking a journey into the fatherly attitudes of Italy where it is believed the climate would greatly benefit him.

The newspapers demand that His Holiness be guaranteed full respect from the constituted powers and that as the first step the Pope should be given the crown of Sardinia.

The Pope passed a satisfactory night and was pronounced better than the rest as he awoke.

The Pope's health recently became tired of his bed and sought relief in his arm-chair in which he sat for a long time. Besides his nurses and his niece the Pontiff had as visitors Cardinal Merry del Val, the secretary of state and Monsignor Bisleti, major-domo of the Vatican, who came to bid long converse.

The long great interest in current Vatican affairs and added significance Merry del Val's presence is considered

His Holiness told the cardinal he was much better and able to sit at his desk, where he certainly rather was a great accumulation of work awaiting him.

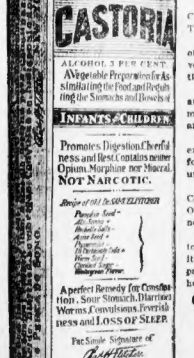
THE PEOPLE, THE ELEVATED, THE WEST END

If the people could only have what it is costing for printing and postage, expert accountants for public service corporations, &c., &c., for the selection, election and campaign expenses of "statesmen" as employees of corporations, they need not care anything about the fight of the West End and Elevated, as a stockholder in both I am not satisfied with the expert statement of the Elevated.

We want to know how many thousands in cash paid to political agents, how many expensive promotions, how many unnecessary names added to the pay-roll of the Elevated during the last five years, and especially the items and cost to elect their agents in Cambridge, last year.

Yours Truly,
GEO. F. RAYMOND,
384 Washington St., Boston.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL 3 PER CENT.
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Food &

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mansur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y. say: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

Myers-Dillon Drug Co., of Omaha, Nebr., says: "Your Castoria is one of the best sellers we have. We cheerfully recommend it to our trade voluntarily at all times, and will testify to its merits at any and all times."

Weber Drug Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Fletcher's Castoria is an article for which there is no substitute. It is undoubtedly one of the most popular articles on the market to-day and our customers for it are numbered by the hundreds."

Parrish & Bailey Pharmacy, of Los Angeles, Cal., says: "During an experience of over 20 years in the retail drug business we have never found a proprietary remedy that has had such a large sale or given such universal satisfaction as your Castoria."

Theo. Metcalf Co., of Boston, Mass., says: "We have handled Fletcher's Castoria for years and consider it one of the best preparations made. Our sales are continually increasing and everyone of our customers have nothing but praise for Fletcher's Castoria."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

'TIS HER DELIGHT

To her delight to help it bright, she loves its economy, she loves its cleanliness, she loves its sanitary light, she loves how small an area it occupies, but that nothing gives greater satisfaction to the table or greater than good afternoon. Remember, when you use sheets for the evening Reception a safe plan is to get your water heated and your cups hanging by skilled watchmakers; a high-class optician. Where here, prices always the lowest goods the highest.

Who Are the Most Popular "Fans" in New England?

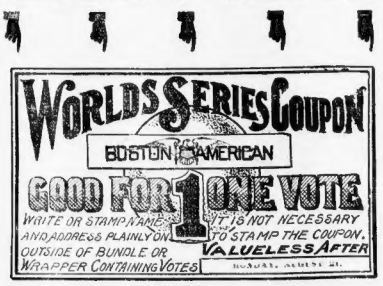
FREE TRIPS
TO THE
WORLD'S SERIES

CONNIE MACK
Manager of the Athletics, who look like pennant winners now

Each Coupon in the DAILY AMERICAN will count for one (1) vote.
Each Coupon in the SUNDAY AMERICAN will count for ten (10) votes.

The AMERICAN has arranged to send the ten (10) most popular New England Baseball "Fans" to the World's Series Championship Games, wherever they may be held, every item of necessary expense paid. The conditions of this offer are absurdly simple. A voting coupon will appear in each issue of the AMERICAN, Daily and Sunday, up to and including October 1st. The ten (10) contestants who receive the largest number of votes will be awarded the trips. In the event of ties the contestants so tied will each receive a similar trip.

Start Now! Here Is the First Coupon!



WORLDS SERIES COUPON
BOSTON AMERICAN
GOOD FOR 1 ONE VOTE
WRITE OR STAMP NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY ON OUTSIDE OF BUNDLE OR WRAPPER CONTAINING VOTES
IT IS NOT NECESSARY TO STAMP THE COUPON.
VALUELESS AFTER

Everyone, irrespective of age or residence, is eligible. You simply have to get your friends to buy the AMERICAN, daily and Sunday, and to save the vote coupon, which will be found printed therein, for you. This is absolutely all! You do not have to enroll or even send in your name. Just start to-day and notify all of your friends that you are in the race—and in To Win. Every live "fan" in New England should go after these trips. The winners will see all of the World's Series Games, wherever they may be played, and everything possible will be done to make the trip enjoyable for all. You will find it so easy to accumulate votes that the way your standing rises will amaze you. The way to go about getting votes in this contest is first to organize your friends into a vote-getting society. Then let them set to work to get votes from all of their friends. Victory in this contest means the popularity championship of New England, an honor almost as big as the winning of a big league pennant. All baseball enthusiasts will be on an absolutely equal footing. The ones getting the most votes will win! The standing of contestants, with their vote totals, will be printed from time to time in the Sunday AMERICAN.

FRANK CHANCE
Manager of the "Cubs," who look like pennant winners now

Each coupon will be good only for one week from the date it appears in the AMERICAN and valueless after one week.

CONTEST OPEN TO ALL IRRESPECTIVE OF AGE OR RESIDENCE

NATION FIGHTS ASTOR WEDDING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Because of the wide agitation against the Force engagement by members of certain religious denominations, members of Congress to-day got down to serious consideration of a uniform federal statute to regulate remarriage of divorced persons.

Foremost in the movement to bar from marriage men who have been convicted of specific offenses is Senator Curtis of Kansas, who has for years been advocating the establishment of laws which will make both marriage and divorce more difficult. He is warmly seconded by Representative Sheppard, who believes that such laws "are a crying need in this country."

The only difficulty in the way of a uniform code of laws is the difficulty in getting the consent of the States to the acceptance of federal legislation. Members of Congress are almost unanimous in the opinion that certain marriages should be prohibited by law. A ping suggested by Mr Sheppard, which provides for the organization of a national society which will bring the matter before State legislatures is generally considered favorably.

Hundreds of letters have been written to various members of Congress that they stop the wedding of "youth and gold." These letters have come from persons of all classes. The protest is invariably the same—that a man who had been convicted in the divorce courts should be prevented from wedding a young girl, whether her parents consent or not.

Members of Congress carefully explain that their desire for stricter laws is not intended as an attack on any one man. Nevertheless it is evident that joint protest of eight Episcopal bishops, high dignitaries of other churches and thousands of laymen against the Astor-Force engagement has brought the matter so forcibly to their attention that action of some kind is deemed advisable.

TRADE LEADERS TO MEET IN BOSTON

The greatest gathering of leaders in commercial, industrial and civic life from all parts of the world will attend the fifth international congress of chambers of commerce and industrial commercial associations in Boston, September 25, 1912. The delegation from the Boston Chamber of Commerce that is touring Europe invited all the commercial organizations abroad, and hundreds of men declared their intention of being present.

Lord Desborough, president of the London Chamber of Commerce, will bring a large delegation.

Double Legal Stamps Mornings

"Your Money Back If You Want It"

WOLF'S

"MY CLOTHIER"

Hanover and Portland Streets

Men's $1.00, $1.50

Coat Shirts

Patterns and fabrics are of most desirable. Soft cuffs are attached and detached.

69c

Regular 15c Wash Ties, at 5c
Men's 50c Underwear, at 35c
$1.50 Pajamas of Madras 98c
Men's $1.50 Union Suits 98c
$1.50 Straw Suit Cases 98c
$1.25 Khaki Trousers for 89c
$1.69 Linen Trousers for 1.19
$2.00 Khaki Trousers 1.39
$2.00 & $2.50 Trousers 1.69
$3.50 & $4.00 Trousers 2.77
$5.00 & $6.00 Trousers 3.55
Men's $10.00 Suits for 5.00
$12.00 and $15.00 Suits 8.85
$16.50 & $18.00 Suits 11.47

He Looks Knowing and Wise

Oh, my, how the prices fly when the Parker Optician gets busy; he looks knowing and wise as he squints at your eyes, and his price is so high, you nod dizzy. Especially if it happens to be the first time you've ever had your eyes tested. Avoid Parker Opticians who charge $2 or $3 more than Wolf's. Bring your Rx specially carefully where you take the least risk—Wolf's—Hanover and Portland Streets. Wolf's employs 3 skilled opticians and grind their own lenses; prescription not necessary, bring in your broken lens; glasses repaired while you wait; a safe place to have your watch repaired; 10 high-class watchmakers; open evenings.

The Pleasant Way to California

San Francisco Overland Limited

leaves Chicago daily at 8:30 P. M., arrives San Francisco at 2:08 P. M. third day via

Union-Southern Pacific

Standard Route of the West

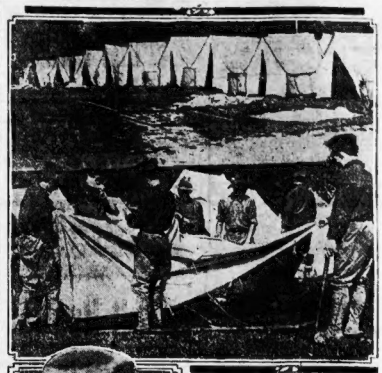
Electric Block Signals Excellent Dining Cars

For literature and information call on or address

WILLARD MASSEY, N. E. F. & P. A. 376 Washington St., Boston, Mass. Telephone Fort Hill 1487—1488

J. B. DeFRIEST, G. E. A. 287 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

C. T. A. R. Camp and Col. Murphy



BIG WELCOME HERE FOR TOGO

Count Heihachiro Togo, vice-admiral of the Japanese navy, hero of the battle of the Sea of Japan, who is returning homeward from London, where he represented the Mikado at the coronation of George V., will be in Boston on August 16, 17 and 18.

Togo will leave New York on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 16, at 3:35, and arrive here the same evening at 11 o'clock. He will be met at the South Station by representatives of the United States government, a committee of his countrymen, and Erwin T. Wolcott, consul for Japan. Although his stay in Boston will be less than forty-eight hours, the Japanese sea-fighter has a program of sightseeing and social engagements that would tax the endurance of many stronger and younger men. For he is little taller than the average man of his race and acknowledges sixty-four years.

First American Visit.

Most of them have been spent under hardy discipline. As a youth he was an expert in jiu-jitsu and jen-jitsu and sword fighting, and it is told of him that it was while he was engaged in practicing the latter that the order came from the Emperor to prepare to be a naval officer. Thereupon he went to England to study, but his present visit is the first he has made to the United States.

The admiral first set foot on American soil on August 4, when he landed in New York from the Lusitania. The next day he went to Washington, riding part of the way in the cab of an electric locomotive of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and visited President Taft.

When he arrives in Boston, the admiral is expected to go straight to the Hotel Touraine with his party, which includes Commander Tanaguchi and other officers of the Japanese navy, secretary and an interpreter, for the admiral does not speak English. Indeed, if he did, probably he would not have much more to say about what he sees, for he is known as a man of no words. Deeds are what count most with him, whether they be shaking Russian battleships or inspecting art museums.

To See Battle Fleet.

After a brief inspection he will go on board the Mayflower, which will take him to Provincetown, where he will be the guest of Rear Admiral Osterhaus on board the battleship Nebraska.

The Japanese Admiral has been looking forward with great interest to seeing the American fleet.

In the evening Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles will tender the Japanese admiral a banquet at the Algonquin Club. Many distinguished guests will be present.

On Friday morning the Admiral will be taken for an automobile ride around the city, visiting the Art Museum, the Public Library and Harvard University. He leaves at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for Niagara Falls.

BURGLAR HUNT ON IN WINTHROP

A squad of plain-clothes men has been turned loose in Winthrop to round up the thieves who have committed five burglaries in different parts of the town in the last five days. The police believe that the men came here from New York and are more clever than the ordinary run of burglars. They have shown a clever job of every burglary they have attempted and have left no clues.

It is believed that the burglars have the uniformed police so well spotted that it would be impossible to capture them by the usual methods, so plain clothes men have been put on the trail, whom the burglars would not know from Winthrop citizens. Those men have been distributed over the town.

The burglars got a gold watch and $17 from the home of Clarence A. Horton, No. 7 Buchanan street. The watch and money were taken from Horton's clothes which lay on a chair beside the bed where Mr. and Mrs. Horton were asleep. Before they entered the house they cut the telephone wires. Entrance to the house was made through a pantry window.

About the same time a man was frightened away by the screams of Miss Minnie Perkins as he was trying to force a rear window at her home, No. 28 Jefferson street. Patrolman Buckley saw a man acting suspiciously on Paulina street, near the Edward B. Newton school. As the man did not answer his call, Buckley fired a shot over his head, but the man only ran the harder and disappeared in the school grounds.

James A. Whipple of No. 15 Court street saw a man prowling around his house. The man disappeared before he could capture him.

EX-GOVERNOR DRAPER HOME TO-MORROW

Ex-Governor Eben S. Draper and the party accompanying him on the three months' tour of Alaska and the United States return to the former Governor's home at Hopedale to-morrow night.

The party includes the ex-Governor and Mrs. Draper, Miss Dorothy Draper, Eben S. Draper, Jr., and a corps of servants. During the trip in their private car they visited the Western Canadian coast and Yellowstone Park in addition to touring Alaska. They arrive at Worcester to-morrow evening at 9 o'clock and will proceed to Hopedale in autos, which meet them at the station.

ESTRADA FORCES WIN IN ECUADOR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Alfaro government in Ecuador has been overthrown by a revolution organized by supporters of President-elect Estrada. Few casualties occurred. A provisional government, headed by the president of the Senate, was formed according to the State Department's advices from Minister Young at Quito.

MINE REGIMENT HAS BUSY DAY

Up at 5:30 this morning after a good night's rest following the scenes, incidents, military ceremonies and entertainment of visitors yesterday, the officers and men of the Wilkesbarre Catholic Total Abstinence Regiment, encamped at Castle Island, attended mass, did police work, took part in company and battalion drill and prepared the field for the dedication of the camp at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Colonel John A. Duffy of Company A, Pittston, is officer of the day.

The camp is to be dedicated Camp Bishop Anderson in honor of the auxiliary bishop of Boston, who will be present. He will arrive at the island at 3 o'clock, and his car at the bridge leading to the island by the band and regiment and escorted to the drill field in company of Colonel William F. Murphy and the Rev. John J. Malley, chaplain of the Wilkesbarre Regiment. Bishop Anderson will welcome the regiment on behalf of the archdiocese. He will be presented by Father O'Malley.

Present as guests at the dedicatory exercises will be Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham, Acting-Mayor Walter L. Collins, Mgr. Dennis J. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Augustine's Church; Mgr. George Patterson, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Church; the Rev. Patrick R. Murphy, pastor of the Church of the Holy Rosary; the Rev. Mortimer J. Toomey, pastor of St. Eulalia's Church; the Rev. T. J. Mahoney, pastor of St. Monica's Church; the Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven Church; the Rev. James V. Tevy, pastor of St. Vincent's Church, all in South Boston.

10,000 Visit Camp.

More than 10,000 persons visited the camp yesterday. Companies of the Boston Catholic Total Abstinence Union Regiment from St. James's Church, St. Joseph's Church, West End; St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury, and Malden appeared in uniform, and received a warm welcome from the visiting command. The Knights of St. John the Baptist of Somerville also sent a delegation. The regimental band gave a concert afternoon and evening.

Following the dress parade in the evening, Colonel Murphy presented Maurice J. O'Connor of St. James's Church, chaplain of the Boston Catholic Total Abstinence Union, to the members of the regiment. Father O'Connor, in a stirring speech, welcomed the regiment to Boston on behalf of the organization he represented. He concluded by saying that the regiment was to be welcomed by Bishop Anderson to-day. The officers applauded and men of the regiment roundly applauded Father O'Connor. The latter, with the Rev. Robert E. Lee of St. James's Church, were entertained by Father O'Malley.

This evening the members will be entertained by a number of the Boston societies. To-morrow evening the regiment will enjoy a sail around the harbor. Wednesday the members of the regiment will be guests of Mgr. Dennis J. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Augustine's Church, who has chartered a steamer for an excursion down past Boston and Highland lights. A collation will be served on board. Mgr. O'Callaghan is to be say himself, carried away with the regiment, and takes this way of showing his appreciation of its worth as a factor in shaping the minds of young men to lead lives of usefulness, with drink free from the taint of alcoholic stimulants.

Plans for Military Mass.

Wednesday evening the officers of the regiment will be the guests of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Literary Society at the rooms, No. 641 Dudley street, Roxbury, while the men will enjoy a trolley ride to Arlington Heights and a dance in Arlington Town Hall on invitation of St. Joseph's Total Abstinence Society of the West End. The latter affair will be in charge of Former Representative William H. Cuddy, John T. Fitzgerald and Francis McGrath. Cars will leave from in front of the society's rooms, 635 Commonwealth street, West End.

Thursday night, under the auspices of St. Theresa's Total Abstinence Society, there will be an entertainment provided for the regiment in Boston College. A reception will be held in the society rooms. Next Saturday, at the Locust Street Grounds, off Dorchester avenue, the hospital corps of the regiment will give an exhibition of how field aid to the injured is given, the occasion being the field day and games of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Literary Society of Roxbury.

Because of the large crowd expected at the military mass at Castle Island, next Sunday, Father O'Malley, chaplain of the regiment, has arranged to have the altar set up inside the walls of the fort on the parapet near the guns, overlooking the outer harbor, so as to permit all who attend an opportunity of following the priests during the course of the mass.

The mass will be a solemn high requiem, and Father O'Malley will be the celebrant. The Rev. Maurice J. O'Connor will be deacon, Father McCormack of St. Joseph's Church, West End, sub-deacon. The sermon will be by the Rev. James Casey of Malden.

ELGIN WATCHES

17 Jewels 20 Year 8.95

New, Genuine Elgin Movements in Gold Filled Cases. Regularly sold at $18.

200 of These Watches

Going on sale for Friday and Saturday only at the biggest bargain price a high-grade Elgin watch ever sold for. Don't confuse these watches with the ordinary 17 jewel watches advertised by jewelers and druggists—they are regulated and will maintain accurate time.

17 JEWELS 20 YEAR GOLD FILLED 8.95

Regular $18 Watch

Ask Your Jeweller What these watches sell for, and if you can duplicate them elsewhere for less than double the price, we will refund your money at any time.

We Carry All Grades of WALTHAM ELGIN Hamilton, Illinois & Howard Watches

Special Sale of Movements		Our Price
From Price
$15	17-Jewel, adjusted	$8.75
$28	21-Jewel, adjusted for Railroad Men	13.75
$45	23-Jewel, adjusted, for Railroad Men	22.50

Close Daily 5:30 P. M. Including Saturday

JASON WEILER & SON

Wholesale and Retail Jewellers

384 WASHINGTON ST. Up One Flight Corner Franklin

Buy Yours truly TRADE MARK FOOD PRODUCTS

By comparison, the number of housewives who are now using Yours truly products is enormous over those who are not. The daily sales prove this. They also prove that the great majority of housewives have welcomed this opportunity of securing more dependable foods. They have learned that in Yours truly rests absolute assurance of highest quality—purity and wholesomeness. If "Yours truly" is on the label—food products of nutritive value are guaranteed. It is the one reliable name of many good things to eat.

If you are one of the few who are not using Yours truly foods, you too should join this movement toward reliable responsible high quality table products.

Try these. Yours truly Soups (12 kinds), with that genuine intense flavor—and big flavory Yours truly Pork and Beans—the smoothest Chocolate and Cocoa—tender and delicious Macaroni and Spaghetti—Coffee and other good things.

Your grocer knows. Ask him to bring you some of these foods for dinner tonight.

To Grocers—Yours truly products may be had from the following Wholesale Distributors:

BOSTON, F. M. BILL CO., TELEPHONE RICHMOND 2220

WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS OUTSIDE OF BOSTON:

Manchester, N. H. Daniels-Cornell Co. Phone 1612	Worcester, Mass. Daniels-Cornell Co Phone 4095	Providence, R. I. H. P. Cornell Co. Phone Union 1905
Lawrence, Mass. Currier-Todd Co. Phone 21	Lowell, Mass. F. M. Bill & Co. Phone 140	New London, Conn. Humphey-Cornell Co. Phone 1	Portland, Me. Conant, Patrick & Co. Phone 180

BASEBALL FANS HAVE BIG OFFER TO SEE WORLD'S SERIES

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

WELSH IS HAPPY OVER CHANCE TO MEET WOLGAST

WELSH GLAD OF HIS CHANCE AT WOLGAST

By H. M. WALKER.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—When Freddie Welsh meets lightweight champion Ad Wolgast on Thanksgiving Day boxing, you Britishers, he will have finished a chase for a chance at the big-money title that began in the days when the coal-miner and tailor-shop molder, Joe Gans, was the king of the lightweights, confirmed throughout the years that Battling Nelson bossed this division and was pursued more earnestly than ever after Wolgast landed in the throne.

Joe Gans, grand fighter and square sport that he was, was willing to give me a fight although I was only a beginner at a time when the Baltimore man was cleaning himself through the last few weeks of his reign as champion," said Welsh last night. "Two or three times I looked as though the match would be made, but something always turned up to queer it. Once I made a trip to San Francisco for the sole purpose of clinching a battle with Gans, only to miss Joe by a few hours.

"Battling Nelson slammed me as no champion ever slammed a legitimate challenger before or since. I was the only fair and decent one bordered on the annoying. The Battler couldn't get enough to seem big business with me or my representative Waugh, and not another first-class lightweight challengers at the time leading contenders for the championship. I consented to meet Wolgast. I considered neither my holding the British lightweight championship entitled me to the privilege of meeting Wolgast, nor the fact that Ad the coolest game and took him on, if necessary.

"Wolgast has assured that he would give me a crack at the championship, as have both Ad and his manager, Tom Jones, have challenged the recognized the entire sport ing world by the manner in which they have taken on every good lightweight who had more enough to ask for a match. The old line of 'go get a reputation' talk has never been indulged in by Wolgast or Jones. The door has been open to all lightweights. Jones has listened patiently to their song and then remarked: 'Show us the money.'

Whipped Brock in 1908.

Welsh gained his first start as a topnotch performer when he whipped Phil Brock at Vernon the afternoon of May 30, 1908, and it is in this same identical ring that the Pontypridd boy hopes to bound out his career by winning the world's lightweight championship from Wolgast. Reviving action was at that time the property of the Jeffries Athletic Club, but has since gone into the hands of the Pacific Athletic Club and it is under the Mechanics' roof that the Thanksgiving Day battle between the two little fellows will be staged.

The British lad is comfortably housed in his beach bungalow at Venice Cottage Sq. Tent City, is his address, and it was here that I found the challenger last night. He looks Welsh has changed but little since he left California one two years ago. He appears to be a little heavier, especially about the shoulders, and his cropped, dark hair shows a bare inch of gray. Otherwise appearances. Where we now deal with Welsh the man. At the age of twenty-five he is fully matured in every respect. He has had his share of life, since the memorable night in '08, but left its undesirable mark.

Welsh was so marked in Wolgast's mind and action of a few years ago has given way to a more settled, dignified manner. This is the only change that I can see in the little foreigner who for years has been regarded as the most scientific boxer that ever stepped into the ring.

After the references to Gans, Nelson and Wolgast, the English lad continued: "I am so sure of my ability to beat Wolgast that I am loafing here on the Pacific coast and figuring what sort of a cleanup I can make in the betting. See these figures?" and here Welsh produced from his coat pocket an envelope covered with pencil marks, well I'm going to make a wager with my backer, Harry Marks of Cincinnati. I'm getting odds of 10 to 8 that Wolgast a lo to 8 favorite over me and at these odds I figure that I can make up a small fortune. Marks will come over for this fight and he will have the bank roll with him."

With a wave of his former enthusiasm Welsh added: "I weigh 128 pounds now and in splendid physical condition and have already started light work that will soon be engage in two, perhaps three, fights before I meet Wolgast.

It was suggested to the British boxer that it might be considered a handicap on his part to take any sort of a chance in the ring before fighting Wolgast.

"What is to be part of my training for Wolgast?" he inquired. "Why, I'll tell you that I would to pick up any easy money, nothing of the sort. I will box eight rounds at least two stiff training periods before I begin work for the big battle, and I know myself so well that I regard two hard fights as a necessary part of my preparation for Wolgast. Neither Wolgast nor Jones need worry about getting me in the ground. I can whip any lightweight in the world, but to beat the champion I must be best, and to be at my best I must pass through a couple of hard battles in the ring. In meeting a second-rater or two I am not buying the best preparation for my training to meet the champion. Do you get the idea, Bo?"

An Improved Battler.

Welsh was most frank with the writer, showing neither a disposition to belittle the present champion or boast of his own prowess. "I don't claim to be a superman in boxer as I was a few years ago," he continued. "I realize that Joe Rigli and Jem Driscoll that my speed was not what it had been. I didn't regard this as a sign that I was going back, but that I must labor for me to start fighting along different lines. I go in more for solid punches now and you will be surprised at the way I finish my fights. I also depend upon the Driscoll experience as a link that I must train hard and get myself right for every important battle I engage in. That's why I am going right to Wolgast to get Wolgast to pick a systematic and thorough outdoor.

"Two or three years ago I could have boxed Wolgast six rounds a week and twenty-round go with Ad would have been a mere nothing than an exercise comp for me, but it is different now. I realize that Wolgast is fully fifty per cent. better now than he was then. The champion is a boxer with every right he makes. The way he handled Memmo Hough, Lagrave, Frank Mantell is nothing short of wonderful when we consider that coming battles. Every time Ad was laid up with a broken arm. The boxer who can overcome such handicaps and win a championship are now searching for a place in the Hall of Fame.

"And there you have it. Welsh pronounced champion an improved battler, admits that he himself is no better than he was two years ago, but insists that he will whip Ad and greatly plans to make a big clean-up in the betting market.

I mentioned Mike Welfe, and Welsh took on a bored look that was apparently too genuine to be doubted. "I suppose I must go all over that again," he said. "They have all the British championship together with the beautiful Lonsdale belt, was a good boy to me. We always got fairly and squarely—there is no reason for arguments on that point.

"To begin with, I must admit that Welfe is a much better man than he ever has been credited with doing. I won first score and in anything but first-class condition when I met him and lost my title. I

During this sale Store will remain open every evening till 9 and Saturday till 10:30 p. m. for those who cannot call during the day.

16 Days More of Sweeping FINAL Clean-Up At 14-16 Summer St.

WITH the prospect of being without a store for a whole month between Sept. 1st, when we are forced by the Filene deal to vacate 14 and 16 Summer St., and Oct. 1st, when we figure we shall be able to occupy our new location, 384 Washington, corner Franklin—we have slashed prices with reckless abandon—giving no thought for cost or anything else, in a desperate effort to clear out every garment in these few remaining days. The sacrifice is terrific; the savings for you absolutely marvellous.

All $10 and $12 Suits . .	$5.00
All $15 and $16.50 Suits	$7.50
All $18 and $20 Suits . .	$9.50
All $25 and $26.50 Suits	$12.50
All $28 and $30 Suits . .	$14.50
All $35 and $40 Suits . .	$16.50

Everything goes. Sack Suits, Coats and Trousers, Walking, Prince Albert, Dress and Tuxedo Suits, light, medium, heavy and fur lined Overcoats, Raincoats, etc. BUY TODAY.

$4 and $5 Flannel Trousers $2.55
$6 and $7 Flannel Trousers $2.95

Open Daily till 10:00. Saturday Evenings till 10:30

Jaeger

BOSTON
14-16 Summer St.
Near Washington
ALSO STORES AT
NEW YORK
47 W. 34th St.
Between Broadway and 5th Ave.
PROVIDENCE 260 Westminster St. PHILADELPHIA 1305 Chestnut
BUFFALO, 357 Main St.

LITHOLIN Stamped in Your Collar Insures Perfect Service.

LITHOLIN WATERPROOFED LINEN COLLARS

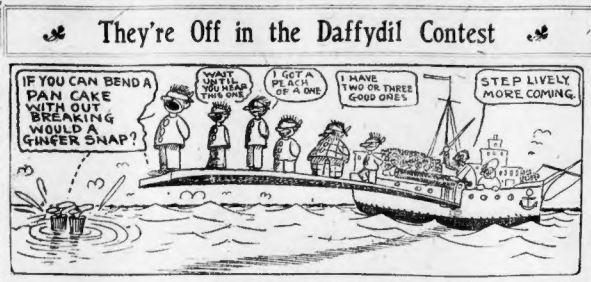
don't chafe, will cut frayed, Permanently clean. A collar with a purpose. Lasting it remedy with a fancy cloth. Save $16.00 a year laundry bills. Domestic finish. Collar comfort. Slipper to stand, style correctness.

Collars, 25c each Cuffs, 50c a pair

At your dealer's, or by mail on receipt of price.

The FIBERLOID CO.
7 & 9 Waverly Place, New York

They're Off in the Daffydil Contest



IF YOU CAN BEND A PAN CAKE WITH OUR BREAKING WOULD A GINGER SNAP?
WAIT TILL YOU HEAR THIS ONE
I GOT A PEACH OF A ONE
I HAVE TWO OR THREE GOOD ONES
STEP LIVELY MORE COMING.

JOY DAYS FOR DAFFYDILLERS

The Daffydil Contest is on.

Readers of the AMERICAN became busy when they read the announcement yesterday of the AMERICANS new and amusing competition. They have already sent many daffydills and sent them in to the daffydil editor.

More daffydils are expected today. People are thinking up daffydills. If you notice a man looking thoughtful for a minute, then grinning broadly, he is not laughing at a joke he heard the day before. He is just making a daffydil, just got it nicely fixed in his mind. He will send it in to the AMERICAN Daffydil Contest.

Prizes for Daffydillers.

The prizes will be cash and Daffydil Books. There will be $50 in cash for the writers of the best daffydills of the week, other prizes for some of the next best daffydills will consist of copies of "Daffy" famous "Daffydil Book" which contains many of that clever writer's best daffydills. The rules of the Daffydil Contest are as follows:

Mail your daffydils to the Daffydil Editor, Boston AMERICAN, P. O. Box 3047, Boston, Mass.

Write on one side of the paper only.

Sign your full name and address.

The best daffydills sent in during the week, by Thursday evening, will be published in the Sunday AMERICAN.

Watch the Samples.

The writers of the daffydills published in the Sunday AMERICAN will be awarded prizes.

Every daffydil published in the Sunday AMERICAN will draw a prize, either cash or book.

Ten sample daffydills will be published each week day. But those printed as specimens in the Daily AMERICAN will not necessarily win prizes. Only those selected for the Sunday AMERICAN will be prize winners.

BROCKTON HORSEMEN READY FOR THE FALL

BROCKTON, Aug. 14.—President Harry C. Briggs of the Brockton Driving Club has sent word to President Berden of the Lynnfield Club that the latter cannot accept the Herring City challenge for an indoor baseball game, because of the pleasures from the city of the majority of the members. He feels, however, that a match such as the Taunton people suggest, will meet with approval of the local horsemen in the early Fall.

RUDDERHAM TO PITCH FOR PLYMOUTH NINE

Willie Rudderham of Randolph, of the famous Rudderham family of athletes, has joined the Plymouth team and will pitch for the "Pilgrims" regularly from now on. Rudderham was recently basket over by Manager Flanagan of the Brockton team, but was not taken on for the reason that he lacks experience. Harold Alden of Randolph is the great work at short for the Plymouth team.

BIRD SHOOTING IS GOOD ON THE CAPES

BUZZARDS BAY, Aug. 14. The open season for shore bird shooting is now on in full swing and the marshes along the north shore of Cape Cod are the scenes of the fascinating sport. Boston gunners have been doing some fine shooting and some good bags of snipe and plover have been gathered. At the old mansion Bent at Sagamore and along to Scorton Neck, and the Great Marshes inside of Sandy Neck at Barnstable Bay are the best "stands" for these marsh and beach birds.

Golf Notes—News From the Links

J. B. Blish, who was the low gross prize at the Wollaston Golf Club Saturday, is the most improved player in the club this summer at Wollaston by his fine record of seventy-nine, which he made on the home course. Blish has been playing golf for the past two years, and in fact he and Mrs. Blish have been playing every day and Blish has played a eighty-six earlier in the day and Blish says that he had a chance of a course was to be his waterloo.

Many tournaments at the Woodland Golf Club are being played this week for the benefit of the visitors. The defeating of the visitors is only a task for many players, and in fact the tournaments are being played for the benefit of the visitors. Rose-Bum's system of handicapping must be somewhat of a benefit to their many competitors they are seldom more than two strokes between the scores of the players.

A contest in a tournament where each player starts with a number of strokes equal to finger on his handicap and is allowed to play until he has used up all his strokes. At the point where he has had his allowance he must quit and the player who is farthest along in the course at the end of the time wins.

E. M. Taft of Woodlawn, and the old Worcester player succeeded in the finals of the course at Wollaston by his fine record of seventy-nine, which he made on the home course. Taft has been playing golf for the past two years, and in fact he and Mrs. Taft have been playing every day and Taft says that he had a chance of a eighty-six earlier in the day and Taft says that he had a chance of a course was to be his waterloo.

Many tournaments at the Woodland Golf Club are being played this week for the benefit of the visitors. The defeating of the visitors is only a task for many players, and in fact the tournaments are being played for the benefit of the visitors. Rose-Bum's system of handicapping must be somewhat of a benefit to their many competitors they are seldom more than two strokes between the scores of the players.

A contest in a tournament where each player starts with a number of strokes equal to finger on his handicap and is allowed to play until he has used up all his strokes. At the point where he has had his allowance he must quit and the player who is farthest along in the course at the end of the time wins.

E. M. Taft of Woodlawn, and the old Worcester player succeeded in the finals of the course at Wollaston by his fine record of seventy-nine, which he made on the home course. Taft has been playing golf for the past two years, and in fact he and Mrs. Taft have been playing every day and Taft says that he had a chance of a eighty-six earlier in the day and Taft says that he had a chance of a course was to be his waterloo.

$1500 Worth of Information For 50c

Each of the L. C. S. Handbooks for Working Men, Business Men, Contractors and Engineers, contains 500 less than 200 pages—some of them 400 pages. There is not a page that does not explain information worth at least $3.00. Every one of these books is worth many times the price to any man who is ambitious for success. Many practical, difficult problems are instantly solved in the 500 pages of these books and years of time, to work out. The price of each of the L. C. S. Handbooks is only 50c. There are special books for

ELECTRICIANS
TELEPHONE ENGINEERS
MACHINISTS
PLUMBERS OR FITTERS
MARINERS
BUSINESS MEN
OFFICE WORKERS
BOOKKEEPERS
STENOGRAPHERS
and for all branches of the
BUILDING TRADES.

The object of offering these illustrated books at this small price is simply to induce interested workers to visit the Salary-Raising Exhibit of the I. C. S. at

9 BOYLSTON STREET,
Open from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.
ADMISSION FREE.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

KAUFMAN EAGER TO MEET FLYNN

By TAD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Al Kaufman is changing on the bit these days. He's marking time and everything else, you might say, waiting for someone to tip the chip off his shoulder. From Frisco Al writes us regarding his future plans:

San Francisco, Aug. 8, 1911

Dear Tad:

Just a line to let you know that I am still alive and feel myself again.

I have gained thirty pounds since I was beaten by Flynn, and got rid of the malaria that I had in my system at that time. I have been trying to get a return match with Flynn, but he would not answer any of the letters that McCarey sent him. Flynn's mind is on Morris, and I don't blame him, as Morris is a fellow that is very young at the game and will be an easy man for him to beat. I am afraid that some one will get on with Flynn before I get a return match with him and beat him. A man like Tony Ross might beat Flynn. Flynn is a fellow that can fight ten rounds fast, but over ten rounds he is no good, though Flynn beat me in my last contest with him, I will say him no time, whmer take all or cut the purse any way he wants and a decision to be known that he won over me on a fake and wanted to know after the fight what was the matter.

Outside Harvey and I will leave here September 6 for Australia, where I expect to meet the winner of Lang and Lester. Will drop you a line from there, and tell you what is doing. Billy Delaney is in New York and has been quite sick. Give my regards to all the boys.

Sincerely yours,
AL KAUFMAN.

Oh, listen to the hand!

Dear Tad:

Where on earth does Dan Morgan dig up those wonders that Brown is fighting these days. Is he afraid to take a chance with a regular fighter? Morgan puts Charley White through with him as his own referee, and a few weeks ago imported a fellow from Baltimore by the name of Kelly, brought him to Canada and New York, says we're led to believe that he was the Canada champion.

Great rep. Brown is making. We will soon hear of Brown and Little Tobey being matched to box for the championship of Tusis, Oklahoma. Cut out boosting that circus stuff. Ted Young.

JERRY.

Prince pounderers are in a bad way nowadays. Jim Coffroth hasn't found a card for his August date as yet, and is getting nervous. There was a time when Frisco had the best of every weight right on the ground, but now that Milwaukee and New York have opened the gates the West has been left out in the cold.

WORK ON ROADS FOR FOOTBALL PLAYERS

STORRS, Ct., Aug. 14.—In order to get into trim for the football season, H. E. Griffin of Hartford and H. Bengelman of West Newton, Mass., candidates for this year's eleven at the Connecticut Agricultural College, have joined a road gang and are now employed on the construction work on the new State road between Storrs and Eagleville.

HACK HAS SIX FAST MAT AIDS

Not to be outdone by Champion Frank Gotch, who has practically every good wrestler in Hinsmarter in town with him in preparation for his title match at Comiskey's ball park, September 4, with George Hackenschmidt, the latter has gathered a formidable corps of mat men together to aid him in getting into perfect condition.

With Dr. Roller, Tom Jenkins, Adolph Ernst and Koch, a giant and powerful German, members of his training staff, Curley has closed a deal whereby Charlie Cutler and Gus Schoenlein—Americus—have been added to the corps of workers. Hack has wired Curley to secure the last named two, and Curley lost no time in landing them.

Americus to Train Hack.

Americus wired that he would be in Chicago August 20 and Cutler is ready at a moment's call. Americus is in Baltimore, where he is in the contracting business with his father. With such men as Cutler and Americus, to say nothing of the others in his camp, Hack should get all the work necessary to fit him in natural best. The fast, clever and tricky wrestlers will prove a great help to Hack and Cutler can give the "Bandit" much good advice, for Cutler had Gotch closer to a fall in a match last year than any other American grappler.

Hack has a wide range of possibility that Charlie Olson may be added to the camp, and Dr. Curley can be busy aid Reed. He believes Freddie would rather have his pal Olson than the entire Gotch forces.

Americus's wire in answer to Curley's for the Baltimore bal's services reads:

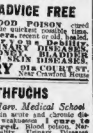
"Am always ready to wrestle and help along a good fellow. I'll clear up my business affairs so as to join Hack and Roller in Chicago and work my best to give the boy a beautiful rub. Let me know about catch-as-catch-can wrestling.

Cutler an Aid.

Cutler has closed a contract to make a number of stage fair circuits as a side venture, but says he will have time to aid Hack from start at his Chicago training camp for about two weeks.

"Dr. Roller is conservative," said Manager Curley. "He says he needs a good strong and speedy mat men who know Gotch's style of work long and well for me when I was to Europe that he would let me know what men to get to join the training staff. Tom Jenkins will join the Hack entourage when the Russian lands in New York.

Dr. Hallock's Remedies Cure to Stay Cured



Men's Diseases and Weaknesses

Nervous Debility, Exhausted Vitality, Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Loss of Power, Lame Back, Weakness, Enlarged Gland, Blood Poison, Varicocele, Stricture, Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Chronic Diseases of all kinds and from whatever cause. If in need of medical advice, write; guarantee given to cure curable cases for life. Consultation free. Office hours 9 to 5. Sundays 10 to 1. Book to be read by every man. Sent sealed in plain envelope by mail. Address

Dr. HALLOCK CO. 114 Court Street Boston, Mass.

Office located to meet at the same old stand, corner Court and Stoddard streets, one minute's walk from Scollay Square and Bowdoin square. Be oldest, most reliable and most reliable in the country, as city papers show and all medical books.

I CURE MEN
BOSTON SPECIALIST

Diseases and Weaknesses of Men. MIDDLE AGE A SPECIALTY. Don't neglect the trouble. No C.O.D. to be taken. Don't be deceived by cheap concerns that meddle and fail. Consultation free. Medicines sent everywhere by mail or express. Write for question blank. Hours: 9 to 5. Sundays 10 to 1.

ADVICE FREE

BLOOD POISON cured in 5 to 35 days. Any case guaranteed. Don't waste time with doctors who fail. Don't be deceived by free offers. Don't be humbugged by free offers. Don't be deceived by free offers. Don't be deceived by free offers.

DR. KILLORY 31a COURT ST., Over Boston Dental Parlors

DR ROTHFUCKS

Grad. Harv. Medical School

Specialist in acute and chronic diseases of men. Blood poison, stricture, kidney and bladder troubles. Write for question blank. FREE ADVICE. WHEN IN DOUBT, CALL OR WRITE. Hours: 9 to 5. Sundays 10 to 1. DR. ROTHFUCKS, 54 Court St., Boston.

Medical and Surgical SPECIALIST ADVICE FREE
614 Columbus Av., cor. Appleton, all diseases of Men and Women. Terms and Hours 10-8.

DR. ADY, Specialist Nervous Debility, Blood, Skin and Kidney Diseases. Men and Women. Open Sundays. Consultation free $2. 15a. to Boston st.

JOHN L. STILL SPORT MAGNET

John L. Sullivan, former champion pugilist of the world, is in great demand at sporting events in the region about West Abington where he has his summer home. Entering the lost few days several attempts have been made to secure the big fellow to umpire baseball games, but he refused.

"Baseball," the former champion remarked, "baseball is a pastime, but umpiring"—and the mighty one of other days shuddered—"is a massive shock-fiers. He continued by declaring that he was enjoying a good Summer rest and does not intend to mar the enjoyment by "getting in the mix" with the neighbors.

John L. says that the more he sees of Abington the better he likes it, and he is loudly the friend of everybody. He is now superintending the building of his new summer bungalow, which he is erecting on his property on Randolph street.

BEAMISH TO TRY FOR DAVIS CUP

From England comes the news that the third member of the Davis cup team which will contest at the West Side Club in August for the right to go to Australia as challengers for the Dwight F. Davis cup, will be E. A. E. Beamish, an Irishman.

The other members will be C. P. Dixon and Arthur H. Lowe, and it is understood that Beamish and Lowe will look out for the doubles end of the event and Dixon the singles.

Comparatively little is known regarding Beamish, much less than is known about any of the other two players in the event.

In the Irish championship he is to be eliminated the New Zealander, Parker, with a peculiar undercut service in the final he barely missed defeating J. Parker, who was one of the Davis cup team two years ago.

Don't Hesitate Any Longer!

Get in the Race for the $10,000 IN PRIZES in the American's Great Proverb Contest!

START TODAY!

This Is Picture No. 57

What Proverb Does This Picture Represent?

Every resource and opportunity is offered those who get in the race from the start in the Boston American's Proverb Contest now.

Back numbers of the puzzle pictures—that is, all the pictures which have already appeared in the paper—may be obtained from the Contest Department at the regular rates of the paper. Daily back numbers are 1c (plus return postage); Sunday back numbers are 5c (plus return postage).

The American's official PROVERB BOOK, issued expressly for use in this contest, is obtainable at 25c a copy from the Contest Department at 275 Devonshire Street. If sent by mail, send only the exact price.

The PROVERB BOOK contains the correct answers to each and every puzzle picture which will be used in the contest.

It is the only official guide to the contest, and all contestants are especially warned against purchasing any other than the official PROVERB BOOK.

A $2,500 Bungalow Home at Nantasket, a Moxe 1912 4-cylinder Runabout Automobile, another $2,000 4-cylinder Automobile, two speedy Power Boats, two Upright Pianos, a $600 Player Piano, a Grand Grophophone and 990 other prizes will go to the most successful picture solvers. Provided you live in Boston, New England, United States or Canada, the question of residence has nothing to do with the contest.

Those who live outside of Boston have exactly the same chance of winning a prize as those who live in the city.

Time of entry makes absolutely no difference. No answers are to be sent in until after the last puzzle picture has been published. And then there will be a period of grace in which contestants can deliver their solutions at the Contest Department.

Why not order a set now at the back numbers to date and make a race for these magnificent prizes?

It is the easiest thing in the world to enter. You don't have to send in your name or be nominated, or promise anything whatever. You are a contestant in full standing the minute you begin to solve a puzzle picture.

Can you tell what proverb it represents? Of course you can.

Then order the back numbers and you will have more than plenty of time to have your full sets solved before the last picture appears.

Proverb Contest Editor, No. 57
Boston American, No. 275 Devonshire Street:
My solution to Proverb Puzzle No. 57 is

.....
.....
.....

My Name is .....
Address .....
Town ..... State .....

Hold all answers until you have the entire set. No answers will be considered if sent in before the publication of the last picture.

CONTESTANTS, NOTICE!

Any contestant who finds that the pages of his or her PROVERB BOOK are incorrectly numbered, or in whose book the pictures do not appear in alphabetical order, is hereby notified to return same without delay to the Contest Department, 275 Devonshire Street, and a correct book will be forwarded.

CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST WILL BE PRINTED IN WEDNESDAY'S EVENING AMERICAN

THE PRIZES:

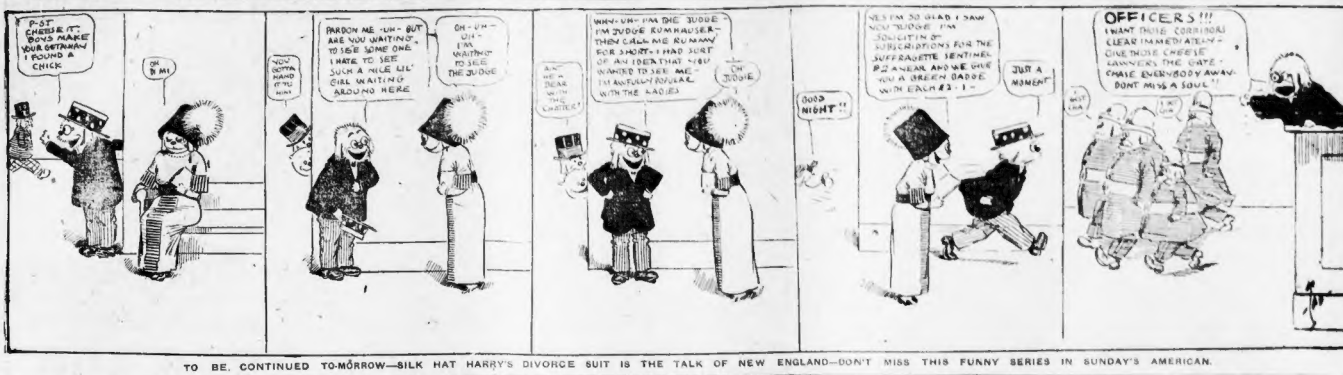
1st PRIZE—A $2,800 SEASHORE BUNGALOW, with lot, at Sunset Point, Nantasket.
2d prize—Metz 4-Cyl. 1912 Runabout Automobile.
3d prize—High Grade Thoroughbred Automobile.
4th prize—Handsome Motor Boats.
5th prize—High Grade Upright Pianos.
6th and 7th prizes—Medium Priced Pianos.
8th prize—Indian Motorcycle, 7 H. P., Twin Cylinder, Magneto Ignition.
9th prize—$6. and M. Motorcycle.
10th prize—Symphony Grand Grophophone.
11th and 12th prizes—High Grade Cameras.
13th, 14th, 15th and 16th prizes—Ladies' Gents' Bicycles.
17th to 20th prize—Complete Lawn Tennis Sets.
21st to 30th prizes—Best Gold Diamond Set Rings.
31st to 100th prizes—High Grade Cameras.
101st to 200th prizes—German Silver Mesh Bags or Gold Watches.
201st to 300th prizes—German Silver Toilet Sets or Gold Scarf Pins.
301st to 400th prizes—Fine Leather Traveling Bags.
401st to 500th prizes—Complete Baseball Outfits for Boys, or Painting or Drawing Outfit for Girls.
501st to 600th prizes—Fine Quality Footballs for Boys, or Croquet Sets for Girls.
601st to 700th prizes—High Grade Brushes or Medicine Balls.
701st to 800th prizes—Silk American Parade Flags.
801st to 900th prizes—100 Sets of Headsome Books by Popular Authors.
901st to 1,000th prizes—Gold Fountain Pens.

MARTY O'TOOLE GETS RUSH ORDERS TO JOIN PITTSBURG PIRATES

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

RED SOX UP AGAINST VERY TOUGH WEEK IN BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Silk Hat Harry's Divorce Suit — By Tad



P-S-T CHEESE IT BOYS MAKE YOUR GETAWAY I FOUND A CHICK
OH B MI
PARDON ME -UH- BUT ARE YOU WAITING TO SEE SOME ONE I HATE TO SEE SUCH A NICE LIL' GIRL WAITING AROUND HERE
YOU DROP YOUR HAND IF YOU DON'T
OH-UH-OH- I'M WAITING TO SEE THE JUDGE
WHY-UH-I'M THE JUDGE - I'M JUDGE RUMMAUSER - THEN CALL ME RUMMY FOR SHORT - I HAD SORT OF AN IDEA THAT YOU WANTED TO SEE ME - I'M BUSY WITH THE LADIES AW-OH DEAR - WHY CHEESE!
YES I'M SO GLAD I SAW YOU JUDGE I'M SOLICITING SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE SUFFRAGETTE SENTINEL - $2 A YEAR AND WE GIVE YOU A GREEN BADGE WITH EACH $2 - 1 -
JUST A MOMENT
GOOD NIGHT !!
OFFICERS !!! I WANT THOSE CORRIDORS CLEAR IMMEDIATELY - GIVE THOSE CHEESE CAWKERS THE GATE - CHASE EVERYBODY AWAY - DONT MISS A SOUL !
WAIT TILL I GET MY CLUB

TO BE CONTINUED TO-MORROW—SILK HAT HARRY'S DIVORCE SUIT IS THE TALK OF NEW ENGLAND—DON'T MISS THIS FUNNY SERIES IN SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

RUSTLERS MEET DODGERS IN 4TH

BATTING ORDER.

BROOKLYN.		BOSTON.
Cooley, ss.		Sweeney, 2b.
Daubert, 1b.		Bridwell, ss.
Wheat, l.f.		Jackson, l.f.
Rummel, 2b.		Doolin, c.f.
Davidson, c.f.		Miller, rf.
Coulson, r.f.		Ingerton, 1b.
Zimmerman, 3b.		McDonald, 3b.
Erwin, c.		Kling, c.
Barger, p.		Curtis, p.

By R. W. LARDNER.

The Rustlers will tackle the Dodgers in the fourth game of the series at the Columbus avenue grounds this afternoon and try hard to make it three out of four from Bill Dahlen's team.

Tenney's club is going better now than at any time this season. The men are confident they can take the measure of the Brooklynites and will be disappointed if they don't win to-day and to-morrow's battles.

"Pepper" Griffin will pitch for the Rustlers this afternoon. His opponent is likely to be Cy Barger, who lasted less than three innings Saturday, or Don Carlos Patrick Rogon.

And, by the way, the Rustlers will again train in 1912 at Augusta, Ga., the ideal training spot of the South. The terms submitted by Secretary Farr of the Augusta club have been accepted by President Russell. It is very probable that the Boston club will seek a very long lease so as to make this a permanent training grounds.

The club will go South about March 15. The movement home will be gradually northward. Games with Baltimore for Easter Saturday and Easter Sunday, April 6 and 7, have already been arranged. Games with the New York Highlanders, who will train at Athens, Ga., and with other American League clubs and with Eastern League and Southern League clubs, will also be arranged.

"Buster" Brown is "going good." The big right-handed veteran on Fred Tenney's pitching staff has apparently outstayed his hard luck and is going to make a report that his friends and relatives will look at proudly.

"Buster" pitched the first game of the season for the Rustlers. It was against the Dodgers and Boston won it, chiefly because of Mr. Brown's effectiveness. Then came a long spell of defeats, the most so many battles that the one victory looked like a misprint in the averages. Even when he was good, the team booted behind him, and it began to be suspected that he never was going to win again.

Things Wouldn't Break Right.

"Buster" was trying hard, but things wouldn't break right for him. Some folks may think that a pitcher on a losing team doesn't care what happens. But that's a large mistake. The lickings hurt Buster even more than they hurt the standing of the club. He was becoming discouraged and beginning to wonder what he had done to deserve such misfortune.

Then, just a little over a week ago, the change came. Victory perched on his strong right shoulder and later moved over to make room for more. He got the Cards a hard bumping down in St. Louis and they came home and got down to business.

It will be next to impossible for Buster to give up as many wins as he has losses, but he probably won't work more than a dozen times more this year, and he can't be expected to rep all his games. But his record for 1911 promises to be a lot better than it looked a short while ago.

Mr. Brown is one of the most popular of Tenney's athletes. He is modest and that helps some. He doesn't do any complaining when his mates kick things around behind him. He's one of the hardest of workers, willing and all that. So luck is really coming to him, and no one at times pater will object if he keeps right on piling up victories.

The Rustlers have two more games to play with the Dodgers in Boston. Dahlen's gang will leave this town Tuesday night, to return no more until 1912. Wednesday will bring the Cubs once more.

SINGLE ROOMS $1.00
OPP. SHUBERT THEATRE
NEW RICHWOOD HOTEL
254 TREMONT ST.
TWO PERSONS $1.50 AND UP
WITH PRIVATE BATH $2.00

Standing in Four Leagues

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Athletics	60	37	.651	Chicago	50	47	.515
Detroit	57	39	.594	Cleveland	54	55	.495
BOSTON	55	53	.509	Washington	52	54	.467
New York	55	53	.509	St. Louis	33	74	.308

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Detroit 9, Chicago 1.
St. Louis 7, Cleveland 1 (first game).
Cleveland 7, St. Louis 1 (second game).

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Boston at Philadelphia.
New York at Washington.
Detroit at Chicago.
Cleveland at St. Louis.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	62	37	.626	St. Louis	47	47	.500
Pittsburg	64	40	.615	Cincinnati	46	56	.451
New York	59	41	.590	Brooklyn	39	61	.390
Philadelphia	58	44	.569	BOSTON	24	80	.231

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Cincinnati 4, Pittsburg 0 (first game).
Pittsburg 7, Cincinnati 2 (second game).
Chicago 1, St. Louis 0.

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Brooklyn at Boston.
Philadelphia at New York.
St. Louis at Pittsburg.

N. E. LEAGUE.
HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Lowell	65	34	.656	Lynn	47	48	.495
Worcester	63	36	.636	Haverhill	47	51	.472
Lawrence	53	46	.536	Portland	37	60	.381
Brockton	49	48	.505	Haverhill	33	60	.355

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Lowell at Fall River.
Lynn at New Bedford.
Lawrence at Haverhill.
Worcester at Brockton.

EASTERN LEAGUE.
HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Rochester	72	38	.655	Montreal	56	57	.497
Baltimore	70	40	.636	Jersey City	51	62	.451
Toronto	68	45	.602	Newark	42	66	.389
Buffalo	57	56	.477	Providence	41	71	.366

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Rochester 8, Providence 4.
Montreal 5, Jersey City 3 (first game).
Jersey City 4, Montreal 3 (second game).
Buffalo 5, Newark 2.

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Montreal at Jersey City.
Buffalo at Newark.
Rochester at Providence.
Toronto at Baltimore.

Horse News and Stable Gossip

Amy Smith, the dam of Anvil, 2.08¼, winner of the Kentucky Futurity, was sold at the Fasig-Tipton sale for $90, and is very likely now pulling a public wagon in New York.

Ed Geers has not only driven more winners of the M. and M. stake than any other trainer, but he also lead this year's winner, Anvil (3 years).

Who was it that said that John H. Madden was crazy when he matched his mare Sweetie against Joan, 2.04¾. If the race was to be treated next week Sweetie would be the favorite. She now carries a record of 2.03½, made in a winning race, while Joan's best mark is 2.04¾, beaten by Dollie Arthaldo. Besides, Mr. Madden is not crazy, nothing of the pollenbumper, as was suggested at the time that he promoted the sweepstakes race.

That C. the Limit horse continues to win his races with something to spare. If he does not crack in the meantime there should be something soon to make him step a considerably faster mile than 2.04¾.

While there were some rocking good horses out on the Grand Circuit this season there have been quite few very cheap ones on the big line. In fact, classes the game looks hard on the half-mile tracks.

The Boston owned pacing mare, Grace G. (2.06¾), is out of it for a couple of weeks at least. She strained a tendon in one of her legs at Montreal. At first it was thought to be nothing serious, but the coming around finely and should be getting the money in a few weeks.

It is said that the trotting mare, Eleanor G. (2.22¾), by Silent Brook, has shown 2.0[illegible] a mile in 2.09 by in her work. It is further said that she will be kept over for the stakes next season.

NICKERSON
THE HABERDASHER
345 Washington Street
Summer Clearance Sale

SHIRTS
Soft and Stiached Cuffs.
Needless to tell you about merits of our shirts, as they are so well known.
1.50 and 2.00 ..... Now 1.15
2.00 and 2.50 ..... Now 1.65
2.50 and 3.00 ..... Now 1.85
3.50 and 4.00 ..... Now 2.35
All new this season.

NECKWEAR
2.50 and 3.00 Crocheted and Knitted ..... Now 1.65
1.50 and 2.00 Imported ..... Now 85c
1.00 and 1.50 Fancy Scarfs ..... Now 65c
50c and 1.00 Wash Silks ..... Now 35c

UNDERWEAR
1.50 Fruyth and Swiss Lisle ..... Now 1.15
1.00 "Ben Rose" French Balbrigan ..... Now 70c
2.00 to 2.50 Lisle and Mercerized Union Suits ..... Now 1.20 to 2.15
3.00 Pure Thread Silk ..... Now 2.45
Athletic Underwear ..... Now 40c
Odd Underwear About ½ Price.

PAJAMAS
1.50 and 2.00 Madras and Cheviot .. Now 1.15
2.00 and 2.50 Sateetz ..... Now 1.65
2.50 and 3.00 Striped Satette ..... Now 2.15
3.50 and 4.00 Silk Satette ..... Now 2.65

HOSIERY
50c Silk Lisle, plain colors ..... Now 35c
50c Thread Silk, black and tan ..... Now 35c
SIMILAR BARGAINS IN ALL OTHER LINES

RED SOX IN FOR A TOUGH WEEK

BOSTON.		ATHLETICS
Henriksen, r.f.		Lord, l.f.
Engle, 1b.		Strunk, c.f.
Speaker, c.f.		Collins, 2b.
Gardner, 3b.		Baker, 3b.
Carrigan, c.		Murphy, r.f.
Wagner, ss.		Meloan, 1b.
Yerkes, s.s.		Barry, s.s.
Ritzert, l.f.		Thomas, c.
Wood, p.		Bender, p.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—The Red Sox are in for a tough week, as to-day and Tuesday they tackle the Athletics here and then go to Detroit and meet the Tigers, who are anxiously waiting to square accounts for the trouncing Donovan's men gave them in Boston.

To-day Boston and New York hold the lime round of the ladder on equal terms, with the Highlanders having Washington and Cleveland for opponents. Take which line at the close of the week may not be very materially altered, but Boston has by long odds the harder job to break even.

The games here have shown the Athletics up in a light that hasn't meant confidence in their recovering the goal. True, they are a bunch of hitters, but their pitchers are being hit hard, and the champions have yet to surpass the class of 1910. With the home season longer than that of the Tigers, Connie Mack will have that much advantage, and that only. The slim lead enjoyed at present can be swept away in a week should the Tigers get started and the Athletics run into rough luck.

Manager Donovan started away on this last Western trip with eight pitchers. In the three games played in two days he has used seven, and the eighth is now warmed up, ready to send in, should occasion require. That tells the story of what is known as a nerve paralysis.

These pitchers have been about as useful as a fifth wheel to a coach. Only Dedeaux has put performances against men they would have to meet. His selection have been good, but the pitchers have crossed him through lack of ability to deliver.

SPORT RIVALS MAP OUT BIG FIELD DAY

Those hot sport rivals, Vulcan Lodge, A. O. of W., and Marion Lodge, No. 66, are planning on a lively joint field day in Foss Athletic Park on October 12, to include a score of athletic events for prizes, and a championship diamond battle to be played by a committee made up of Chairman Mayo and Messrs. Hickey, George Mitchell and Phinney.

As Vulcan has a phenomenal battery in Martin Broderick and Frank Cota, the Marion boys expect to sign up a spare Red Sox pair for the other event of the games.

There will be a 100-yard dash for men, 50-yard dashes for ladies and boys, a fat man's race, sack races and half-mile run.

CANNON IS WANTED BY LEAGUE MANAGERS

Bert Cannon, the backstop of the Randolph Buchanans, is being watched by Brockton team of the New England League. Two weeks ago he was playing with the Lynn team and offered a place. It is believed doubt the best backstop in the Trolley League, his throwing being great, and at the bat he is strong. He is now with the Buchanans only this season, coming from the Mattapan A. A.

Elcho Cigar
Factory Outgrown
The demand for ELCHO CIGARS has been so great we have had to move to larger quarters. Now at 1 to 7 Arlington Street, Boston.
DRISCOLL & FITZGERALD
Manufacturers

O'TOOLE ON WAY TO PITTSBURG

Marty O'Toole, the stage-money pitcher purchased from St. Paul by the Pirates, is rushing to Pittsburg, as Fred Clarke is determined to hold his own with the Cubs on the coming Eastern trip of the Western National League clubs. O'Toole pitched and won his last game for St. Paul Saturday and at once took the train East.

The Pirates made a splendid record during the last intersectional series, winning thirteen games and losing two. Their first two opponents were the Bostons and Brooklyns, whom they cleaned up, and it was predicted that they would slip back when they struck the Giants and Phillies. They didn't, however, and won the series from both of these teams.

Clarke's men are playing the strongest game in the National League just now, and if they don't win the pennant it won't be because they can't stand the strain of a driving finish. They may not have the ability to win out, but they have the staying qualities.

The Giants have speed and good management and morale to help them in the gruelling race, but unless they take a big lead while at home this time, need a better on the road than they did last time to win the pennant. They won seven games and lost five on their recent trip through Philadelphia and Brooklyn, whom they cleaned up, and it behooves them to make a spurt during the next home stay.

At that the Cubs didn't do so much during the last intersectional battles. They won eight and lost six. The Brooklyns won seven and lost nine, the Phillies won two and lost twelve, the Cincinnatis won ten and lost five, a good record for them, and the Cardinals won seven and lost eight, not a good record for a team which is bidding for the pennant. The Eastern teams won twenty-one games and lost forty, a poor showing.

N. E. FAIR GAMES.

Harry A. Adams, manager of the electric light athletic meeting to be conducted at the New England Fair, Worcester, Wednesday night, September 6, announces the following handicap events: 100 and 200-yard dashes, 440, 880-yard and one mile runs. Team races and special events will be pointed later. Entries close with Harry A. Adams, September 1, 413 State Mutual building, Worcester.

MRS. HARRIMAN HELPS OUT FANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The passenger department of the Southern Pacific Railroad was posted the other day to decide whether right of way should be given the special car in which Mrs. E. H. Harriman and her guests had come to the West or to a special train carrying baseball "fans" to Sacramento. Both trains were scheduled to arrive at the same time.

The "fans" annoyed that unless their cars went first they would miss the game. There was a hurried consultation between passenger officials and traffic officials and as a result the Harriman car was forced to wait.

The railroad men say that Mrs. Harriman accepted the decision good naturally.

BARBERS AT BROCKTON.

The Boston Barbers' Union Baseball team will open a series of three games with the baseball artists of Brockton today, the opening game to be played at Brockton. The line-up of the Hub barbers will be as follows: O'Connor, c.; Knight, s. Wilson, pitcher; Dwyer, 1b.; Foley, s.s.; Fischer, 2b.; Hackey, 3b.; Bagley, l.f. and Dennis, r.f. The Boston barbers who will accompany the team will be entered in the 1-2-mile run, 1-4-mile run, 220-yard low hurdles.

RECORD SWIM MADE BY BIRNIE WILLIAMS; WILL TRY FOR LIGHT

Birnie Williams, a clever and promising young swimmer, established a new record for the Charles River Basin Sunday, by swimming from the Watertown Bridge to the West Boston Bridge, a distance of more than eight miles, in the remarkable time of 4h. 19m., thus lowering the former record of 7h. 10m., made by Joe O'Connor of the Riverside Boat Club, by 1h. 51m.

Williams was accompanied by his brothers, Harry and George and by Tom Quinlan. This was Williams's first attempt in fresh water, all his former swims having been confined to Revere.

Williams has made arrangements to try for the Light August 27, accompanied by Dr. W. E. Crockett, the Hub's famous devotee of swimming who successfully conducted Rose Pitaloi and Sam Richards to the much coveted goal.

CANADIAN MEET SEPT 23.

The Canadian championships are scheduled for the Montreal A. A. grounds of Montreal, September 23. The full list of the standard American championship events will be entered in the list, together with a 2-mile walk, 10-mile run and a Joe Duke game in 15 yards behind.

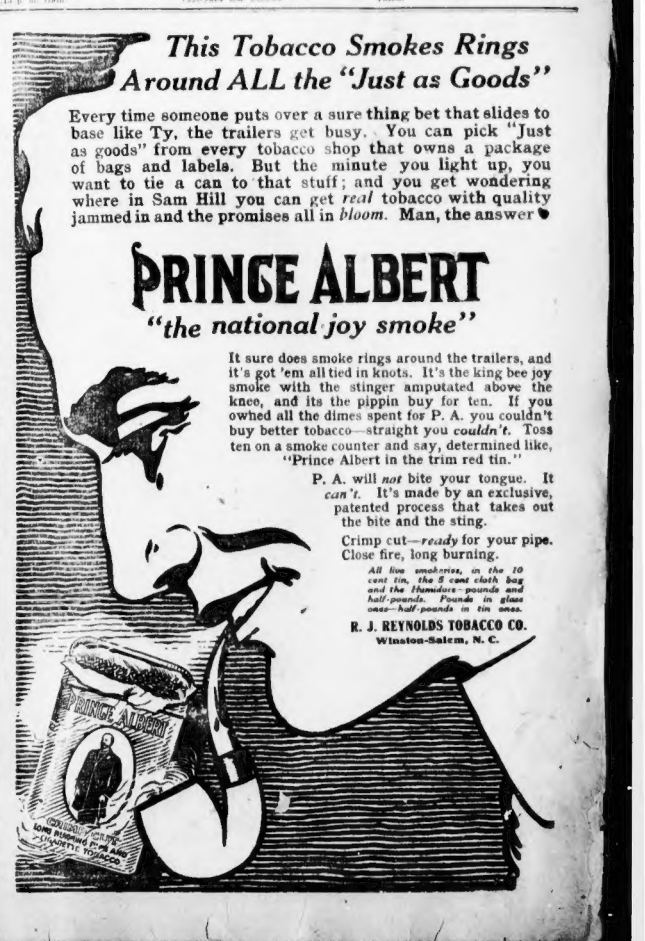
SHELDON FIRST OVER BIG FIELD

Every one of [illegible] East Boston [illegible] the swim held in Park [illegible] form, a distance [illegible] George Sheldon [illegible] exhibition of speed, endurance and skill was first to finish in the fast time of 43 minutes and 10 seconds, 15 yards ahead of Joseph Duke, his nearest competitor. All but two of the members reached the point and [illegible].

The race soon developed into a battle royal between Sheldon and Duke. At the end of the first half-mile, Sheldon, who had been using the powerful trudgeon stroke, put the advantage gained up with Duke and for the next 500 yards the men were neck and neck.

Then Sheldon slowly began to overhaul his opponent and with Captain Caldwell pacing him at the point two lengths in the lead.

Duke, still using the overarm, made a desperate effort to overtake his rival on the home stretch, but Sheldon was not to be denied the honors and forged steadily ahead, giving the distance an easy stroke. He made a 30-yard sprint during the last 100 yards of the race and finished, using a grunt, in 43 minutes and 10 seconds. Joe Duke came in 15 yards behind.



This Tobacco Smokes Rings Around ALL the "Just as Goods"
Every time someone puts over a sure thing bet that slides to base like Ty, the trailers get busy. You can pick "Just as goods" from every tobacco shop that owns a package of bags and labels. But the minute you light up, you want to tie a can to that stuff; and you get wondering where in Sam Hill you can get real tobacco with quality jammed in and the promises all in bloom. Man, the answer
PRINCE ALBERT
"the national joy smoke"
It sure does smoke rings around the trailers, and it's got 'em all tied in knots. It's the king bee joy smoke with the stinger amputated above the knee, and its the pippin buy for ten. If you owned all the dimes spent for P. A. you couldn't buy better tobacco—straight you couldn't. Toss ten on a smoke counter and say, determined like, "Prince Albert in the trim red tin."
P. A. will not bite your tongue. It can't. It's made by an exclusive, patented process that takes out the bite and the sting.
Crimp cut—ready for your pipe. Close fire, long burning.
All live smokeries, in the 10 cent tin, the 5 cent cloth bag and the Humidors—pounds and half-pounds. Pounds in glass ones—half-pounds in tin ones.
R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

The Old-Fashioned Mother

No Excuse for Faded, Ugly Women

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1911, by National News Association.

UNTIL the race reaches a higher plane men will be more or less influenced by the personal charms of woman, no matter how many mental or spiritual graces she may possess.

It is man's nature to admire beauty—his idea of beauty—and when he selects a life companion he sees something in her which is in unison with those ideals he has formed.

Sometimes it is a head of fine hair, or a soft complexion, or a good figure, or a carriage of the head; but whatever the physical trait is that has attracted the man the woman is very sure to know of it from his lips, and to feel a natural woman's pleasure in the consciousness that she possesses this special quality or physical attribute.

Why, then, does she so frequently "let herself go," to use the prevailing phrase, after marriage and cease to care about her personal appearance?

She may answer that after she became a mother she had no time to think about herself.

Her First Duty

Her first duty she found to be in the care of her children. But the first duty life holds for any human being is to make the utmost of the spiritual, mental, physical self; for that permits a higher performance of all duties to others.

The wife and mother who shows her desire to be attractive in person, to be neat, orderly, and in touch with the modes of the day in her attire, pays a compliment to both husband and children —a compliment which will bring a better reward than obliteration of her individuality on the altar of motherhood.

The mother who sacrifices everything for her children makes a poor investment for herself and for them.

The old-fashioned, ill-dressed and faded mother of the fashionable young woman is a pitiful object; and the daughters and sons of such a mother rarely make good wives or husbands. They have been reared to be selfish; to expect others to make sacrifices for them; and they are ill prepared to do their share of life's exacting duties which come with marriage.

If you are a young or a middle-aged wife and mother, go to your room to-day and take an inventory of your physical attractions and of your wardrobe.

Recall yourself as you looked when you first married, and then set to work to rebuild yourself.

Just as your wardrobe, no doubt, contains materials enough to be made over into modish and becoming garments, with a little time, thought and effort, so your body can be remade if you are willing to work for results.

Physical culture will cause miracles to take place, if it is properly and persistently pursued as a means to a certain end. In a month's time, ten minutes given to bodily and facial exercises will show unmistakable results; and in a year's practice the whole personality will be rejuvenated and beautified.

With these exercises the mind must work. There must be a realization of the power of thought to make or mar the body; to render it ugly or beautiful. But with this realization, three times the usual exercise, along the lines of physical culture; a proper care and nourishing of the skin, right breathing, right attitudes, right bathing.

All these things take time, to be sure, but the time spent by all fading women in gloomy thoughts and discontent would make them beautiful, well and strong if used in these common sense methods of preservation and repair.

No woman is advised to be vain, to be extravagant or to be fooling in her efforts to please the eye.

Make Yourself Attractive

But every woman is urged to study the art of self development, to think about her personality and her attire and to make herself as attractive as possible by expressing health, cleanliness, becomingness, happiness and goodness in her appearance.

Many a divorce suit might have been averted, many a neglectful husband made devoted, had the wives possessed the good sense, the energy, the perseverance and the taste to keep themselves pleasing to the eye, and to make their homes the centre of good cheer, instead of mournful clinics, where faded and forlorn women talked of their woes and their troubles.

This is an age of scientific discoveries along every line. The science of preservation, of the bodily forms and charms, and the restoration of them by common sense methods is at the command of every woman.

There is no excuse for ugly, faded and ill-dressed woman to-day.

The Corset in the 18th Century By Nell Brinkley

Copyright, 1911, by the National News Association

(Reproduced by Permission, from the August Number of Good Housekeeping Magazine)

A pretty miss of the eighteenth century, before the French Revolution, wearing the terrible busk-corset of those days.

This instrument of torture was made of plates of wood and great masses of whalebone.

For any woman to refuse to wear a corset meant that she would be barred from the French court.

In this charming picture by Miss Brinkley, which is reproduced by permission from the August number of Good Housekeeping magazine, a dainty miss of the eighteenth century is shown trussed up in a whalebone corset.

This picture accurately depicts the stage to which the corset had been brought at that period, and is but one of many beautiful drawings by Miss Brinkley which appear in Good Housekeeping this month.

Accompanying the pictures is an interesting article on the corset in which this feminine instrument of torture is described from the time of Eve when corsets were known, up to now.

The young woman shown by Miss Brinkley wore a corset chiefly because she would not otherwise have been admitted to the French court. In the early part of the eighteenth century the woman who failed to wear a corset was looked upon with disgust, although she might be striving to save her chest from becoming flat and her lungs from congestion.

The corsets of those days were extremely long and, also, extremely stiff. They were fashioned from unyielding pieces of wood and whalebone and laced as tightly as the deluded young woman could tie it.

Pretty girls thought that the corset made them prettier, and the young men of that day probably thought the same, so, in spite of the warnings of physicians, the corset was considered to be an essential part of woman's garb, and is so considered to-day.

Buried Treasure

By THOMAS TAPPER

YOU remember the story of the old man who, when he was on his death-bed, called his sons to him and told them that a great treasure was buried on the farm.

After he died, the sons dug that farm deep, from one end to the other. Finding no gold or silver, they planted it, and in the Autumn they discovered what the old man meant. The treasure was there, but its name was Digging and Planting.

Then you, no doubt, remember another story of an old man who, on his deathbed, called his sons to him and asked them to try to break a number of sticks that (in the story) lay near the bed. They could not do it. But when the old man told them to untie the bundle and try each stick separately, they broke them without trouble.

And the story goes on, making the old man say:

"Now, boys, if you work together, no one can overcome you; but if you quarrel with one another and separate, it will be as easy to break you as it is to break one stick from the bundle."

Which, in its way, was a fortune for the boys.

II.

Now, there is another story you have not heard. It is also about an old man and his three sons. Only this old man was not on his deathbed. He was a lively old man, attending to business every day.

From the time his boys were old enough to understand, he talked to them about the Great Gold Mine. At first the boys did not know just what he meant. But he told wonderful stories of the Great Gold Mine, and made them curious about it.

When the oldest boy was twenty-one he took him aside and told him where the Great Gold Mine was to be found. Then he gave him some money, and a blessing, and told him to go away and dig in it.

When the second boy was twenty-one he took him aside and did the same thing. And when the youngest boy was twenty-one he told him the secret, and he left home, as his two brothers had done, to dig in the Great Gold Mine.

Each boy was directed to stay away five years, and to report on his twenty-sixth birthday.

The first one was on time to the minute, and his father asked him:

"What have you dug out of the mine?"

"A grocery store and a fine business," said the boy.

Boy No. 2 was also punctual. And the father asked him, as he had the eldest:

"What have you dug out of the mine?"

"A college education and a professorship."

When the birthday of the third boy came, he failed to turn up.

The old man looked up and down the street every day, expecting him to appear. A week went by, and still he did not come.

Then a letter came. In this letter the youngest boy said:

"I came out here five years ago and put the money you gave me into a gold mine; fifty per cent. profits guaranteed annually. I have been working for two dollars a day, waiting for the mine to pay, but it has failed. What shall I do?"

The old man telegraphed the boy:

"Remember what I said five years ago. Begin again. Father."

Just ten words in all, you see, and no extra charge.

Now, what was it the old man told the boys about the Great Gold Mine?

It was this:

The richest mine in the world is in a man's head. The best modern machine with which to dig in this mine is Thought. The best tools to use are Work, and Trust. No man has ever been found who took stock in the mine on this basis.

He was quite a simple old man, as you see. And he knew that at twenty-six a boy has still a good chance, even if he has been five years learning how to begin.

About Yellow Kittens

By WINIFRED BLACK

LOS ANGELES woman rushed into a burning building to "save her babies."

The wall fell and the woman died there in the flames and the horror, and it turned out that "the babies" she lost her life to save weren't babies at all. They were just a neat full of scrawny, mewling, spitting yellow kittens.

And everybody stood around and wondered about it.

I don't see anything so odd in this affair.

I've done it a thousand times, haven't you? Rushed into danger just for a nest of miserable kittens, or something not half so lovable and cuddly?

There was the fight at the Ladies' Aid Society. I rushed into that. I knew how it ran all the time, but in I went head first —and came out—bedraggled, half dead and wholly ashamed of myself.

For what? Just because I was mad and wouldn't stop to think.

And now the minister's wife doesn't speak to me and the elder's wife is a good deal too friendly, and—Oh! I wish I'd never heard of those kittens.

Never do such things.

How about the time you went to visit some people you couldn't bear just because they invited you, and you kept thinking of their lovely new motor and their box at the theatre and their dinners? You went, didn't you?

Well, what did you get out of the visit? A bread and butter map of suburbs and slight-veiled insults and scarcely veiled insolences of condescension, one ride in the car, and a broke down car at that, and a back seat in the box at a silly play, and the back view of your hostess's beautifully groomed head for the evening, and the heartache and the headache and the miserable hour of reckoning when you looked yourself in the face in the glass and said: "You're a snob, and not a successful snob at that."

Kittens—why, kittens are worth something. Anybody, to one who loves them. But what you got?

The man you love, the man who works and plans and thinks for you day and night, are you making his happiness just for a nestful of little yowling kittens?

Do you race to bridge clubs and art rooms and small and earlies, and leave him and his comfort to the servants?

The little girl who ought to be the pride of your life, you neglect her and let her run the streets, or you "send" at this reception and "pour" at that tea?

Yellow kittens! Nothing but yellow kittens. You'll see it all when you come to out of the spell and get a chance to rub your eyes and think it over.

Let's have a talk at the next woman out there in Los Angeles. Let's be sorry for her, and, quite incidentally, for ourselves.

We're all a good deal alike, after all, come to think of it—aren't we?

The Working Women

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

IN the country-at-large about one-third of the single women between the ages of fifteen and twenty-five are found in occupations outside their homes, and in the cities about fifty per cent, so that nearly half of all the young women in the country are at work.

Between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five about one-fifth of the number are so engaged.

To the credit of this army of young women who leave home every morning to work downtown it should be remembered that their work downtown is not all they do. Unlike their brothers, they do not sit down to a meal that is prepared for them, and then eat and run. Unlike their mothers, they do not add to the family laundry and housework without any thought of alsd about the help. The girl who works downtown also works at home. She rises at night when her brother rests and helps with breakfast before he is out of bed in the morning. She helps with the laundry work before and after office hours, and if she has an occasional Saturday for an outing it means that she was up before daylight and did several hours' work before she felt free to take it.

Their Double Life

It is the double life that thousands of good working girls lead; a double life for which they do not receive full credit.

Women are now engaged in no less than two of the 303 gainful occupations of the men in this country, and have reached that height of independence within the past sixty-four years, and every woman who sets type, or keeps books, or is a doctor, a dentist, a lawyer, a minister, a jurisconsult, is leading the double life of the dumbest working girl; she is working for wages outside, her home is neglected or left out of her duties at home.

If among the millions of men in the world one gets breakfast, or holds the baby at night while his wife gets dinner, the world wears out its gloves in applause. But it takes as a matter of course the girl who stands on her feet in a store six days in the week and helps with the housework on Sunday.

The women are doing something no man can do, for if any man ever worked around home he didn't keep it up a moment longer than it required to start public applause.

The Male Prophets

With all this independence, they are not making a sacrifice of their homes, and if there is a man who isn't better cared for now that his daughters, and sometimes his wife, work for money, where can he be found? He is better groomed and better fed than he was sixty-four years ago, when the male prophets predicted that if a woman engaged in a gainful occupation it would mean the wreckage of that woman's home.

Some of these male prophets are in control to-day. As their ancestors feared the employment of women in gainful occupations, so are they fighting the desire of the women for the ballot. They belong to the yesterday of their near-sighted forefathers and can't see that if a woman can earn her living and keep her house at the same time, which millions are doing, that an step on her way to work to cast her ballot without imperilling the sacredness of her home, a sacredness which most flighty themselves, and regard with reverence only when they can use it as a club on some woman.

The Vanity Box

Copyright, 1911, by Dorothea Duer Chesterley.

By Alice Stuyvesant

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT

PART ONE—(Continued)

VERN Poppet's unfriendly little fox terrier, which invariably barked at strangers, and had objected to Gaylor, to everybody else, on his first appearance, yielded to the charm, and became the devoted devoted adherent. Jacky made the third in all the woods walks, and enjoyed himself hugely, nosing into rabbit burrows and other private dwelling places and retiring forest folk.

Wielded to Charm

To any one who had watched these excursions with curiosity, it might have seemed that there was some method in them. The young man took the child and the dog a different walk each day, and the walks were in concentric circles, moving very little ground in the woods governed.

Whenever Jacky excited himself over a rabbit hole or other object of interest, Gaylor was all sympathy. If the fox terrier were inclined to dig, "Cupid" helped him, telling a fascinating tale to Poppet herself; the story of a fairy Jacky had on disappearing into a burrow, having gently assumed the form of a bunny—or some other fairy equally alluring to the imaginative little being like Margaret Arnard.

One morning, not very far from the top of the hill where the View Tower stood, is emotional Jacky bored his sharp nose, in a state of great nervous excitement, among the gnarled roots of a tree, excited by the entire away of thick masses of bracken, which had been done by order of the police immediately after the murder of Lady Hereward.

No creature less energetic and keen of scent than a fox terrier would have suspected the existence of a rabbit-hole under the low arches of the beech tree's gray roots, but Jacky was certain of its existence, and Gaylor encouraged him, as usual.

"Good dog! Have him out!" he cried, as Jacky wildly clawed and pawed and nosed his way through the labyrinth of root barriers. "He knows," the young man explained to Poppet, "that a stolen fairy treasure chest has been buried there by a wicked gnome, for fairies talk to dogs in dreams. Now, I'll just see if I can reach that treasure chest with my hand."

"You've never found anything of the fairies yet," Poppet said, impressfully, "except some of their jewels, which they turned into stone before you touched them."

Unearthed by Dog

"Even those were better than nothing," argued Gaylor; "and you never know what you'll have the luck to come across next time."

"I'm always afraid, when you stick your hand into places like that, that a snake will jump out and bite you," said Poppet.

"Snakes and rabbits don't live together so far as I've heard," returned Gaylor. "Jove! I've got hold of something this time, for sure!" He began extricating his arm from the twisting embrace of the tree roots, and an instant later Poppet saw that he had pulled out of the hole a metal thing, caked with earth; quite a small thing which he could almost hide in his hand. "Oh, what's that?" she asked eagerly.

"Nothing that would interest you much, I'm afraid," replied the detective, slipping the thing into one of his coat pockets, and carefully covering it over with the flap, as he pushed the thwarted fox terrier gently away.

"But you have turned quite pink, as if you were interested," said the child. "You might tell me what it is. It looks like one of Dada's tools."

"That's all it is; a kind of tool," answered Gaylor. "But I'm fond of tools, and you're not. That's one of the differences between us, you see. Perhaps it was a tool of the wicked gnome's, that he opened the fairy chest with, and left when he'd got all the treasure."

Gaylor pulled out his watch and looked at it. "Why, it's time we were trotting home!" he exclaimed, as if surprised at the lateness of the hour. "And if you like, when we get back, I'll sketch you a picture of the gnome at the bottom of the rabbit-hole, opening the treasure-chest; only you must leave me alone in my room while I do it. I never could make pictures with any one watching me."

The Best Story Yet

So they walked down to the farmhouse, the man and the child, with Jacky trotting at their heels or darting ahead on some quest or other; and Gaylor told Poppet the best story he had invented yet, which was saying a good deal, as he had a magnificent talent in verbal fiction.

But all the time he was thinking of what he had found, and congratulating himself on the success of his plans. He had remembered the fox-terrier, and the innocent bliss of its cleverness in finding rabbit holes, told by the little girl during their first conversation together; and it was the recollection of that childish boasting which had given him the idea of lodging the thing into one of his coat pockets.

Known, as he already was in the neighborhood, a marked man since his evidence given at the inquest, he could not have wandered freely about the woods with a strange dog, had he continued to stop at the inn in his own character, as Gaylor, the man from Scotland Yard.

He would have been followed and watched by curious people, and any discovery he might have made would have been known to others almost as soon as to himself. Or, if he had adopted some disguise, his actions as a stranger would have been regarded with suspicion.

From the first, Gaylor had said to himself: "If I were the murderer, and had any fear that for some reason or other I might be eventually suspected, I wouldn't try to get rid of the revolver at home, or near home. I'd hide it in some place as close as I could to the scene of the murder, and come for away.

"And if I had my wits about me, I wouldn't just trust to the bracken to hide it. I'd think that it would be looked for there, and found when the bracken was cut down, as it would surely be. I'd fear bloodhounds, too, and try to put the thing in a place where my trail, if once they got on it, would be crossed by some other scent.

"What could be better for such a hide than a rabbit warren, if I could find one, or knew already where to find one? And if I were a person familiar with the woods, I might very likely know where to find one."

Gaylor had argued in this fashion, and he had begun with the opinion that a terrier would be a useful companion. To this theory and its later development, his Poppet Barnard owed a great many pleasant hours and delightful stories which she would never forget.

Looked Like Blood

On reaching home, after the adventure of the rabbit hole, the child told Rose all about the fairy chest stolen by the wicked gnome, and prattled on about something unearthed by Gaylor, which he had said was not at all interesting. But Poppet, eagerly awaiting the sketch promised at dinner time, made so little of the discovery that Rose attached no importance to it, not guessing that, locked in his bedroom upstairs, Gaylor was at that very moment engaged in examining the weapon which, in all probability, had put an end to Lady Hereward's life.

To Be Continued To-morrow

"The Vanity Box" is running serially in the daily and Sunday AMERICAN. A liberal instalment of this remarkable mystery novel will be printed in the Sunday AMERICAN

Day's Best Story

Elderly Gentleman—Now, then, you naughty boy, I'll have you locked up! You are not to be allowed to smoke. You'll never live to grow up to be a man like me if you do that!

Promising Youth—If I'm going ter 'ave whiskers and a face like yours, I don't want to grow up, guv'nor!

Got There First

MR. B—— drove up in a hansom and entered the jeweler's shop. Accompanied by his wife, he carried a chimpanzee box of steek. Mr. B—— asked for a private interview, and, on being shown into the office, he opened the box, exposing a splendid array of diamonds and pearl necklaces, earrings, tiaras and rings.

"Mrs. B——," he said, "is now abroad. Before she returns I want you to extract these stones and replace them with good imitations, selling the real jewels, and giving me the money. This, of course, is to be a confidential transaction. Mrs. B—— is to know nothing of it."

"My dear sir," said the jeweler, "it should be glad to do as you ask, but it is impossible. Two years ago Mrs. B—— called here on the same errand that you bring you, and this errand, in her case, was successful. The paste jewels that you offer us are worth little more than the hire of the hansom awaiting you outside."

With the berries tonight serve

DRAKE'S SPONGE CAKE

PURE FOOD

Your Grocer has it.

Woman In Her Hours of Ease

I WONDER IF THERE'LL BE ANYONE OUT TODAY TO SEE MY NEW BATHING SUIT!
BATH HOUSE
WELL—THERE'S ONE MAN— I HOPE HE'S NICE!
OH!
I THINK THIS IS A HORRID BEACH!
WOOPY SUSIE?
TRY THIS SUN BURN CURE!
CH.Gaskell

Freckles

"Once Freckled Always Freckled" No Longer True—How to Remove Quickly.

People used to take their freckles to the grave. That was before they knew about Kintho, the simple remedy that is sold, under a guarantee to remove freckles, or money back. Look in the glass, and at the first sign of a freckle get a two-ounce package of Kintho at Houghton & Dutton and Riker-Jaynes, or wherever toilet goods are sold, and see if it doesn't remove your freckles as if by magic.

"Use Kintho Soap too. It will not only help give the freckles a push, but it is delightful for toilet use."

Desperate Desmond

Copyright, 1911, by the National News Association.

A Continued Picture Drama of Love and Hate, with a Thrill in Its Every Picture

THE LOVELY ROSAMOND ARE ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THIS LONG FREIGHT TRAIN. IF I CAN RUN AROUND THE CARS I MUST HAVE HIS GAL
BOB
ROSAMOND. THIS ONLY WAY WE CAN CROSS THESE TRACKS IN A HURRY IS TO RIDE AROUND THESE FREIGHT CARS. I WONDER IF THE VILLAIN BE SMOAD IS.
BORNEO
ALONE HERO
BONNIE BELT LANE
DUCK WE MUST TAKE THE DARLINGS TO THE POUND DOGGONE TRAIL
THEN THE BOAT RUN BE HERO AND ROSAMOND
BORNEO PACKING
HAS TO LEAVE THE CARS ON!
CURSES, THEY HAVE ESCAPED! I CHILL FEEL ING THAT SOMETHING IS MOVING AGAINST ME
LOOK OUT! THERE'S A MAN ON THE ROOF!
WHERE CAN THAT PAIR HAVE GOT AT THIS HOUR?
HA! A CATTLE CAR, AND ONE OF THE STEERS HAS BROKEN LOOSE
PERSHFIELD

You must often have seen a long freight train. It seems to take hours to pass a given point. In the pictures above you get a glimpse of what is happening on both sides of such a train. On one side Desmond, villain with his friendly Wild Men, Borneo and Alone, are plotting to run around the cars and capture Cleonly, Rosamond, beautiful girl, on the other side Claude and Rosamond, ignorant of the Wild Men's presence, plan to go around and capture Desmond.

Through an open box car, Desmond catches sight of the lovers as they speed past on their bicycles. The poor rascal is in a predicament. The police are all right in tracking down Desmond's crafty, as if any ordinary detective could hope to cope with such a desperate and resourceful criminal as he. The police are all right in tracking down burglars and such small game, but when they are matched against a master mind like Desmond's they have to quit. So it is all through life—one man organizes the Steel Trust; another gets up the average rainfall.

Ha! a cattle car, and one of the steers has hooked a handle off his bicycle. Chuckling Rosamond in his arms, our hero is borne rapidly down the tracks, and as they pass Desmond the latter sees that the lovers are about to escape. It is the work of a moment for him and his black allies to jump aboard a handcar and start in pursuit. "Run the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, as he begins the chase. "Go for everlake the trails! He runs to-morrow." In the meantime observe brown

Little Philip, Rosamond's Schoolboy Brother, Is Foiled by the Crafty Wild Man, Gomgotz, Who Rushes to the Aid of His Master

UNLESS YOU TELL ME WHERE ROSAMOND HAS GONE I SHALL DELAY STRIKE ROSAMOND, PHILIP LESTLE BOY TOUGH
THESE BIG ROAD TOOKS TIRE CAPTURE
WE ARE MARCHING TO TOWN
THE POLICE WILL SOON BE ON OUR TRACKS
LESTLE BOY NOT AFRAID
OUGHMAN NOR WEEP
MY SPEAR WILL MAKE THEM HATE THIS DAY
PUT YOUR BEATEN
LESTLE BOY

The Education Problem

By DOROTHY DIX

THIS is the time of the year when I always feel like going apart into some convenient Wailing Place and uttering loud and heartfelt lamentations, for it is the season when thousands of poor, misguided parents are preparing to make their annual sacrifice upon the altars of their children's alleged education.

In countless homes all over the land mother is turning off the hired girl, and cutting down the grocery bill, and putting the potatoes a little thinner, and making the coffee a little weaker, and planning how she can do without a new dress and wear her last Winter's flannels, and cut out every possible comfort and luxury in order that Maud may be sent off to Miss Soakem's fashionable finishing school for young ladies.

And father is girding his hunger belt a little tighter about him, and working a little harder, and looking a little bit more weary and careworn and lump absent-mind every day, and he is wearing his last Summer's suit and smoking stogies instead of cigars, and cutting a sandwich instead of a good lunch in order that he may send John off to college.

A Problem

When I contemplate these sublime and idiotic sacrifices, I never know which I want to do most, to kneel down and kiss the feet of these misguided parents or to rise up and bat them over the heads for not having more practical sense, for nine-ty-nine times out of a hundred all of the suffering and toil and deprivation that fathers and mothers undergo for the sake of their children's education is absolutely wasted.

All that the finishing school does for Maud is to fill her foolish head with an exaggerated idea of the importance of dress and society, and to make her mad for pleasures that she can never have, and to generally unfit her for the life she is destined to lead. And John brings back from college is a college yell and purple sox and a hullpup, and a settled conviction that he knows more than the "old man."

If every girl and boy were certified geniuses if there was ever a certainty that not being geniuses they were mad for knowledge and were heeding every nerve and energy to make the most of the opportunities given them, there would be some justification in parents' half-starving themselves and working themselves to death in order to send their children to expensive schools.

As a plain matter of fact, however, the great majority of boys and girls are not top heavy with brains. They are only capable of taking a very moderate amount of culture. They have small interest in education, for education's sake, and the great majority of them when sent off to college spend their time in amusing themselves instead of improving their minds.

This being the case, it seems to me that it is time for parents to use a little sense on the subject, and quit sacrificing themselves to the fetish of their children's educations. The juggernaut car of the college has rolled over enough prostrate forms of poor fathers and mothers and crushed them into the grave.

The present admirable public school system of the city of our cities furnishes just as much education as the average boy and girl have the mind to take. After that the parents should bell from Missouri, and before they deprive themselves and their other children of the comforts of life to give further educational advantages to a boy or girl, he or she should be required to give unmistakable proof of unusual fitness for some particular calling that would require special training.

What Education Is

There are two things upon which parents stand in pitcous need of enlightment. One is that all education is not one from put up in school packages and branded with the name of a famous university on it. The most important part of an education is what we get from books, but what life and work and our fellow-men teach us.

The successful business men of this age have not been trained in colleges, but have got their education in store and shop and counting room. Nor need poor parents feel sorry because they cannot send their children off to colleges they are depriving them of the opportunity of developing their minds. In this day of cheap books and free libraries anybody can get all the culture they can assimilate, and some of the most thorough men in the world are self educated.

The second point that parents should bear in mind is the necessity of really trying to find out whether their offspring are geese or swans before they offer themselves up as sacrifices before the altar of learning. If you are utterly sure that your Maud or John has every one of the earmarks of genius there is some excuse for going largo to send her or him to Paris to study music or art, but if Maud's voice is only fitted for the church choir and John's art only rises as high as sign painting, doesn't the pathos of all your sacrifices and all the deprivations you have endured to give them advantages become bathos, and instead of being a hero don't you feel that you have been a shouting idiot?

It's time for parents to look at this matter sensibly and to realize that if a boy or girl wants the higher education he or she will get it, and anyway that the college course that is bought at the price of father's and mother's additional toil and lack of pleasure and comfort costs too much.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE MAY FORGIVE YOU

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am deply in love with a young girl about my own age. Some time ago I had reason to believe she did not reciprocate my affection, and, not caring to wait to be told, I informed her that I did not care for her and injured her feelings.

But lately, seeing the futility of living without her, I apologized most sincerely and showed myself deeply repentant in more than one way.

Do you think she could be friendly with me again if she knew how sorry I was?

J. M.

IT is difficult to imagine you hurting the feelings of the woman you love. She might forgive you if you can make her understand that you were worried and unhappy.

I advise you in the future not to take such hasty action.

Always be straightforward; and remember that such an action often causes a wound which can never entirely be healed.

MONEY IS NOT ALL

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-two years old and have strong will power and well developed ideas. Have decided not to marry until I get $25,000. Have very good prospects and am confident I can acquire this sum in about seven years.

There is a girl three years my junior whom I have known for over three years, and of late I've taken a strong fancy to her.

I see her very often, but have no intention of marrying her until I've carried out my idea as to fortune.

I do not think it proper to ask her to wait for me so long a time.

Do you think if we go out as friends once a week I would become interfairly? Would I be keeping some other young girl in the dark?

C. E. N.

YOU must change your plans for by waiting seven years you may lose the girl entirely.

If you do not love her well enough to sacrifice your wishes to her happiness you do not deserve to win her.

Money is not the sole reason for existence, and it would be much better to marry her because it would be a greater incentive to work for some one else's happiness than for yourself.

CURED BABY BOY OF ECZEMA

An Illinois Mother's Case

No one can tell the torture of soul Mrs. E. Cox, of Chicago, went through when her little boy was suffering from Eczema. She tried everything without success until she finally learned of Resinol.

The following is what she says: "I cannot speak too highly of Resinol Ointment and Soap. They cured my baby boy of Eczema. He had a very severe case. Numerous other remedies had been tried and failed to do any good. I would not be without them in the house."

The first application will relieve the itching and irritation in skin diseases, and stop the pain in burns or scalds. Chafing, Sunburn, Poison Ivy eruptions are often cured by an overnight application.

Resinol preparations are sold at all drug stores.

Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

The Gun Runner

A Thrilling Story of Wireless and War

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT

By ARTHUR STRINGER

Copyright, 1909, by B. W. Dodge & Company. Entered at Stationers' Hall, London. All rights reserved.

PART ONE—(Continued)

"WHERE?" asked the other, casually enough.

"It was twenty miles south-west of Puerta Escondido; Dr. Brigard was conveying eight mountain guns up to Morelos Guerrajuto."

McKinnon stopped and waited. The other man slowly took his cigar from his lips and looked at the tattered end. Any current of emotion that may have been awakened in him remained shrouded and subterranean. Whatever he exhibit he-corridod McKinnon, he was at least a consummate actor.

"Well?" the stolid and gounded figure demanded, at last, and that was his only comment. McKinnon beat once as though to consult the message-sheet.

"They report that De Brigard has pounded his way through the Locombian lines and occupied Itzula."

The other men sat down, with a scarcely audible sigh, in the broken desk-chair beside him. There was an appreciable space of silence, unbroken except for the breathing of the two motionless figures.

"Itzula?" at last purred the black-coated man, as though memorizing of the name. Then he peered down at his slippered toes for several meditative seconds, slowly stroking the great legs clad in Chinese silk.

McKinnon knew he was digesting his victory, but only to the faintest could the movement have been interpreted as the very core and essence of any such luxurious mental assessment. Then he looked up and repeated the word "Itzula?"

Intercepted Enemy

Before McKinnon could realize it he was on his feet.

"Some message?" he called back as he crossed the room.

McKinnon caught up a message-sheet and intercepted his enemy at the door.

"I want you to see this dispatch," he said, catching at the other's arm and talking against time. "I want you to understand what this 'Three-four-five six Refnufmo' means. You'll see it here in the A. B. C. Telegraph Code. It means 'Revolution broken out here.' I want you to see it for yourself. Then you'll know"——

"I'm taking your word for it, young man," retorted the other as he shook his arm free and started through the door. McKinnon knew it would be madness to try to hold him by force.

"What's up, anyway?" he asked instead, following the other out on the deck.

"I've got a map of that country down in my cabin," answered the huge figure in the darkness.

"But we don't need your map!" persisted McKinnon.

"I guess we may as well find out where they're having all that fun we've had to miss," called back the other from the stair-head. And he was gone before McKinnon could get to his side.

The operator knew only too well what the man's return to his cabin meant at such a moment. He did not take time to deliberate in his own mind the cause of that return, whether his enemy had suddenly remembered his unlocked door and his unguarded papers, or whether some thing had cropped up to arouse his suspicions.

The Warning

But McKinnon, without a moment's loss, sprang back into his wireless room and faced his switch-lever. He threw the ebony handle of his starting box down across the contacts with a force that seemed almost to explode the dynamo into a roar of deoning protest. It was like the burst and sound-rush of an ascending rocket.

Then his hand darted out to his key and he broke and closed the great current, quick and strong, sending the long blue spark exploding from the coils until it cannonaded through the closed cabin with a crash and threw the quivering into discordance of a tropical storm.

Madly he repeated the call, again and again, wondering as he feverishly pounded the key if that one brief word of warning, if he had been too late; praying, as the moments dragged by and nothing broke the midnight quietness about him, that the girl in the cabin below had heard and understood his warning.

His activity began to repress himself as he stood there counting off the seconds, and listening to the interminable muffled throb of the for-far engines, for the thousand in time, for not holding Gauley back, even though it had to be by force.

To be sure he might have done it, for all, by the mere pretense of some fresh message coming in. He might have kept him there for another precious five minutes if he had only acted as a man in his place ought to have acted. But he had missed his chance.

He crossed to his open door and paused there to listen. He knew that by this time Gauley was in his cabin, and that, unless Alicia Boynton had caught the warning signal, she had already been trapped.

This gross, malevolent, red-handed enemy of whom she stood in such fear had already have confronted and caught her. The mere thought of it was too much for him.

McKinnon started back to his cabin, remembering he was unarmed, thinking of the revolver that still lay in his trunk.

But something in the quietness of the midnight ship filled him with some sudden keener sense of impending disaster. With out the loss of another second's time he turned and darted below decks.

The Girl's Cabin

It took McKinnon but half a minute to reach the passageway that led to Gauley's cabin. He felt as he paused for an instant before his enemy's closed door, that he stretched his full seven before him to unravel a fluid and magnificent betrayal of his own position.

His first relief from that time forward could no longer be the circuitous and subterranean one he had hoped to make it. The contest between him and Gauley there after would have to be open and above board.

Then, preparing himself for the scene he was to have, he turned the knob and swung open the door.

The room was empty. The electric lights were turned on, the disordered berth stood before him and Gauley's suit also waited him on the floor. But the room was without an occupant.

To Be Continued To-morrow

Shut Your Mouth

By KENNETT HARRIS

IF you make an awkward slip—
Get the worst of any deal,
Know a stiffened upper lip,
Don't express the things you feel.
Wait the working of the wheel
Working from the sorry out.
Even when the loss is real,
Shut your mouth and keep it shut.

When old Trouble swings the slide
Stand and take it, never knock.
Never groan on your gifts.
Lighten load by laughing off grief.
Pretty soon the stars will heal.
You can let the jealous jar
Don't complain and don't appeal.
Shut your mouth and keep it shut.

Here's a mighty useful tip!
Don't rely on friendly zeal.
Let the old contraption rip.
Sympathy would soon congeal.
Nobody else what you should endure.
But they're nobs so deeply cut,
Heres are what the fools reveal,
Shut your mouth and keep it shut.

ENVOI

Be your portion sole or small,
Be your portion great or great,
Take what comes and never squall.
Shut your mouth and keep it shut.

The Manicure Lady

She Tells the Head Barber About Being an Heiress

"YOU'LL have to show up around here more frequently," said the Head Barber slightly put out, "if you want to keep your position in this shop."

"Huh!" exclaimed the Manicure Lady, with a world of contempt in her voice. "I don't have to work any more if I don't want to. My rich uncle died and left me the bank roll he made up in Nova Scotia selling goods to them blue-blooded blue-noses. It wasn't the kind of a roll that John Rockefeller can afford to leave to his niece, but it was $10,000 and when I seen you last, George, I have been over to Europe.

"Brother Wilfred was heart-broken when he heard about my uncle's death and the sad way in which he came out the money, so I staked the poor boy to 1,000 beans so he can get out two of his sets of poems. He says that the publishers will be glad he could make a lot of money if he got his poems out in book form, but it must be one of them cheap publishers, because he wanted brother to kick in with $500 before the book came out. There's some chance for me, then, does that kind of business, because a young poet that used to think the world needed more blank verse went to the sun and got the same kind of a deal Wilfred is going to get. The publisher took the kid's money, got out the books, and forgot to sell any of them. This is a fierce world, George. If they hand it to poets that way, what chance has us girls got?

He Was Tired

"What's all that got to do with the trip to Europe?" asked the Head Barber, who had long ago become tired of hearing about Wilfred.

"Nothing much," said the Manicure Lady. "If you ain't interested in my brother's poetry you ain't got anything on me and the old goat. Father was saying the other day that he could have found two better ways to use a thousand dollars than the way I used it on Wilfred, but that didn't appeal to me none, George, as I imagine the two better ways the old goat had reference to was rye and bourbon. I slipped mother a good bunch of yellow boids and if the old goat can't do any one or two of them out of her with a jimmy he is welcome to them. But not from daughter. I'll never forget the time I loaned him ten dollars and he came home with a couple of Eagles or Elks or something, and offered to sleep in the barn so they could have his room. Goodness knows, George, he might go to awful lengths on a roll like that if he did a thing like that on a ten dollar loan.

A Wonderful Place

"Well, getting back to Europe, it is sure a wonderful country and a historical one, George. I seen some things over there that I will remember to my dying day. I was to Paris, and I seen the smudge they used to cut off the head of Mary Queen of Antoinette, and the prison where Jim Barry was locked up while she was getting her head cut off. The guide told us all about it. He said the reason the queen was sent to the mandolin was because she replied to the peasants that had come to ask for bread: 'If you can't get bread, why don't you eat pretzels?' 'I'd like to see some of them pieces myself,' said the envious Head Barber. "The most of my traveling was done around here, like on the New York, New Haven & Hartford. I was on the Boston & Albany once."

"There ain't much traveling about that," said the Manicure Lady, dusting off her work table and getting ready for a visit. "That kind of travel don't broaden you out none. You got to go to other countries, George, to get educated. I just wish you could see what I have seen."

Clever

A GERMAN gentleman wanted to take a day's drive through the country. He applied to the owner of the horse and carriage. The owner, not knowing the German, was slow to give him the team. Finally the German put the turn on play notes and said: "I will buy your horse and rig provoking yet will buy them back at the same price when I return this year." The dealer, not wishing to offend a possible future customer, consented. When the time came the German presented himself and expressed his pleasure at the ride, the dealer, according to agreement, paid him back the money, and the customer started to take his leave.

"I beg your pardon sir," exclaimed the dealer, "but you have forgotten to pay for the hire, you know."

"Pay for the hire? Why, my dear sir," replied the German, "I fail to see that. If you will exercise your memory a trifle you will agree that I have been driving my own horse and carriage all day, and now you have bought them back they are yours. Good day, sir!"

And he left the astonished dealer to reflect.

PROBABLY

"What were postal cards invented for?"

"For the benefit of the sort of people that write for free samples of things."

When the House Falls

By ADA PATTERSON

EVERYONE stands at sometime in his life of a world because one man or woman has proven vacillating. We must never judge the world by one poor individual who happens to walk it.

The man whose house fell the house he built has crumbled, must not think that is the end of all things. It may to the world be the end of the middle. It may even be the beginning. But it is not the end. There is no end until we cease breathing.

What shall he do? Grope the way to the next and right path. Lift his feet from among the crumbling debris and find firm ground. It is there, some ground or a pinnacle on which to build anew. He must be silent amidst the cataclysm that has overwhelmed him and think only of the future, the most precious contingence put forward.

He knows a man who had been surely ruined, who even thought he had been for all time broken, on the wheel of a monstrous and often mistaken life. The first decide what not to do. To sit down was befallen him he is likely to remain as someone put himself. And perhaps the person he blames deserves his contempt. He must not paint the world with the color of that man. He must not judge all the people of earth by one. He must not look at a dwarf and fancy all the world is of men and women understand. We must men grow smaller from the finished casting there is a new building ground further on.

Mrs. Jenkins suffered no laughter. "A mere thief, eh——"

"Yes. I'm afraid that he carried off two or three eggs from this district." And then Perkins made a bee-line for the door.

"Doctors now say that boiled cow's milk is not good for babies. It is rather rash."

"The doctors are right. A raw cow gives better milk than a boiled one."

Churchwarden Brown: Excuse me, Mr. Smith, but are you aware that you put a bad half-dollar in the contribution plate this morning?

Mr. Smith: Yes. I was the heathen's grudge for setting a missionary uncle of mine!

Up Against It

THE dinner was over, and the last man to leave the dining room saw Pat, the custodian of the suits, looking very glum.

"Well, Pat, he said, "what's the matter? Haven't they paid you very well for looking after the suits?"

"Sure, no," replied the dejected one, "it isn't that they haven't paid me, but, sorr, they've taken the bob I put in the plate as a decoy!

Protect Yourself!

Against

Substitutes and Imitations of "Mushroom Growth." Ask for

HORLICK'S

It means the Original and Genuine

MALTED MILK

"Others are Imitations"

The Food-Drink for all Ages.

Rich milk, malted grain, in powdered form. For infants, invalids and growing children. Pure nutrition, upbuilding the whole body. Invigorates nursing mothers and the aged.

More healthful than tea or coffee. Agrees with the weakest digestion. Keep it on your sideboard at home. A quick lunch prepared in a minute.

Get the best. All druggists.

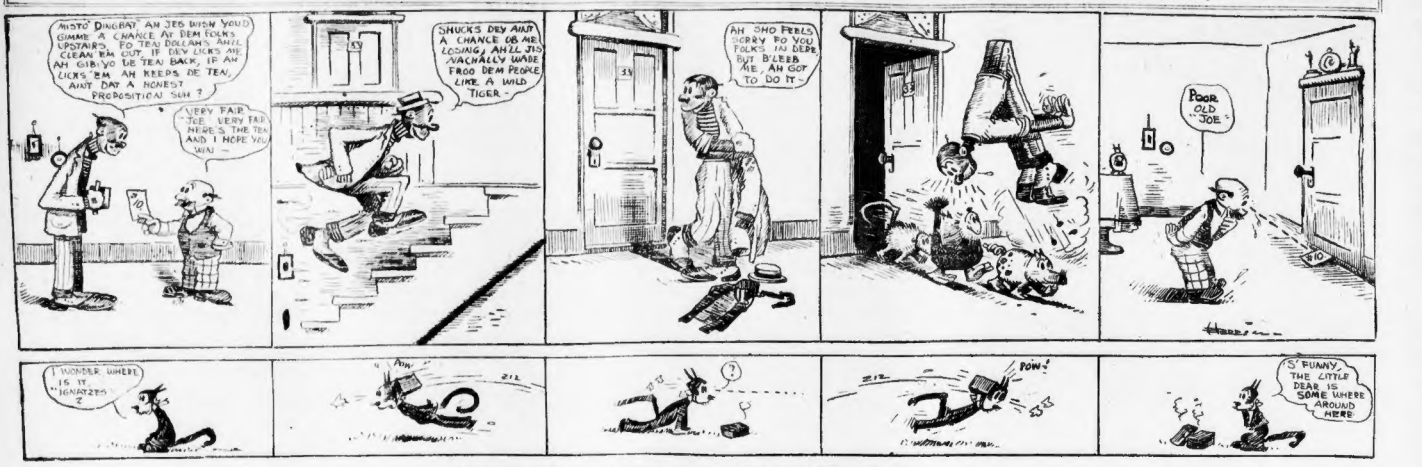
Take no substitute. Ask for HORLICK'S.

In no Combine or Trust

The Family Upstairs---Dingbat Foiled Again

Copyright, 1911, by the National News Association

By Herriman



MISTO DINGBAT, AH JES WISH YOU'D GIMME A CHANCE AN DEM FOLKS UPSTAIRS, FO TEN DOLLAHS, AH'LL CLEAN 'EM OUT. IF DEY LICKS ME AH GIB YO DE TEN BACK, IF AH LICKS 'EM AH KEEPS DE TEN, AIN'T DAT A HONEST PROPOSITICAL SUH ?
VERY FAIR ... VERY FAIR INDEED, MR. DINGBAT. THE TEN DOLLARS AND I HOPE YOU WIN!
SHUCKS DEY AIN'T A CHANCE OB ME LOSING, AH'S PHYSICALLY UNABLE TO BE LICKED FROO DEM PEOPLE LIKE A WILD TIGER
AH SHO FEELS SORRY FO YOU FOLKS WHEN AH GITS BUT B'LEEB ME, AH GOT TO DO IT
POOR OLD "JOE"
I WONDER WHERE IS IT "HIBERTATED" ?
POW!
POW!
S'FUNNY, THE LITTLE DEAR IS SOME WHERE AROUND HERE

"THE FAMILY UP STAIRS" IS A REGULAR FEATURE OF THE SUNDAY AMERICAN.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

STOCK MARKET OPENS STRONG

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Brisk demand for stocks characterized the opening of the stock market today with the railroad group leading the upturn. Strength was also a dominant feature of industrials and copper shares in the initial sales.

Union Pacific, after opening 1¼ higher, met with an unexpected batch of selling orders, in which practically all the gain was lost.

Canadian Pacific was buoyant in the London market, its strength being reflected here in an advance of 1¾ in the first few transactions.

Other advances scored in the opening prices were Missouri Pac. 1, Erie 1st pf. 1¾, American Smelting ¾, Amal. Copper ½, United States Steel ⅝, Anaconda ½, Southern Pac. ⅜, Southern Railway ⅜, Reading ⅜.

Following the upturn profit-taking developed and a great deal of the early advance was lost. The curb opened dull and weak.

Closing of short accounts in London caused a rebound in American there. In general tone of the London market was irregular on account of the strike, though Canadian Pacific was a strong feature. The fact that the Paris Bourse was closed to-day contributed to slackness.

Private reports today helped the stock markets, which opened from ⅛ to 1¼ points higher. Prices from Texas told that the ruined dry hot weather policy holders, from Liverpool reported a possible early settlement of the dock strike, and from Chicago told of freight handling coming on. Commission houses were all buyers. Futures and spot were dull in Liverpool.

BOSTON STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices to noon for the leading Boston stocks:

RAILROADS.

	High	Low	Noon
Boston Elevated	127	127	127
Bos. Suburban El.	165	165	165
Bos. & Lowell	135¼	135¼	135
LAND COMPANIES.
East Boston	10¾	10	10¼
TELEPHONES.
American	134½	134	134½
American pf.	5 15-16	5¾	5¾
MINING STOCKS.
Arcadian	2¾	2¾	2¾
Arizona Commercial	12	12	12
Calumet & Arizona	56	49¾	49¾
Calumet & Hecla	725	725	725
Greene-Can.	11⅜	11¼	11⅜
North Butte	27¾	27¼	27¼
Old Dominion	40¾	40	40
Superior	34¾	34¼	34¼
Utah Con.	14¾	14¾	14¾
MISCELLANEOUS
American Zinc, Lead & Smelting	4	4	4
Mass. Gas	55¾	55¾	55¾
Mexican Light & Power	82¾	82¾	82¾
Nipissing Mines	7	7	7
Reece Button Hole	1¾	1¾	1¾
Tri-Bullion Smelting	1¾	1¾	1¾
United Fruit	134½	134	134½
United Shoe Mach.	49¾	49¾	49¾
U. S. Smelting, Ref. & Mining	54¾	54¼	54¾
U. S. Smelting, Ref. & Mining pf.	84¾	84¼	84¾
Utah Apex	2¼	2¼	2¼

UNLISTED STOCKS.

	High	Low	Noon
Amalgamated	62¾	62¼	62¾
Am. Agric. Chem.	55¾	55¾	55¾
Algomah	7	7	7
East Butte	11¾	11¼	11¾
Giroux	2 1-16	2 1-16	2 1-16
Hancock	20¾	20¼	20¾
Helvetia	1	1	1
Inspiration	25¼	25	25¼
Island Creek	36¾	36¼	36¾
Isle Royale	27¾	27¼	27¾
Lake Copper	29¾	29½	29¾
North Lake	10¼	10¼	10¼
U. S. Smelting	34¾	34¼	34¾
Utah-Apex	2¼	2¼	2¼

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices to noon for leading New York stocks:

RAILROADS.

	High	Low	Noon
Atch., T. & S. F.	103¾	103¼	103¾
Balt. & Ohio	102¾	101¾	101¾
Brooklyn Rap. Tr.	77¾	77¼	77¾
Canadian Pac.	236½	237¾	237¾
Ches. & Ohio	74¾	74¼	74¾
Chic. Gt. West.	21	21	21
Chic., M. & St. P.	119¾	119¼	119¾
Chic. & N. W.	140¾	140¼	140¾
Denver & Rio G.	25¾	25¼	25¾
Erie	30¾	29¾	29¾
Erie 1st pf.	50	48¾	49¾
Gt. Northern pf.	126	125	125
Illinois Central	158	158	158
Int.-Met.	16	15¾	15¾
Int.-Met. pf.	42¾	42¼	42¾
Iowa & Nash.	144¾	143¾	143¾
Lehigh Valley	166	165¾	165¾
Mo. Kan. & Tex.	32¾	32¼	32¾
Missouri Pac.	43	41¾	41¾
Northern Pac.	119¾	119¼	119¾
Pennsylvania	121	120¾	120¾
Reading	153¾	152¾	153¾
Rock Island	26	25¾	25¾
Rock Island pf.	52¾	52¼	52¾
Southern Pac.	114¾	113¾	114
Southern Ry.	28¾	27¾	27¾
Texas & Pacific	28	27¾	27¾
Union Pacific	174¾	172¾	172¾
Union Pacific pf.	92¾	92	92
Wabash pf.	30	29¾	29¾
Western Union	70¾	70¼	70¾

INDUSTRIALS AND MISCELLANEOUS

Amal. Copper	63	62¾	62¾
Am. Car & Fdy.	51	50¾	50¾
Am. Cotton Oil	53½	53¼	53¾
Am. Ice Secur.	19¾	19¼	19¼
Amer. Sm. & R.	71¾	70¾	70¾
Am. Beet Sugar	31	30¾	31
Am. Can pf.	87¾	87¼	87¾
Anaconda Cop.	41¾	41¼	41¾
Con. Gas (N. Y.)	136¾	135¾	136
Distill. Secur.	20¾	20¼	20¼
Cent. Leather	24¾	24¾	24¾
Gen. Electric	152
National Lead	50¾	50	50¼
Northern Ore	29¾	29¼	29¾
Pacific Mail	43¾	42¾	43¾
Pressed Steel Car	32	32	32
Pullman Pal. & Steel Car	52¾	52¼	52¾
Tenn. Copper	33	32¾	32¾
U. S. Rubber	30¾	30¼	30¾
U. S. Steel	73¾	71¾	72
U. S. Steel pf.	124¾	124¼	124¾
Utah Copper	45¾	45¼	45¾
Va.-Car. Chem.	50¾	50¼	50¾
West. Un. Tel.	71¾	71¼	71¾
Wes. El. & Mfg.	66	65¾	66

BOSTON CURB.

Following is the range of prices to noon for leading Curb stocks:

QUALIFIED LIST.

Stocks	High	Low	Noon
Bo. State Gas	26¾	26¼	26¾
Bonanza	3¾	3¾	3¾
Boston Ely	1¾	1¾	1¾
Boston & Montana	1¾	1¾	1¾
Crown Reserve	13 16	13 16	13 16
Davis Daly	84¾	84¼	84¾
Dist. National	1 1-16	1	1
Houghton	8¾	8¾	8¾
Mohawk Con.	61¾	61¼	61¾
Ne Rose	5 15-16	5¾	5¾
N. E. Coal	1 1-16	1 1-16	1 1-16
Raven	30¾	30¼	30¾
South Lake	40¾	40¼	40¾

UNQUALIFIED LIST.

Alaska	3¾	3¾	3¾
Bonanza	1¾	1¾	1¾
East Dome	2¾	2¾	2¾
Elk Consolidated	42¾	42¼	42¾
Hollinger	10¾	10¼	10¾
Homestake	97¾	97¼	97¾
Jack Pot	3¾	3¾	3¾
Jumbo Extension	3¾	3¾	3¾
Old Hundred	1 9-16	1 9-16	1 9-16
Omega	1¾	1¾	1¾
Pearl Mot	57¾	57¼	57¾
Porcupine Vk.	55¾	55¼	55¾

SALT LAKE QUOTATIONS.

Furnished by Charles A. Stoneham & Co., 53 State st.

	Bid	Asked
Bell Tunnel	6¾	6¾
Black Jack	11	12
Bonne
Cedar Talisman	62¾	64
Colorado	2¾	2¾
Columbus Consolidated	3¾	3¾
Dalton Con.	3¾	3¾
Grand Central	10¾	10¾
Iron Blossom	1.00	1.01
Iron King	65	66¾
Lion Hill	3¾	3¾
Lucky Mammoth	62¾	63¾
Mason Valley	6¾	6¾
Mountain Lake	62¾	63¾
Nevada Hills	3¾	3¾
Nevada Wonder	3¾	3¾
Prince Consolidated	50	52
Rescue Eula Consolidated	3¾	3¾
Silver King Coalition	3.40	3.45
Silver King Consolidated	3¾	3¾
Uncle Sam	18	19
Uncle Sam Con.	3¾	3¾
United Todie	64¾	65¾

PORCUPINE STOCKS.

Furnished by F. Peirce, Lovejoy, Nov. 28 Broad street, New York, 16-20 King Edward Building, 24 Jermyn street, London.

	Bid	Asked
Apex	1¾	2
Dome	65	66
Dome Extension	16¾	17
Foley O'Brien	10	10¼
Hollinger	10¾	10¾
Homestake	97¾	98
Northern Ontario	4¾	5
Pearl Lake	57¾	58
Porcupine Central	15	15¾
Porcupine Crown	1.17	1.20
Porcupine Gold	3¾	3¾
Porcupine Imperial	2¾	2¾
Porcupine Northern	50	51
Porcupine Northern	3¾	3¾
Porcupine Tisdale	3¾	3¾
Preston East Dome	28¾	29
Rea Gold	2¾	2¾
Royal Porcupine	3¾	3¾
Swastika	48¾	49
West Dome	21 16	21 16

TORONTO STOCKS.

	Bid	Asked
Brazil Cons.	41	41¾
Buffalo Lake	1.90	1.95
Buffalo Lake	1.90	1.95
Chimaco	8.15	8.25
Crown Reserve	13.17	13.20
Great Northern	10¾	11¼
Green Meehan	61¾	62¾
Little Nipissing	65¾	66¾
Nipissing Cobalt	8.50	8.55
Nipissing Mines	7.00	7.05
Right Hand	06	08
Rochester	05¾	06¾
Temiskaming	41¾	42
Tretheway	42¾	43
Wettlaufer	88	90

30 MISSING FROM WRECKED STEAMER

ADEN, Arabia, Aug. 14.—The British steamer Fifeshire is ashore twenty miles south of Guardafui and leaking badly. Seventy-five passengers and crew were landed at Aden. Two of the Fifeshire's boats, with thirty persons, are missing.

When you leave your office a Clysmic highball will drive away the tired feeling. Cold, sparkling Clysmic water and selected whiskey in palatable proportions. This mixture is a wonder drink. It banishes weariness.

PRESIDENT TAFT TO SEE REAL COAL MINE EXPLOSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—President Taft and 30,000 miners will watch an actual mine explosion at Pittsburg on October 28. They will be told the causes of explosions, will be shown the most scientific manner of avoiding them, and will see demonstrations in mine rescue work.

The demonstrations will be given by the Bureau of Mines to enable miners in the prevention of accidents and caring for entombed men.

PRAISES BOSTON CHOLERA WORK

Boston health officials have the matter of enforcing and carrying out the precautions against cholera in hand and are doing the work in a much more experienced manner than was done during the loss of time and money to the immigrant and the steamship companies and all concerned when the New York officials

This is the opinion of Dr Meriggio Serrati representative of the Italian government to America in matters pertaining to Italian immigration.

Dr Serrati was in Boston for several days while the Italians in the second cabin and steerage of the White Star liner Canopic were being held and examined by the health officers and immigration officials of both port. He was astonished and freely expressed his admiration at the rapid yet thorough manner in which the quarantine regulations were carried out and compared it with the conditions in New York, much to the disadvantage of the latter port.

How Boston Did Work.

"There are 9,000 Italian immigrants on shipboard in New York Harbor," said he, "many of whom will have to remain there several days more. The conditions under which these bacteriological examinations are made are conducive to fits and sits, several hundred people confined to the barge steerage of a ship on which there have already made the long passage from the Mediterranean, much suffering ensues.

"In Boston the conditions are much better. More than a thousand persons were comfortably quartered on land, while the examinations for cholera bacteria were being made on the Canopic's passengers, and the whole party released from quarantine within forty-eight hours after landing on the island where the quarantine station is located.

"In thus facilitating the celerity of the work in Boston, it was done as thoroughly and completely as if it be done anywhere. The public was protected with the best possible precautions, the loss of time to the immigrant and at the lowest possible cost to the steamship company."

Will Recommend Boston.

"I shall advise the Italian government of the conditions existing at the ports of Boston and New York and recommend that the tide of Italian immigration shall be directed toward Boston."

Dr Serrati has left Boston for New York and will appeal to the health authorities of that city for an amelioration of the hard conditions there.

The Fabre liner Germania is due in Providence to-day. She has Italian immigrants on board, and the United States public health surgeons who have been assisting the Boston health officers will go to Providence to assist in the work there.

CREATORE AND BAND ATTRACT BIG THRONG

Creatore and his band, who have been drawing big crowds to the American League baseball grounds on Huntington avenue every afternoon for a week, are giving a program this week which will appeal to every music lover. The present week is the last of the engagement which has been a great, popular and artistic success. Creatore's fame as a conductor is world-wide. Among the soloists are such eminent artists as Signori Caruso, Rosati, De Luca. The feature of to-night's program is selections from Peter Ibbetson. The Irish reprise to be rendered to-morrow is also attractive. Wednesday evening's bill is "Aida" and Thursday evening is the "Damnation of Faust." It is one of the triumphs of Creatore and his band. Friday is "Italian Night," and the engagement will close on Saturday evening with a concert.

OFFICERS PRAISE CREW OF LAUNCH

Men and officers of the North Atlantic squadron are praising the promptness and seamanship shown in an emergency by the crew of the Delaware's steam launch when the launch of the battleship Nebraska was sunk in a collision between the boats on Saturday. Within three minutes after the crash the Delaware's launch was alongside the disabled craft and made fast, and the lifeboat crew of the latter who equally quick in getting away to pick up the crew of the sinking craft.

SAD-FACED JOKE MEN ARE HERE

It's a sad story.

It's about a party of professional humorists who are trying to enjoy themselves, of course everyone knows that the funny man who renovates, revamps, adapts and gives first aid to the dead joke, is happy only when he is working. He has to be idle. He likes to make others happy by his wit and humor, but when you compel him to lay off at his leasee' expense, as some of the best known humorists of the country are doing this week to attend the American Press Humorists' Association convention in this city, you can well imagine what a funeral affair it really is.

But the jokesters added one happily redeeming feature to this resurrection of fate. They brought along their pretty, vivacious wives, daughters and sweethearts, so for a whole week have not got to listen to the try-out of "jokes" before the humorists threw them upon the public and they are about the happiest party of women in America.

To-day the humorists are at Norumbega Park. They took special cars from the Hotel Brunswick, which is their head quarters, and went directly to the park. Here they attend the theatre, view the ball game and dance, and had lun on the North Shore last Sunday, stayed in this harbor.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop will go over to Cape Ann next Tuesday and will represent Secretary George Von L. Meyer in presenting the battleship Michigan with a trophy for general efficiency in the battleship class.

GIRL IS DYING OF AUTO INJURIES

Dead Man's Curve in Wayland, a terror alike to autoists and pedestrians, was the scene of its second serious accident within a year, when Charlotte Immick, twenty years old, was probably fatally injured and her sister, Alvina, badly bruised by being struck by a speeding machine. The girls had just been to mass at St. Anne's Church. Father Le Croix, pastor of the church, has always had a fear of Dead Man's Curve, and at the end of every sermon would warn his parishioners to be aware of it on the way home from church. He gave this warning after the mass, and it was less than five minutes after that the girls were struck down.

SOCIETY MATRONS IN CHARITY FUNCTION

Elaborate preparations are being made by the North Shore society folk for the "Evening of Venetian Splendor and Venetian Market," which is to be held September 1 on the magnificent estate of S. V. R. Crosby at Manchester-by-the-Sea. The fair will be held for the benefit of the Sunnyside Day Nursery in Hyde Park, Boston. Handkerchief decorated stalls covered with huge and gaudy sun umbrellas will be presided over by the popular matrons and debutantes of the Summer colony who have clubbed together to make the fair one of the most successful ever held on the North Shore.

STILLMAN TURTLE BACK FOR PEDIGREE

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 14.—The family tree of the Stillman family of Providence has been carved on the back of a turtle, which returns to the Stillman farm each generation to be married. George L. Stillman, while strolling about his farm came across a huge turtle. On the turtle's back was marked "Capt. Micajah Mason, 1776." Next was the name of Adam Stillman, grandfather of Roger Stillman in that inscription the date 1808, and then came Stillman's family name, Joseph Stillman, dated 1851. The turtle was exhibited to friends and after George L. Stillman, 1911," was carved on the shell, it was turned loose.

SHIPS BATTLE PLANES TO-DAY

PROVINCETOWN, Aug. 14.—This is the day of the real big important "battle" in the manoeuvres of the North Atlantic squadron, for of the plans of Rear Admiral Osterhaus and his ship commanders work out as arranged real aeroplanes will attempt to drop "bombs" on the big battleships and the crews of the latter will do their level best to "repel" them.

Aeroplane practice has reached such an important stage in the United States navy that Admiral Osterhaus isn't going to give observers for foreign nations say opportunity of seeing just how well the plans succeed in attack on the ships in defence. That's why the fleet will steam so far into so few for the occasion promise that it will be impossible for outsiders to get a line on the result.

Under the orders issued by Admiral Osterhaus, five divisions of battleships and cruisers and the flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers and submarines will participate. All on the fleet realize the importance of the practice. All the sailors who had shore liberty to-day at this port, Salem, Rockport, Gloucester, Beverly and Boston are back. Most of them returned early in the day here, as the first and second divisions of torpedo craft, the submarines which were on the North Shore last Sunday, stayed in this harbor.

LYNCHERS WILL BE PUNISHED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14—Quick justice will be meted out to those responsible for burning Ezekiel Walker, the negro, to death at Coatesville last night, State troopers were ordered there to-day and provided with 150 John Doe warrants for the arrest of the lynchers. This action was taken after reports were received here that the negroes comprising a quarter of the town's population were threatening to rise up and get revenge on the whites. Presence of the troopers is expected to prevent race rioting.

"The State will not suffer any further violence," said Governor Tener. "From reports I have received I see no danger of any outbreak, but should any danger seem imminent, in the opinion of the local authorities at Coatesville, the State constabulary will be immediately rushed to the town. At present, however, I see no need of such action.

"The local authorities will have charge of the prosecution of this outrage. Should they ask the State for help it will be given, or should the Commonwealth deem it necessary to interfere, such action will be taken."

PISTOL DUEL WITH ROBBERS

NORTH ABINGTON, Aug. 14.—Chief of Police John H. Hollis and two burglars engaged in a pistol battle here early today. The robbers escaped.

Two men early to-day broke into the postoffice. People who heard the crashing of the glass and saw the robbers climb in the window telephoned Chief Hollis. When the chief arrived he put his head into the window and ordered the men to surrender. They replied by opening fire on him with their revolvers. The chief returned the shots. The men finally escaped out of another window. Both the money and stamp drawers were broken open, but the robbers had not time enough to carry away anything.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

Amusements.

SEA TO NEW YORK
SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
S.S. BUNKER HILL will sail this year from Boston, August 14, S.S. Massachusetts, August 16, Bunker Hill from Boston, at 7 P. M., August 18. Due to above dates, will sail following day at 3:00 A. M. Daily service commencing August 19.
FARE $5 either direction. Stateroom $1.00 to $8.00.
Through Tickets and Express Service for Freight, Automobiles and Horses.
MAINE S.S. CO., India Wharf, Boston.

LAST 6 NIGHTS
CREATORE AND HIS BAND
American League Park
Admission 25c. Reserved seats 25c Extra. Advance sale at Horner's and Wright & Ditson's

BASEBALL
TOMORROW at 3:15
BROOKLYN
NATIONAL LEAGUE GROUNDS

GLOUCESTER & "North Shore"
Steel Steamers "Cape Ann" & "City of Gloucester" leave Rowe's Wharf, foot State st. Elevated Station, Atlantic, every week Days, 9:30 A. M., 2:30 P. M. Sundays and Holidays, 10 A. M., 2:30 P. M. Returning, leave Gloucester 2:15 P. M. Sundays and Holidays, 2:30 leave Boston at 6:30 P. M. Parties of 10 or more, $1.00. Week Days, $1.50. Sundays and Holidays. Special rates to Clubs and Societies. General Manager, Boston & Gloucester Steamboat Co.

FISHING GROUNDS
$2.00 Round Trip
Special Steamer Every Sunday
TO MIDDLE BANKS Weather Permitting

Boston to New York $2.25 Trolley and Boat
Sunday at 7:45 P. M. Tickets and information at 348 Washington st., Boston, and 192 Broadway, New York.
TO PROVIDENCE ON FALL RIVER 7:45

Paragon PARK AND Palm Garden NANTASKET BEACH
Paris and Vienna direct to their hands! Entertainment at our "CABARET"

TREMONT TEMPLE
Matinee Today at 2:15
DIRECT FROM LONDON
"CORONATION" BY KINEMACOLOR.
Big Natural Colors in Motion Pictures Losing Years. Special Music and Lecture.
Prices—700 Seats to 1st Balcony 25c. 1st Balcony 25c. Orchestra 50c.

NORUMBEGA PARK
OPEN DAILY AT 10 A. M.
Magnificent Covered Open Air Theatre
Musical-Comedy, 2:30 and 8:00.

Theatres.

10 DEGREES COOLER THAN THE STREET
2nd Week—2nd Week
A STEAMBOAT JOY RIDE
OVER NIGHT
By PHILIP H. RATHBOLDMAR
At the SHUBERT
Filled to Overflowing Every Night
Evs. at 8:15. Wed. and Sat. Mats. at 2.

TREMONT THEATRE
Next Monday, Aug. 21.
Henry W. Savage Offers
EXCUSE ME!
By Rupert Hughes. Reg. Prices.
Seat Sale Thursday, Aug. 17.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
CHAS. RICHMAN
in the "FIRE ESCAPE."
Gus Edwards' Boys and Girls
6—OTHER BIG FEATURES—6
Overture at 2 and 7:45.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
CONTINUOUS FROM 9 A. M. TO 11 P. M.
KENNY AND HOLLIS
And 15 Other Features.
Mors. 10-15c. Aft.-Eve. 10-15-25c.

Today at 12 the big Program of Novelties
BEGINS—BE EARLY
Ten Features of Merit at the GLOBE 12 to 11 P. M. 10c
ALL SEATS MEET "TIME"

MAJESTIC TODAY AT 2
TONIGHT AT 8
Lillian Russell's Wildfire Sunday Morrison
Next Week—OLD JED PROUTY. Seats Inside.

BOSTON THEATRE Opens Monday, Tomorrow Night
THE GIRL IN THE TAXI
With GOSSY HART and an Exceptional Cast
SEAT SALE TUESDAY.

HUB THEATRE VAUDEVILLE MOVING PICTURES 10c

WALDRON'S CASINO
Hanover St., near Tremont Row.
MAJESTIC BURLESQUERS

Tours and Travels.

THE COLONIAL LINE
Via Rail and Boat
BOSTON TO NEW YORK
Daily and Sunday
$2.00 One Way Round Trip $5.50
Ticket Office, 306 Washington St., Boston.
Fleet Foot Rd., Pier.

JOY LINE 240 BOSTON TO NEW YORK
Via Rail and Boat. DAILY (at SUNDAY 9 A. M.) BOSTON and NEW YORK
NEW YORK, $2.50 (Sunday and Boat, $3.50)
Ticket Office, 316 Washington St., Boston.

Advertise Your Wants in the Boston American.

International Exhibition

OF

INDUSTRIES AND LABOUR

TURIN

The Journey From London to Turin, via Paris and return, valid for 60 days, costs only

FIRST CLASS	$36 (£8).
SECOND CLASS	$25 (£5).
THIRD CLASS	$17 (£3 10s).

Second Class Tourist Tickets, Paris to Turin and Return, valid for 30 days.

FIRST CLASS	$19 (£3).
SECOND CLASS	$13 (£2 10s).
THIRD CLASS	$8 (£1 10s).

Inauguration April 29

Great Railway Reductions from every country in Europe, and especially from London and Paris. Reduction also on the Italian steamers from New York to Italy. Accommodation for 200,000 visitors from $1 to $4 a day in up-to-date Hotels and Pensions. Great festivities of all kinds, including athletic competitions. Largest stadium in the world—25,000 athletes.

RELIABILITY RUN FOR TRUCKS

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—Twenty-five competing motor trucks, representing entries from eighteen different manufacturers, have reached here from Toledo. The machines motored over rough and sandy roads for more than three days under conditions which subjected the motor trucks to a slower speed, and required skillful driving. The trip from Toledo, under these conditions, was a test of metals, engineering design and construction, which motor trucks are not required to withstand under normal conditions in American cities.

The contest is a reliability run which will demonstrate the cost per ton for hauling freight by motor, carefu fuel, oil, repair, depreciations, maintenance and operative costs are being kept by the technical committee accompanying the run in a touring car. Many prominent buyers of commercial motor vehicles, who are at present dependant on draft animals to do their hauling, are considering buying their horse equipment and adopting motor delivery. Any temporary loss incurred by changing from horses to motor trucks is quickly offset by the economy and efficiency of the latter, provided the machines are properly administered, and receive careful repair attention.

Motor Trucks Advance.

As far back as eleven years ago the superiority of motor trucks over horses was demonstrated in this country. Machines are now built which will remain in continuous service, practically unaged, not overloaded or driven at too great speed.

It is obvious of course, that the remarkable performance to date would not have been possible unless the construction and design of the machines were in accordance with the best engineering practice.

Much interest is being shown in the five-ton Graham truck, which is making a remarkable run. The machine has no contestant, but is entered by the manufacturers to ascertain if it will accomplish the work of hauling five-ton loads under the different conditions. A. H. Hollinshead in mastership by the "Mary Ann," the first five-ton motor truck in America to run from Chicago to New York, a remarkable feat accomplished in eleven days last spring, when roads were soft and weather conditions severe. The pounding imposed against the corn in the Reliability Run are as follows:

Fee—Record 1st day, 142; 2d, 146—out. Class, 861 to 1,000 lbs.

Knox—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 501 to 1,000 lbs.

Van Dyke—Record 1st day, 11; 2d, 19; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 30. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Buick—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Sibley—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Stickworth—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Thor—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Chase—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Mack—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 84. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Hartford—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Pierce—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Oneus—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 1,001 to 2,000 lbs.

Clark—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 136; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 136. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Lion—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Chase—Record 1st day, 4; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 4. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Grams—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Nelson—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Hagerstown—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Patent—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 2,001 to 3,000 lbs.

Mack—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 3,001 to 4,000 lbs.

Grams—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0. Class, 3,001 to 4,000 lbs.

Dayton—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 3,001 to 4,000 lbs.

Kelly—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 3,001 to 4,000 lbs.

Grants—Record 1st day, 0; 2d, 0; 3d, 0; 4th, 0; 5th, 0; total 0. Class, 4,001 to 10,000 lbs.

Officials on the Job.

The Pathfinder car (Chalmers), arrived ahead of the trucks with A. J. Dodds, Dodge, Carpenter and Stanley Duross. A National roadster brought in referee N. H. Van Sycklen and starter Charles W. Hood. A Halladay touring car carried the judge, Charles Hayes. A Jackson touring car had Berne Nadall; a Speedwell touring car brought Lieut. Schmidt connected with the Detroit U. J. Donovan and A. M. Galdalk; Gallahue, Kramer & Goodwin and Frank and John Kramer; a staff car the run, H. A. Goddard; chief C. C. Metzger and Jr. C. W. K. Briggs, chief toxicologist, Chicago American.

The press car was a Buick, driven by F. W. Stewart, manager truck department Buick Motor Company. Following behind the same concern furnished the light delivery wagon. The trucks were driven by men loaned with the numerous suit cases of the officials, drivers, observers and arrived at the Detroit Controle with the official cars.

TAFT FAMILY TO AID RED CROSS BAG SALE

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Aug. 14.—The presence of President Taft's family at the bag sale on Wednesday, at Manchester Town Hall, in aid of Manchester's share of the Red Cross endowment fund, will make that event the most important of the August season. The event will be supervised by Miss Mabel Boardman, chairman of the National Red Cross Society and a Summer resident of Manchester.

DEATH OF NAMEY DUE TO ACCIDENT

LAWRENCE, Aug. 14.—That there were no signs of foul play in the death of Dakus Namey, the young Syrian found dead last Saturday at the bottom of an elevator well in the Ayer mill, is the report on the autopsy by Medical Examiner George W. Dow and Dr. T. H. Redmond, who declared that the man died from the result of a fracture skull received by his fall down the shaft.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN
Published Daily and Sunday at 60 and 62 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
BRANCH AGENCIES AND OFFICES.
DISPLAY AND CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING.
NEW YORK OFFICE, 1 MADISON AVE.
WASHINGTON STAFF BUREAU, 317 BRUNS BUILDING, 1322 F STREET N.W.
MADISON AND CHICAGO.
NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CO.
Entered as second class matter, June 5, 1907, at the postoffice at Boston, Mass.
Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice Department, Canada.
Subscription Rates, Postage Free, Five Cents.
Postage included for the United States and Canada (except Boston).
Daily only:
One year.....$3.00
Six months.....1.50
One month.....25
Sunday only:
One year.....2.00
Six months.....1.00
One month.....20
Daily and Sunday:
One year.....5.00
Six months.....2.50
One month.....45
Subscriptions add postage at rate of 1 cent per copy daily and 3 cents per copy Sunday.

Office Furniture and Store Fixtures.

GROCERIES, MARKETS, RESTAURANTS. ALL KINDS store fixtures, refrigerators, second hand, ½ price at our big factory; small dealers pay us a fair sell to you, low rates, any manager 26 years estab. WHITMAN CO., 12 Durance st., Dudley sq.

COUNTERS, showcases, butter chests, scales, safes, wire, stools, desks, etc. HOBBS'S WICKER SHOP, Portland.

FOR SALE, STORE FIXTURES for sale. SPRING BAY CO., 413 Washington st.

UNCALLED FOR ANSWERS TO WANT ADS.

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, AUGUST 12. ADS FOR ADVERTISED LETTERS

BOSTON AMERICAN OFFICE, AT 90 SUMMER ST.

A—732.
C—715.
F—715, 745, 769, 770.
G—715.
H—727, 732, 740, 745, 762, 726, 784, 762.
J—715, 725, 726.
K—730, 708.
L—715.
M—715, 749, 748, 708.
S—728, 747.

A 264 WASHINGTON ST.

W—133.
B—17.
C—90.
D—90.
E—90.
G—75.
H—75.
W—77, 81, 98.

Lost and Found.

LOST—On Thursday last at the landing of S. S. Arabic, Hesse Tunnel Pier, a seal ring, gold mounted, containing valuables. Please return and receive liberal reward to N. 187 Commercial st., Boston.

LOST—Japanese poodle dog, all white, clipped short except head and neck, answers to "Fido"; wearing bulldog collar. Finder please notify or forward, reward. Suite 2, 7 Candlen st., Jamaica Plain.

LOST—On Monday, Aug. 7, diamond bar pin, initials "J.C.M." Liberal reward. Return to C. R. RANGE, 18 Tremont st., a suitable reward will be given.

LOST—Gold locket and chain; pictures are set in locket in form of horseshoe. Mail finder please notify Box 271, Boothbay Harbor, Me.

Special Announcements.

GREEN STAMPS

TOBACCO TAGS AND CERTIFICATES, GOLD STAMPS. Mother's Oats coupons. Legal Stamps. 244 Washington st., room 30, globe bldg.

M. LOOMIS, massage, manicure and electric therapy. Hours 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Room 2, 14A Park sq., Boston.

CONFINEMENTS—You will take baby to board, room, care before, during confinement. 782, Boston American.

Printing.

GOOD PRINTING AT REASONABLE RATES. STATIONERY, programs, tickets, etc., made to measure. THE FOUR SEAS COMPANY, 120 Tremont st., Boston.

BAYARD E. HARRISON is announcing duplicating process for typewriting, mimeograph, circulars and social requirements; correspondence is invited. 515 Tribune bldg., Madison, Wis.

SEND 2c. for superb sample, cards, 10c. per 100 up; other printing, reasonable prices; your name don't beat that. SCOTT, 98, 40, 3 Tremont row, Boston. 1,000 BUSINESS CARDS, $1. No cheap $1; no samples. B. BRIEF PRESS, 81 Leverett st., Boston.

Furniture.

JUST

A MOMENT—Consider these facts. MANAGER, 782, Boston American.

Up-Town Rent Means Up-Town Bargains
Low Expenses Mean Low Prices
WEEKLY SPECIAL

This highly polished, six-foot pedestal dining table, 8 massive, full size, genuine leather seat posts, but a first-class table throughout—the same as you pay from $15 or $18. For THIS WEEK ONLY, $10.67.

$10.67 $10.67

Four immense floors piled full, all high-grade, up-to-date, guaranteed furniture. Prices as low as the cheapest, cheap—to select from—

$100 for $10

Down, $50 for $5 down, and weekly payments.

A Brass rail Iron Bed, $4.98. A guaranteed Bissell Carpet Sweeper, $2.98. A solid oak Rocking Chair, $1.98. A store full of honest values.

SMITH BROTHERS

The Up-Town House Furnishers,
1211 to 1223 Washington Street

46 years same location. Take elevated to Dover st. Six month's credit without interest. Cards for the asking. Mail orders given our special attention.

CASH CUSTOMER for second-hand furniture, mattresses, clothing, merchandise of every description. 30 STERLING st., Boston. Tel. Oxford 1007-1 ring.

HIGHEST CASH PRICES paid for furniture, carpets, pianos, desks, etc. A. LOWENSTEIN & SONS, 1290 Washington st. Telephone 242 Tremont.

HIGHEST CASH PRICES paid for all kinds of furniture and merchandise. Call on J. SWEET, 251 S. Washington st. Telephone 1,000 Haymarket.

WANTED—8,000 old grass feather beds; highest prices paid; our prices can't be beat. LAWTON FEATHER CO., 122 Second st., Chelsea.

WHEN you want bake or silk floss mattresses in factory prices, write or telephone 13 P. CHEE DEN, Manufacturer, 169 Shawmut av., West Medford.

For Sale—Miscellaneous.

MAX KEEZER

3-5-7 BOW ST., CAMBRIDGE.
HARVARD SQUARE.

Special clothing for late, up-to-date Prince Albert suits. The style these suits, $6 or $7, are worth. Harvard Boston can claim that they sell Harvard students clothing for less. The Harvard co., cor. of E. Dunster st. and Beck Hall; store next door to Harvard Garage; open this fall 9 a. m. Evenings.

JACK KEEZER, formerly at 311 Tremont st., is now at 1307 Washington st., near Dartmouth, with a full line of students' and tailors' model clothing.

Cash Registers.

No. 418 $100

NATIONAL CASH REGISTERS, fully guaranteed, both in first-class and second-hand order. Repairing a specialty. Bigger values than ever before. Write for catalogue. THE NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CO., Boston Office, 39 HIGH st., HOYT, Sales Agents, 112 Summer st. Telephone Fort Hill 840.

Horses and Carriages.

20 ONE and two horse covered wagons, all sizes and kinds; $60 to $200; 2,000 wagons and express bodies in stock; open days and evenings. H. DERSON BROS., 2067 Mass. av., North Cambridge.

WANTED—Good second-hand furniture, delivery wagon (for 1 horse); state particulars and lowest cash price. Address THE LAWTON FURNITURE CO., 126 Broadway, Newport, R. I.

Barter and Exchange.

SURPRISING BARGAINS in refrigerators and new and second hand furniture; we buy, sell or exchange anything, see us. F. S. SPRAGUE & SON, 321 Causeway st., Kneeland st. entrance, Elevator.

TRADE our Saturday weekly lacrosse ties. AL-BERT'S high second-hand store fixtures and stove repairing, 93 Hanover.

WHAT HAVE YOU to exchange for anything? Advertise it in the "Want Ads" of the Boston American.

Dogs, Cats, Pets, Etc.

DR. BOULE'S CELEBRATED DOG REMEDY, sold at Dame, Stoddard Co.'s, Ivar Johnson's and Jordan's.

FOR SALE—Handsome collie, 2 mos. old. Sire is prize winning dog. JAMES W. STRATTON, Hingham, Mass.

Schools and Colleges.

Aviation School

THE MOST LIBERAL terms and most thorough course ever offered; students wanted, write at factory office, 50 Braintree st., Allston, Mass.

RELIABLE TYPEWRITERS, $15 up. $5 down, $3 monthly. Rebuilt machines, all makes. THE OFFICE APPLIANCE CO., 37 Bromfield st.

Male Help Wanted.

More Bricklayers Wanted AT NEWBURYPORT

GOOD ones apply at once to new shoe factory being built at westerly end of city. Apply to S. PIKE & SONS, Contractors, Lawrence, Mass.

MARBLE POLISHERS, BED RUBBERS AND SAWYERS WANTED. ADDRESS "MARBLE," BOX 118, 617 6TH AVE., NEW YORK CITY

OUTSIDE CUTTERS,

TOP CUTTERS and vampers at once. FRAMING & SON, 1826 Commercial st., Boston.

ARMATURE WINDERS. Steady work. Apply at once. Good wages. Call or address. Factory, Revere.

BILLPOSTERS. Experienced men wanted. Apply at once. Good wages. CONSOLIDATED BILLPOSTING CO., 1 Boylston pl., Boston.

CONTESTERS wanted; also operators on clothing; plenty of work; good pay. Apply 1740 Washington st., Boston.

DRUG CLERK wanted in Mass., college graduate preferred; reference required. Apply to HORACE I. JOHNSON of Trinity, 515 Main st., Melrose.

ELLSMAN wanted, one that can make good cutter; good wages and steady work. Apply to 1740 Washington st., Boston.

GLOBE DYE HOUSE, New Bedford, Mass.

GARAGE—Wanted, man to run garage; 2 cars to care for. State salary and part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

HALLMEN—Can make $30 to $40 per week; call 9 to 10 Mon., Tues. and Wed. 727 Federal st., Boston.

SHOEMAKERS wanted on the goods bottoming; latest styles, satin, velvet and kid. Apply to NATHAN D. LEDGE SHOE CO., Lynn, Mass.

SHOE CUTTERS wanted in the vamp department, two needle runners, also operators on welting jacket. Apply to 1740 Washington st., Boston.

STAMPERS—Paper worker wanted to run stamping and gold job. SUGAR RIVER MILLS, Newport, N. H.

YOUNG MAN—Wanted young man, between ages of 17 and 25, Room 1, Bromfield st., Boston; bring communications. S 716, Boston American.

Male Help—Miscellaneous.

LEARN AUTO DRIVING AND REPAIRING in our repair shop; personal instruction in repairing; we furnish tools; you pay for our record for securing jobs in the evening. Call or write for free booklet. 1,000 graduates. Berkeley st., Boston.

GENTLEMEN AND LADIES WANTED

THROUGHOUT NEW ENGLAND with ability and experience, to sell gilt edge oil stocks, stand high; our investigation will be to your interest; 16 per cent. guaranteed; dividend this month. Address Oil Co., 907 Rose Hill av., Dorchester, Mass.

GRILL ROOM WAITER wanted. Apply to Steward, Hotel Touraine, Boylston st., Boston.

CAN LEARN gas and oil engines at CLAYTON ENGINE SCHOOL, 1 Milk st., Boston. Telephone Fort. Oxford 3788.

IDLE BOSTON MEN—Wanted for the U. S. Marine Corps, between the ages of 18 and 35, single men having no dependents, citizens of U. S., able to speak, read and write English. Pay $15 to $30, additional compensation possible, food, clothing, quarters and medical attendance free; 30 years service can retire with half pay. Apply 300 Washington st., Boston, Room 307, or 2d floor, 444 Atlantic av., Boston.

MARINE CORPS RECRUITING OFFICE, 85 Causeway st., Boston, Mass.

GOOD POSITIONS open, $16 to $30 weekly. 25 Saturday; also positions open for ladies; absolutely. HALL'S BARBER COLLEGE, 514 Washington st., Boston, or Malden.

I WILL start you earning $4 daily at home in spare time silverplating watches, clocks, jewelry, tableware; no capital required; we instruct you; write for free booklet, giving class of operations you can learn. METALLIC LABORATORIES, Box 1200, Bridgeport, Conn.

I MADE $50,000 in one year with a mail order business, began with $1; will tell you how. HEADLOCK, 2102 Lockport N. Y.

MEN WANTED—Age 18 to 35, for horses, $100 monthly and brakeman, $86 on railroads in Boston vicinity; experience unnecessary; we pay fare; selling guaranteed respectful men; promotion; railroad pass; state age, height, weight; send stamp for particulars. RAILWAY ASSOCIATION, Dept. 1, Kansas City, Mo.

MEN wanted to learn to drive and repair automobiles in six weeks; we have no vacancy for instruction; call or send stamp for particulars. NEW ENGLAND AUTO SCHOOL, 40 Stanhope st., Boston.

WANTED—Mail clerks; carriers; clerks in government offices at Washington. Boston examinations soon; thousands appointments; full particulars; coached free. Write FRANKLIN INSTITUTE, Dept. 1950 D, Rochester, N. Y.

Agents and Canvassers.

AGENT—A live agent, man or woman, to Rockland, Rockport, Dorchester, to sell a household necessity; write quick. THE MARVEL CO., 1 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

AGENTS—Something entirely new; hand work; WORCESTER CHEMICAL CO., Box 780, Worcester, Mass.

Male Situations Wanted.

BAKER wants position, all around; man can take charge; age 35. R. F., 425 Medford st., Somerville, Mass.

BARBER—Young American with one year at barbering desires position; wages $15 to start. Address Frank Lake, 1 Glenwood av., 2d floor st., Everett.

BARBER—First-class, steady man, good location. CHAS. GATES, 59 Gothland av., W.

CANDY AND ICE CREAM MAKER wants work in retail store. Address CANDY, 782, Boston American.

CARETAKER—Wanted, position as caretaker or manager of flats or apartments; can furnish best of references; 20 years' experience. HARRY A. SMITH, 1076 Boylston st., Boston.

CHAUFFEUR—Young man wants position on private car; good driver, good mechanic; best of references. EMERY FROST, 1 Jenkins Place, Boston.

CHAUFFEUR—Widow position with private family in town or pinch, Brookline preferred; best of reference; can do own repairing. Address CHAUFFEUR, 70 Liverpool st., Boston.

CHAUFFEUR—Experienced, desires position; best of references. G. P., 34 E. Brookline st., city.

CHEF—Colored, sober, competent and reliable wants position; city or suburbs. Address A. B., Rockingham st.

CHEF—Colored, am a strong and able man and a somewhat lack of all trades, to last cooks; can furnish best of references. Address CHEF, 1,000 Harrison Ave., Roxbury, Mass.

ELECTRICIAN wishes employment; 4 years' experience. Write to 37 Eastern av., Dedham, Mass.

ESTATE MANAGER—A practical, experienced farmer, gardener and caretaker, wishes position; married, no encumbrances. Address H. K. Sears, 6, 6 Bulfinch st., Boston.

FARM WORK—Young German wants position; experienced in farm work; good milker; can be engaged on short notice. Address FARM, 782, Boston American.

FURNITURE SHIPPER of 3 years' experience wants position; can furnish best of references. J. A. HUNT, 80 Windsor st., tel. 1064 R. Roxbury.

GENERAL MAN—Experienced in cooking, cleaning and general work; wants position; can be engaged in evening. Call or address 1 Bay State rd., Boston.

GENERAL WORK—American young man, 20 years old, wants position; good habits and steady, willing to learn; wages reasonable. ANDREW PAPPAS, 782, Boston American.

LAUNDRY WORK—Young man wants position; habits and steady, willing to learn; wages reasonable. ANDREW PAPPAS, 782, Boston American.

MOVING PICTURE OPERATOR Man, license wants position. B 18, Boston American.

PAINTER—Reliable, experienced, sober young man wants work in private homes; best references; moderate terms. Address H. K. Sears, 6, 6 Bulfinch st., Boston.

PAINTER with staging, brushes, etc., wants work day or by contract. A. H. ALLEN, 1 Dorchester, off 515 Adams st.

PASTRY COOK wants position; 5 years' experience; wages $15 per week. Address 782, Boston American.

PORTER—Colored wanted by young man after 5:30 p. m. daily. F 766, Boston American.

SALESMAN, man of experience and education as stationer or high boomster; can refer to present employer. Address GEORGE WAL-LINGTON, 3 Elmore st., Roxbury, Mass.

Ostrich Feathers.

WE retail ostrich feathers and willow plumes at wholesale prices; also curling, repairing and dyeing; send postal for catalogue. BIRCH FEATHER CO., 19 Temple pl., room 404, New York. Chicago, Atlanta.

Legal and Public Notices.

JUR, PEACE and N. Y. notary, home evenings, 449 Shawmut av., near W. Newton st.

Patents.

$10 EACH for names of persons interested in patents. Send suggestions address P. O. Box 2248, Washington, D. C.

Business Personals.

LADIES' CONFINEMENT CASES—Up-to-date attending nurses and expert midwife. For particulars write COLLINSWOOD SANITARIUM, Hartford, Ct.

Machinery and Tools.

MACHINERY moved by C. BOWEN, 2 Bowker st., corner Sudbury st., Boston.

Female Help Wanted.

40—GIRLS—40

TO TRAIN for names $20 per week to start with; room and washing; no experience necessary; hours from 10:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. HOSPITAL AGENCY, 88 Boylston st.

LAUNDRY HELP WANTED

EXPERIENCED finisher and collarette girl. Apply 59 Wendell st. NEW ENGLAND LAUNDRY CO.

VAMPERS

AND ALL KINDS of stitching room help. Apply 20 FRAMINGHAM SHOE CO., South Framingham.

AT HOTEL HELP ASSOCIATION, 128 Court st., Boston, all grades of help; chicken boarders wanted.

CEMETERIES want experienced men; market gardening lately of west coast. Apply Plain, 1 Pemberton sq., room 1, 9 a. m. to 12 m.

CHURCH GIRLS—Evening gowns and GIRLS—Evening gowns and clothing. 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

COOK—Wanted, to go to Duxbury, later House; fine residence and needs to go to work at once; $6 a week. Call 9 Otis st., Boston.

COOK, 2, second, experienced for kitchen, white; small family. Apply 1 Bay State road.

GENERAL WORK—Private school behind golf links, Brookline; $5 a week. Call 10 Centre st., Brookline.

GIRL wanted for general housework; family of three. 69 Hancock st., Everett, Mass.

LAUNDRESS—Experienced woman in cafe, fine restaurant and cafe wants to good and willing worker; steady position; $7 per week to start; state price as per week or month. Apply at 782, Boston American. Call or write 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

MACHINE GIRL wanted; steady work; good wages. Apply 1740 Washington st., Boston.

Female Help—Miscellaneous.

GIRLS WANTED.

LEARN DRESSCUTTING, dressmaking, designing, millinery, cooking, waitress; day and evening classes. Call or write for catalogue. Miss Wentworth McDowell's School, 25 Winchester st., Boston.

CLOSING OUT SALE of entire stock of slightly used stoves, ranges and heaters, kitchen cabinets, coats, skirts, waists, hats, dresses, WOLF & SON, 1,000 Washington st., Boston. Tel. 1,000 Haymarket. South Boston, basement store, open daily from 2 to 9 p. m.

Female Situations Wanted.

CLEANING—A woman wants cleaning or washing by the day; will go anywhere. MRS. BUTLER, 578 Albany st., Roxbury, Mass.

COOK, colored, wants position in private family; quick on orders; good carver; excellent care of silver; best of reference. Call or address 1 Tremont st., room 1.

COOK—Colored wanted as accommodating cook by Ve woman in private family. M. J. B., 145 Dartmouth st., Boston.

COOK wanted to go to Duxbury, later Brookline; fine residence and needs to go to work at once; $6 a week. Call 9 Otis st., Boston.

COOK—Capable Irish girl, good cook, wishes position; city or suburbs; best of reference. Call or address 1 Tremont st., room 1.

COOK—Colored wanted in a strong American woman, right work in a city, house or apartments; best of reference; $6 a week to start. Call 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

DAY WORK—Wanted, by a colored woman, work by the day cleaning or washing; reference; will go any distance. JULIA MILLER, 109 Kendall st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Respectable colored woman will go out by the day cleaning or washing; reference; no objection to go out of town. MISS CARRIE, 2418 Washington st.

DAY WORK—Wanted by American woman, an engagement for Tuesday and Thursday of each week; city and car fare. Address Y 740, Boston American.

DAY WORK—Woman wants work by the day; washing or cleaning; will go anywhere. MRS. DENAN, 12 Rhinelow st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Colored girl wants work for every Monday; best of reference. MARY, 782, Boston American.

DAY WORK—German woman wants day work by the day, willing to go any distance. 23 Sawyer st., Dedham, Mass.

DAY WORK—A thorough worker wants work by the day; city or suburbs. Tel. 29 W. Newton, 1,000 Newton st., Jamaica Plain.

DAY WORK—Wanted, by a fancy ironing, by the hour or day; references. MRS. A. S. JACK-SON, 1,000 Harrison av.

DAY WORK—A good reliable woman wants work by the day; washing or cleaning. MRS. BROWN, 86, 102 Vernon st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Wanted, by a reliable, strong, colored woman, by the day, washing, ironing or cleaning; reference. MRS. A. JACKSON, 1,000 Harrison av.

DAY WORK—Colored woman would like day work; washing or cleaning; will go out of town. Address STRICKLAND, 19 Kendall st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Capable colored woman wants day work; best of references. Tel. Dana, 1324-W, 1531 Tremont st.

DAY WORK—Woman wants day work by day or hour; washing or cleaning. MRS. BROWN, 1,000 Harrison av.

DRESSMAKER—With unlimited experience in cutting and making high grade styles, desires work by the day or week; reasonable terms. Address 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

DRESSMAKER—Experienced, engagements wanted by the day; good fitter or model sleeve or skirt hand; terms reasonable. MARGARET, 1 Bay State road.

DRESSMAKER—Experienced dressmaker wants work at her home. 45 Bow st., North Cambridge.

FAMILY WASHING—A German woman wants family washing to take home; rough dry, 10c lb.; for $1, or 20c a doz., otherwise; blankets washed and dried, 25c each; curtains, 25c pair. MRS. J. HANSOM, 317 Cabot st., Bos. Tel. Haymarket 1,000-W. Will call for and deliver; also for one or more families, Brookline, Newton, Brighton and Cambridge; will call for and deliver to latter cities. MRS. M. E. O'HARA, 59 Wendell st.

GENERAL MAID—Colored girl wants position in private family; good cook; best of reference. Call or address 1 Tremont st., room 1.

HOUSEKEEPER—American widow, no encumbrance, no housekeeping for two gentlemen, or would like position as housekeeper for widower; best of reference. Address H. F., 782, Boston American.

HOUSEKEEPER—Working housekeeper, 2 children, age 12 and 14, wishes position in safe adults' family, near Boston; good cook, neat and capable; best of reference; prefer comfortable home to high wages. Hotel 85, Room 3, 454 Bowker, Beach Parkway, Boston.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted in widower's home, caring for children; am a good cook, reliable, and will give good references. M. B., 1,000 Chestnut st., Manchester, N. H.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, position as working housekeeper in widower's small family or business man's home; am a good cook. Address H. M., 782, Boston American.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, position as housekeeper for elderly gentleman; good cook, good reference. Address R., 17 Bedford st.

HOUSEWORK—Young lady would like position as housework; a reference can be given. 1,000 Second Boston, please write. Address MISS E., 1,000 Second st., Boston.

HOUSEWORK—An experienced laundress would like your laundry work to do at home; plain or fancy; family work a specialty. M. Holmes st., near Blue Hill av., Boston.

HOUSEWORK—Wishes position as working housekeeper in widower's family; no objection to one or two children; am a good cook; will give good reference. MRS. ALICE STERLING, 82 Vernon st., Whitman, Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—A good capable woman would like position as housekeeper in widower's family; best of references. ANNIE YOUNG, 776 Huntington ave., Boston.

HOUSEKEEPER—A position as housekeeper in a family of adults. Call or address HOUSEKEEPER, 65 Kendall st., Revere.

HOUSEKEEPER—Would like position as housekeeper for widower's small family or business man's home; am a good cook; reliable. Address H. M., 782, Boston American.

HOUSEWORK—Young lady would like position as housework; a reference can be given. 1,000 Second Boston, please write. Address MISS E., 1,000 Second st., Boston.

HOUSEWORK—Wishes position as working housekeeper in widower's small family or business man's home; am a good cook; reliable. Address H. M., 782, Boston American.

HOUSEWORK—General housework or cook, by reliable girl; desires position; can be seen Wednesday, 470 Massachusetts av., Cambridge, 1st. floor W.

LADY wishes to communicate with mothers in-terested in a reliable, competent nurse. Address H 701, Boston American.

LAUNDRESS—An experienced laundress would like your laundry work to do at home; plain or fancy; family work a specialty. M. Holmes st., near Blue Hill av., Boston.

LAUNDRESS—Wishes position as working housekeeper; best of reference; moderate wages. Address 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

LAUNDRESS—Finnish laundress desires laundry work to do at home; plain or fancy; specialty in gents' and waists; agents' orders called for and sent home. M. M., 1,000 Dorchester av., Dorchester.

LAUNDRESS—Ladies' fine laundry work done at home; reasonable. MRS. GOODWIN, 64 Kenilworth st., Boston, Mass.

LAUNDRESS—Colored woman wants work, 9 days; best of references; terms reasonable. Call or address 1 Tremont st., room 1.

LAUNDRESS—A woman wants work washing and ironing in private family. C. M. D., 17 Benton st., Roxbury.

LAUNDRY WORK—Young colored girl wants the laundry work to take home. Apply MISS M. E., 42 Anderson st., West End.

LIGHT HOUSEWORK—Unfortunate girl wishes light housework. Address FRANCES BROWN, Station A, Boston.

NURSE—Wanted, position by a reliable woman-ing nurse, nonfactory; cause a specialty. Call or address NURSE, 74 Thornton st., E. Cambridge.

NURSE—Wants position to take care of baby; willing to assist housework. MRS. CLARK, 733 Tremont st., Boston; tel. Fort Tremont.

Female Situations Wanted.

NURSE—Experienced nurse wishes position; best of reference; will go anywhere. Call or address 1 Tremont st., room 1.

OFFICE WORK—Young lady would like office work; best of references; will go anywhere. Call or address F. RIVERS, 9 Winthrop st., Boston.

SEAMSTRESS—Wishes position; can do all kinds of plain sewing; reasonable terms; will go out to work. MRS. CLEMENTINA PROCTOR, 412 Tremont st., Boston.

SEAMSTRESS—Wishes position; can do all kinds of plain sewing; reasonable terms; will go out to work. MRS. CLEMENTINA PROCTOR, 412 Tremont st., Boston.

STENOGRAPHER—Young lady wishes position; 2 years' experience; will work reasonable. Address 1 Bay State road, part of New England you prefer. Address GARAGE, 782, Boston American.

WASHING AND IRONING wanted by the day; cleaning. Please call or address MRS. E. SHEPARD, 1,000 Washington st., Boston.

Pianos and Musical Instruments.

BIG AUG. CLEARANCE PIANO SALE

We must clear out all the pianos on the floor of our Arcadian showrooms. The July, 1911, inventory are all closed on the last day of July, and we find that too many upright instruments are sent to the Arcadian warerooms and paid for prior to the time you can make your own—the pianos must be taken away and no reasonable offer will be refused.

$5 Down, $1 a Week

DELIVERED ANYWHERE IN ENLARGED WAGONS

Bargains in Best Makes.

Mason & Hamlin	$107
H. F. Miller	$93
Huntington	$89
Everett	$89
Webber	$87
Steinway Upright	$117
Ivers & Pond	$110
Emerson	$60
McPhail	$67
Chickering	$51
Haynes	$173
Schumann & Sons	$137
Merrill	$173
Jacob Doll	$236
Steinert	$65
Vose	$98

Roxbury Piano Storage Salesrooms Co.

Open 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. Open Mon., Thurs., Fri. Take Parmelee or Subway Car to Dudley St. 2418 Washington St. TERMINAL.

CHARLES S. NORRIS

Kranich and Bach Pianos

1ST TREMONT STREET
Next to Music Hall. Tremont Temple.

STEINWAY UPRIGHT (six new, special bargain), $500; cash or payments.

HENRY F. MILLER UPRIGHT, mahogany case, $150; terms to suit. CHARLES F. NORRIS.

IVERS & POND UPRIGHT—Best action, good tone, $150; terms to suit. CHARLES F. NORRIS.

BALLET & DAVIS, Vose, McPhail, Kranich & Bach, Hallet & Davis pianos; Victor-Victrolas and all the best pianos. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 1 Tremont st.

WRITE TO-DAY—We will mail full particulars of our $1 down, $1 a week piano plan; money returned if dissatisfied anywhere in New England free of charge. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 1 Tremont st.

Barnard's $1-Piano-Plan

$1 Down $1 A Week

We will sell you any make piano $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. Get the other dealers' prices first, then come to us and get ours. We will beat it. Send postal and we will give you some prices by return mail. Open Mon., Thurs., Fri. evenings. BARNARD'S, 1,000 Washington st., Continental Clothing Co.

HALLET & DAVIS, Vose, McPhail, Kranich & Bach pianos; Victor-Victrolas and all the best pianos. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 1 Tremont st.

HALLET & DAVIS piano, mahogany case, $250; terms to suit. CHARLES F. NORRIS.

HENRY F. MILLER UPRIGHT, mahogany case, $150; terms to suit. CHARLES F. NORRIS.

IVERS & POND UPRIGHT—Best action, good tone, $150; terms to suit. CHARLES F. NORRIS.

MATTHEWS, 1,000 Washington st., Boston, Mass., has a large assortment of second-hand pianos at low prices; also rents pianos; rent allowed if purchased.

PIANOS—Second-hand pianos, $75 to $150; $10 down, $5 monthly. 1,000 Washington st., Boston.

PIANOS—

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON AUGUST 14, 1911

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, AUGUST 14, 1911

The Question

Shall the Stockholders of the West End Street Railway Accept What Is Well, or Shall They Grasp After More and Perhaps Lose All?

The directors of the West End Street Railway, with but one dissenting vote, have decided in favor of accepting the recent act of the Legislature which provides for the consolidation of the West End and the Elevated Railway.

The Protective Committee, representing some of the stockholders of the West End, has protested against accepting the consolidation in a circular issued to the stockholders.

The question whether the West End stockholders will agree to this consolidation with the Elevated is one of intense interest to the public, for upon the acceptance of this consolidating act depends the immediate construction of two very important subways and the extension of another existing subway.

The Elevated Railway claims that it cannot afford to assume any new and heavy burdens until the grave uncertainty which hangs over its very being in the form of these dual entities called the West End and Elevated, existing in the body of one harmonious transportation system, has been cleared away. Until what is physically one becomes one in all respects, the Elevated claims that it cannot take on any new obligations.

Those who are opposing the consolidation act which was the product of the best efforts of the Legislature, the Governor, the Public Franchise League, the Public Utilities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the newspapers of Boston, have at last come to appreciate that they cannot ignore the serious public interest in this matter.

It is a noteworthy fact that the Protective Committee, representing the stockholders who are opposed to consolidation with the Elevated, have now entirely shifted their ground. Until quite recently their only concern was an increase of their dividends. There was not the slightest intimation that they would oppose consolidation if the West End common stockholders were granted an increase of dividend from seven to eight per cent.

The Elevated was willing to pay this demanded increase, so vital did the consolidation of the two roads seem. But the public, a very much interested party to these arguments, refused to consent to an increase which would give the common stockholders of the West End one hunded and twenty-five thousand dollars a year for all time, out of the pockets of the people who ride in our street cars.

The newspapers, the influential quasi-public bodies, the Legislature and the Governor united in opposition to any such extortion. Present conditions warranted no increase at all, but if future conditions should make an increase of dividends just, means have been provided in the consolidating act for obtaining such an increase.

Now it has become apparent to those whose real subject is to obtain an increase of dividends, that their attitude is unpopular and highly dangerous to the franchises and privileges upon which are based the sole right of the West End to do business.

In their circular to the stockholders, the Protective Committee has made just sufficient reference to an increase of dividends to excite the cupidity of the West End stockholders. Then the committee proceeds to base their opposition upon entirely different ground.

Now they contend that the consolidation ought not to occur because the security of the West End stockholders will not be so great when they take the Elevated stock for their own.

This argument is addressed to the public which is known always to be fair, and it is a plausible argument because it is true as stated. Technically the security will not be so good, but practically it is just as good.

In this old and settled, but growing, community, the attempt to add security to the Boston Elevated Railroad stock, already protected by law in its rights to a reasonable return upon its investment, is like attempting "to gild refined gold, paint the lily or throw a perfume on the violet, a wasteful, ridiculous excess" of protection.

The statement by Mr. Baldwin, member of the Protective Committee, that the West End would be willing to assume the proposed new subways, indicates another attempt to tack in order to catch a breath of popular sympathy.

But their sails will not be filled by the breath of the people on any such tack, for those unprogressive men are the same who refused to build an elevated road, and who had not sufficient energy and courage even to continue the operation of their own road; hence the lease of the West End to the Elevated.

Stripped of all its subterfuge, subtleties and sophistries, the naked question before the stockholders of the West End is this:

Shall they accept the consolidating act, thereby securing permanently their present rate of dividend with the chance of increasing them if conditions should warrant when the consolidation actually takes place; or shall they stand upon their technical right and reject the consolidating act, thereby leaving the whole transportation situation in its present confusion, with the subways unbuilt, and thereby also inviting the public to stand upon its rights to revoke the West End franchise and turn the locations over to the Elevated or operate both systems.

This is not an idle threat. The public has ample provocation, and progressive sentiment has moved fast in this country.

In the secure enjoyment of seven per cent., the West End stockholders will be well off, and in "striving to better oft we mar what's well."

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

SOME MORE "EASY MONEY."

Editor AMERICAN:

Isn't there something wrong with a system that permits a whole community to work without pay for a single individual?

Equality of opportunity is the goal of democratic government, but it will never be reached so long as we make it easy for the rich man to pile up unearned millions. The industrious laborer thus is compelled to pay exhorbitant taxes on his little cottage home.

Why is it that money is so powerful that its possessor may exist in luxurious idleness and profit a thousand-fold from the labor of his fellows? Sitting still and letting the community work for you is the rich man's method of acquiring more wealth.

For instance, that is what an investor in a lot at the corner of Broadway and Forty-fifth streets, New York city, did eight years ago. The property is covered with old buildings, most of which have been remodeled by the present owner as cheaply as possible for business uses. He paid about $1,000,000 for the property, and it is to-day valued at $2,250,000—a clear profit of 125 per cent in eight years. This added value of $1,250,000, equivalent to an annual profit of $156,250, has not been created by the owner, or by any services rendered by him to the community. It has been created by the community itself and presented as a free gift to one man. Without the presence of the increased population, and without the growth of business in the vicinity, property would be worth no more to-day than it was eight years ago.

About all that the owner had to do was to "lie low" and let his fellow men, by their industry and enterprise, make him wealthy. It is easy money.

TANGLE SIXES.

Greenfield, Mass.

Midsummer Day Dreams

NOW! I'VE GOT THE FLEA THE NEXT THING TO DO IS GO TO THE ZOO AND SECURE SOME SERUM FROM THE SPINE OF AN ELEPHANT
I JUST WANT A TINY DROP!
GO AHEAD! HELP YOURSELF!
NOW, I'LL INOCULATE THIS LITTLE FLEA WITH THIS ELEPHANT SERUM AND SEE WHAT EFFECT IT WILL HAVE!
JUST WHAT I EXPECTED! I WILL NOW PUT FLYING MACHINES AN BALLOONS OUT OF BUSINESS
A FLEA CAN JUMP FIVE HUNDRED TIMES HIS LENGTH!
GRACIOUS! PAPA! HE OUGHT TO JUMP A MILE NOW!
I'M GOING TO TEST HIS ABILITY DEAR. I'LL BE RIGHT BACK
BE CAREFUL, PAPA! HE IS GROWING ALL THE TIME AND MIGHT JUMP TO THE MOON! DO BE CAREFUL!
WHAT A GRAND DISCOVERY I HAVE MADE
POOR PAPA! I'M SO GLAD HE HAS INVENTED SOMETHING AT LAST!
CONFOUND HIM! HE WON'T STOP JUMPING! WHOA HEY! WHOA!
WELL I JUST PUT A CATCH ON THAT HEN COOP THAT'LL STAY NOW!
OH! YOU REALLY WAYS INVENTING SOMETHING PAPA! I WAS ASLEEP SITTING HERE!
WINSOR. M'CAY

Sherlocko the Monk

By GUS MAGER

Copyright, 1911, by the National News Association

SOME VANDAL HAS SMASHED UP THE NEW BENCH IN THE PARK!
THAT SOUNDS INTERESTING! TAKE US TO THE SCENE OF THE CRIME!
ODD!
THERE, YOU SEE— SMASHED TO SMITHEREENS!
NO WATSO,—HE WOULD NOT HAVE SELECTED A NEWLY PAINTED BENCH FOR THAT PURPOSE!
AH, EVIDENTLY THE CULPRIT HAD INTENDED TO CARRY IT AWAY FOR KINDLING WOOD!
THIS PAINT IS STILL WET!
MARVELOUS!
EXCEPTING IN ONE PLACE WHERE IT EVIDENTLY HAS BEEN SAT UPON!
AND YONDER DOUBTLESS HANGS THE SOILED SUIT WHO SAT IN THE PAINT! COME, WATSO
SO, MR. GROUCHO,— YOU SMASHED THE PARK BENCH THAT RUINED YOUR SUIT, EH?
YES, AND I'LL MAKE 'EM PAY ME FOR MY SUIT, TOO.
Gus Mager

Sherlocko the Monk, with his friend, Dr. Watso, is now a regular feature of the Sunday AMERICAN. Don't miss the funny detective work of Sherlocko in the Sunday AMERICAN.

NOW, hurtling through the illimitable Universe,
Our little world whirls on its destined way.
Its inner fires will chill, all life be stilled,
Ere dawns the light of aeon-distant Suns!
Ah! little man, pray wilt thou answer this?
What force impels thee hence? From where?
Where culminates, what is thy destiny?
Thou speaketh not?

The judgment of Eternal Law is action
Inviolate, Inscrutable and sure;
But laws of men accord unto man's will
Which molds itself to fickle circumstance.
Then, man, from out the universal maze,
The ever-changeful phase of human life,
Wilt thou essay, what is the false? Say, what is Truth?
Thy lips are mute.

While groping, blind, within the vale of Time,
Thy sightless eyes stare for Eternity.
Thou prate thee much of Death, who knoweth not Life.
While Fate rolls on, thy fleeting empires fall;
For all on earth is transient—all—but Hope.
Speak, earthly mite, pray be no longer dumb;
I would thou answered this: What is Thyself?
Thou knoweth not?

And still, thou doth presume, thy brother mite
To teach, to him reveal, the way of GOD!
Thou measureth the Infinite with rules;
Thou claim an end to that which hath no end.
Thou limit God to thine own attributes,
And bid thy brother, under pain (to do the like)
Of excommunication from his God!
O, futile threat!

Knowest thou not, that all things are of God?
Thyself, no more than is the crawling worm?
Ah! thinkest thou affection of the blind
Worth less than that of those who see the light?
For those who kneel, sincere, at savage shrine,
And those who delve, who query of the stars,
Each in his Soul, does reverence to Divine,
Omnipotent LAW!

Freddie Funnel's Letter

By MILES OVERHOLT

PARIS, July 31.—Dear Ferdy: Sometimes in my sober moments I almost come to the conclusion that about all the fun there is in this life is hunting for a soft place to fall in and dodging the penitentiary.

I have just returned from a little skin around the Milky Whey, Ferdy. I just dismounted from Count Sacre de Pudding's airship, and I feel like a mustard plaster that had been worn too long; I feel like an exhausted dishrag, Ferdy, and I want to write you before I feel worse.

Just as the Count was about to sail, I introduced myself and climbed aboard. We had already started, and that man possesses as a cusser would we worth millions if it could be canned. I don't know what he said, but it certainly was to the point.

And then we started down. We didn't go up there after anything particularly, so we decided to come down. You never fell forty odd miles on Friday, did you, Ferdy?

There we were, up above the world so high, like a diamond in the sky, or words to that effect, and nobody down below to hold a blanket or his breath. If I had thought about it in time I would have taken some whiskey or other life-preserver along, but I had a good deal on my mind and I neglected it.

be didn't have time to argue with me, so I went along.

We went so fast that the Friday morning we left Paris was the Wednesday previous when we got back. I can prove it by the calender. After we had traveled 474,848,432-34545408 miles I thought I would light a cigarette and make myself at home. Well, I lit the cig, Ferdy, and then something happened. Somehow it always does.

There was an explosion, Ferdy, an explosion that caused me to swallow the cigarette and eight feet of airship. There was a gas bag somewhere, it seems, and it was prematurely discharged. We didn't need it, anyway, so I discharged it.

The Count, Ferdy, was almost blown to atoms. One of the atoms hit me in the eye. It had a fist on it. The talent

Well, the Count got one or two wings working after awhile and we didn't fall quite so spontaneously after that. And so we landed—or, rather, watered, for we flew into the moist and moaning sea, and the Count swam out and ran for the seadarmes and the fire department and the Salvation Army. He didn't want to be saved. He wanted me locked up in a burglar-proof safe till he could get out of the country.

But I was picked up by a fisherman, who charged me $54 and my cuff buttons to take me to something I could walk on. So then I came back to the hotel and changed my shoestrings and started this letter. I think I shall stay here until I learn to order three kinds of soup. Well, goodby.

FREDDY.

When Shall We Go to the Moon?

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THE reader will either smile at this or turn away from it with an "Oh, pshaw!"

Nevertheless it is a forecast of what will come about in the future, although how far off that future may be can only be a subject for guessing. It may be so close that its proximity would startle us if we could discern it clearly.

Men will go to the moon, and farther than the moon, as surely as they will, before long, make regular flights over the Rocky Mountains and across the Pacific and the Atlantic. Flight is the great fact of the day; it has got into the blood and the brain of mankind.

The atmosphere has been conquered all in a moment, after thousands of years of vain longing and dreaming. The possibility of aerial flight for man always existed; we see that now. But the method and the means had to be found, and we have found them. Laughing them down did not keep them down. They could not be demonstrated out of existence. It was the faith that moves the mountains which finally, and suddenly, placed them at our disposal.

Well, then, as to the moon. The moon is no figment of the imagination; it is a material world up there in the sky. We know its distance, which is not very considerable. Many a busy drummer who has overrun the continent for years has traveled farther than from the earth to the moon. The distance, then, is no inseparable obstacle.

But the void of airless space—how overcome that? Take air, or the means of making air, along. Chemistry ought to be capable of that achievement.

But the gravitation of the earth forbids! Ah, but so, too, it forbade aerial flight, yet aerial flight is an accomplished fact, in spite of gravitation. Still, the problem of getting away from the earth is a serious one. Jules Verne's imagination solved it by a projectile from a giant columbiad. But even his skill of narration could not make that method acceptable to the reason. Another must be found, and another is probably offered by electric forces. A charged pith ball flies away from the knob of an electric machine. Take the blind of the pith ball, and get away from the earth by means of electric repulsion. But how concentrate and control the energies concerned? If I knew that, I should already have made the invention, and would now be enjoying its fruits instead of writing a prophecy.

The great public has little regard for the dreamers, because the real in foresees possibilities, and it demands results, and wants the results right away. Nevertheless the dreamers always lead the way. Day dawns where they point, though they may be in their graves long before the sunrise.

It is a bad omen for the wise skeptics who will call all this "nonsense," that almost with his last breath Lord Kevlin, the doyen of Nineteenth Century science, ridiculed aerial navigation as a vain dream. Even while he spoke the problem had already been solved, out on a Western prairie, behind high fences.

Still, it is a long stride from airships to the lunar express—but it will be taken when the time comes. And going to the moon will be but the first step, an experimental flight, like Bleriot's across the Channel, to show the way to more distant worlds.